Bury Your Troubles.

The man who is not big enough to rise above the things that trouble him, who can not overtop his aches and pains, annoyances and disappointments, so that they are of little consequence in comparison with his great life aim, will never amount to much. There is an unwritten law for people who are thoroughbred—the real gentleman and the real lady—which compels them to keep their troubles, their ailments, their sorrows, their losses, to themselves. There is a fine discipline in it. It mellows the character, sweetens the life. But when these things are not borne heroically, they mar the character and leave their ugly traces in the face; their hideous forms appear in the manner and they disfigure the whole life. If you have misfortunes, pains, diseases, losses, keep them to yourself. Only those who know you have them will love you and admire you infinitely more for this suppression. A stout heart and a persistent cheerfulness will be more than a match for all your troubles.—Success Ladder.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. An Eagle Lake Citizen Shows How to Cure Them

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles at once or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Eagle Lake people testify to permanent cures.

G. J. Short, west of railroad, Eagle Lake, Texas, says: "I was in a bad way with my back. Sharp twinges darted through me, especially severe when I attempted to stoop or make any sudden movement and even turning in bed was a tedious operation. My kidneys were out of order and I was annoyed by having to get up frequently during the night to void the kidney secretions. An acquaintance, hearing that I was in a serious condition, brought me the balance of a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which he had been using. He said they were the best kidney remedy he had ever taken and would, no doubt, help me. I finished the contents of this box and found my condition so greatly improved that I procured a further supply at Calvert's Drug Store. The use of another box completed my cure and I have had no trouble from my back or kidneys since."

Safety of the Satsuma.

There is no longer any question as to the safety of Satsuma orange orchards in South Texas. They have demonstrated that, when rooted on citrus trifoliata, and when properly managed they will come without any protection through 15 degrees above zero weather without sustaining serious harm—not enough to interfere with the making of a good crop the next fall. And now that the perfecting of orchard firepots has given orange growers a means of raising the temperature in an orchard from 6 to 12 degrees on a cold winter night, the business-like management of South Texas Satsuma orchards will prevent loss by freezing in the coldest winter weather South Texas has ever known. The Satsuma, then with its remarkable capacity for making a big crp of fine fruit every year, is now recognized to be not only the most profitable, but the safest as well, of all the crops grown in South Texas.—Southwestern Farmer.

She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." For sore lungs, coughs, colds, hemorrhage, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough, all bronchial troubles,—its supreme. Trial bottle free 50c and $1.00. How Reading Pays.

By reading what other men have done, and are doing, I believe that any thoughtful man can add at least $500 a year to his income more than he could without reading. The discoveries of scientists that are helpful to the farmer can only be learned by reading what they have done, and how their discoveries can be applied in practice the farm press tells us. And yet, there are thousands struggling with poor land, and not knowing how to better it, who will not read and learn. The great problem with those who would help these men is how to get at them and induce them to learn. I sometimes think the only way we will ever get a reading farm population is to raise it through the rural schools and the colleges of agriculture working together, and thus to finally replace the non-reading men with a reading people.—W. F. Massey, in Starkville (Miss.) Progressive Farmer. and Gazette.

The Importance of Right Living.

(Paper read by Miss Marie White [illegible])

The poet, Bryant, in the closing lines of his Thanatopsis says to each of us: "So live that when thy summons comes

To join the innumerable caravan, which moves to that mysterious realm

Where each shall take his place in the silent halls of death,

Thou go, not like the quarry slave, scourged to his dungeon,

But sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust,

Approach thy grave like one who wraps the mantle of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

To do this will be to direct our thoughts to him, who is the giver of all life, who lived the one perfect life—a life of sacrifice for a world that he came to save—a life whose one aim was to direct the mines of men to an understanding of the cause of sin and its degrading effects, to show them their part in the amelioration of these awful effects, and, at last, in compliance with the father's will, and in propitiation for our sins, to be obedient unto an ignominious death on Calvary.

How many there are who care not to know of this life, who count it not a privilege to bear its perfections magnified. Woe unto that man, who neglects thus his opportunity, and who heeds not the promptings of his better nature, which are but the pleadings of a beneficent Father for a life of service. His shall be a reward of remorse of conscience for all eternity and separation from God.

But thrice blessed is he, who endeavors to shape his life after that of Christ, who turns his gaze inward upon the secret thoughts and motives of his heart, and in the humiliation of his sin and weakness, cries, "Lord, teach me to know thy ways and live as Thou hast lived."

As Christ glorified God by obedience unto him, so should we.

In 1 Timothy 4:12, we are instructed to be examples of the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity; for Godliness with contentment is great gain, and though bodily exercise profiteth little, Godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is and that which is to come.

True happiness is the result of right living. There is great satisfaction in knowing that our influence has been for good, and it is but the careless, who think not of the example they set. Particularly is this true of young people.

We know not when a word or act may lead to wrong. How necessary then that we guard our tongues and let our conduct be irreproachable.

Messrs. Wilson, E. B. Parker and W. M. Wallis of Minnesota, were visitors in the city this week. The latter gentleman owns land west of town, having purchased same from the Texas Coast Land Company. Mr. Wallis stated that during the coming summer there will be twelve families from Minneapolis move to Eagle Lake and locate in the Satsuma Ridge vicinity. He also stated that two gentlemen of the Parker garage of Minneapolis, in which concern he is also interested, were looking seriously of moving to this city to engage in the garage and automobile business.

The play of ELI and JANE teems with quips of human nature and one is brought very close to humanity without its civilized frill, without its passions subdued by dissimilation, with all of its faults and some of its vices. The sentiments are pure, clean and wholesome, with a constant remind of your boy or girlhood days that brings just a suspicion of moisture to your eyes at times. Remember the date and be one of the happy throng to see ELI and JANE at the Opera House Thursday night, January 19th.

The Five Hundred Club met Wednesday with Mrs. Bruce McCarty. After the games, the hostess served angel and fruit cake with apple float and whipped cream, and grated cheese sandwiches and black coffee as a parting pleasure. Mrs. T. L. Smith rendered a beautiful composition on the piano. Mrs. Brown charmed her auditors with some fine piano playing. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Everett McRee.

The Eagle Lake State Bank,
Eagle Lake, Texas.

Mr. O. G. Kolberg of the firm of Kolberg & Anderson of Eagle Lake, was here on business Thursday and paid our office a pleasant visit. Mr. Kolberg is the local representative and business manager for the Texas Coast Land company, which is developing quite a large tract of land near Eagle Lake. They expect to plant 5,000 orange trees and 5,000 fig trees this year. Kolberg & Anderson are engaged in promoting and developing in the Eagle Lake section, and have signified their intention to become permanent citizens by paying poll taxes. Mr. Kolberg says the orange trees have stood the recent cold spell splendidly.—Colorado Citizen.

Geo. Gegenworth and L. F. Dick were in Eagle Lake Thursday to attend the monthly meeting of directors of the Eagle Lake Farmers & Merchants State Bank. They report the Bank in fine condition, with heavy deposits and good loans.—Colorado Citizen.

Mrs. J. M. Lee.

Mary Arminda Ross was born in Carroll county, Ohio, on October 20th, 1847, and departed this life at Lissie, Texas, in the early hours of January 9th, 1911.

On the 15th day of May, 1864, she was married, to John M. Lee, near Winfield Henry county, Iowa. Two children were born to this union Dora E. and Thos. J., both of Lissie.

She was the eldest of nine children and on her fell the brunt of caring for an invalid mother and the other smaller children, for her father died in the pioneer days of small pox.

[illegible] passed the place until the farm was paid for, and the family kept together. It was from this home she went with her young husband to a farm near New London, Iowa. There it was that they toiled side by side and hand in hand until sixteen years ago, when they left the farm.

They came to Texas from Iowa, four years ago last December. She was always patient and faithful to God, home, church and friends, although in failing health for over thirty years and of late years an invalid. She was converted at ten or twelve years of age and joined the Methodist church and as long as her strength would permit, she took an active part in all church work. She was a member of the Rebecka Lodge and the W. C. T. U. She was a devoted wife and a loving mother.

Her work is done and well done, her labors and sufferings are ended and her life boat is safely anchored on eternity's shore. Her hands and her influence are beckoning the ones she loved so dearly to come to her, and to trust her savior.

Tho' dead she yet speaketh—CONTRIBUTED.

The play of ELI and JANE has that snap and go to it that marks it as one of the plays of the day, no long tiresome waits and you are interested all the time. There is something in the play that seems to hold you in a good humor all the time and when its all over you leave the theatre feeling like the little boy who had his first good stick of candy, "I want more."

Mr. Fred. Hoffman, manager of the opera house, began the moving picture shows again on Monday night. Miss Irene Brown is pianist and renders beautiful piano selections during the program. The picture show is well worth the admission price, and should receive a better patronage than it has this week been getting.

The Shame of Eagle Lake.

Since the opening of the opera house, the patrons of the house have been annoyed at every performance by the boys in the gallery. When people pay the admission price and go to the opera house, they go to witness the performance and not to have the pleasure of the evening marred by the "rough element" in the gallery. The gallery nuisance is reducing the opera house attendance, and the management should be protected. Has it gotten to a point where a few boys can "raise a rough" at every public entertainment in Eagle Lake? The people of the town are simply tired of this nuisance and they are asking why the officers do not put a stop to it.

Dr. J. T. Richardson of Garwood was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Harris this week.

STUNG!

The Jesse James tent show played here to a full house on Wednesday night giving one of the sorriest shows that has been here this season. There was not an actor in the entire cast, and the performance was so rotten that it was interesting. Just any kind of an old tent show with a brass band can come to Eagle Lake, charge 50 cents admission and 25 cents extra for reserved seats and get a big crowd, but let a nice, clean, good show come to town [illegible] and charge the same price and the people will not attend. Our opera house should receive a good patronage.
