"No," was the reply. "He looked at it and said he'd give them $45,000 not to."

The Odorless English.

A young Englishman went to a hunting lodge in South Carolina last fall to spend a week as the guest of some American friends. On the second day in camp they had a deer drive.

The Britisher was given the best station, with a negro guide to keep him company. Presently, as the baying of the hounds grew louder, a noble buck came bounding down the runway suddenly halted and as the Englishman aimed his gun, turned about and darted off.

"Now why do suppose the beast behaved in that fashion?" inquired the disappointed hunter of the darkey.

"Didn't you see his nose sniffin,' boss?" said the negro. "I reckin he must 'a' smelled you."

"Oh, but that's quite impossible!" said the Englishman. "I

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

LOOKS LIKE BUYERS ARE HAMMERING SPUD PRICE

Potato Buyers Are Slow in Taking Hold of Product and Market is All But Strong.

Potato digging is now well under headway. A large number of the potato farmers began digging Tuesday and others the following day. A heavy rain fell over some portions of the potato fields last Sunday which has delayed digging in some sections until next Monday. Potatoes for the most part have been coming out a little muddy this week. However the quality of the potato is fine, and during next week, if no more rain falls in the meantime the spuds will come out clean and pretty. The buyers for some reason seem to be slow in taking hold and do not seem to be overly anxious to buy, but to all probability this is the same old gag they have been using for years, the price is hammered down before they begin to buy. The outlook, since the rains stopped a week ago, is considerably brighter. The yields are turning out a good deal better than was expected. While a great many of the planters lost heavily by the continued rains and overflow, the latter of which really did more damage to the potato coop in this section than the rains, many of the farmers are really getting larger yields of spuds than they would otherwise have gotten had not the rains come. All of the low places in the fields of course are a total loss, but other portions of the potato fields are producing good yields. Messrs Rogers Bros. are getting the largest yields of any of the planters of whom we have heard. In some of their fields the yields are running two hundred bushels to the acre. The price the past week has ranged around a dollar, though the market seems very dull for this time of the season. Probably on account of the muddy condition of the potatoes the buyers have been slow to take hold of them, but after this week when they will all come out clean and pretty, probably they will be more eager to buy them. The buyers admit that the quality of potatoes being produced here this season are as fine as they ever saw—but still they are not overly anxious to buy. Waiting to hammer the market down again that's all there is to it—and still the potato planters go on year after year and don't seem to realize that the salvation of the potato industry in this section must be brought about by a well organized potato growers' association, and the sooner this is made a reality the better it will be for the potato men and the country generally.

And another thing, as long as potatoes are quoted from here at various prices, the potato men can expect to have no market here for their product. There should be but one price quoted on potatoes from this market and that price should be governed according to quality. And until this is the case, we can't expect the buyers to be eager to buy. They are afraid to buy, afraid some other fellow will get cold feet and quote prices under the market before a shipment they might have purchased can reach its destination. These are cold facts that the potato planters will sooner or later have to remedy and the sooner the better.

POTATO CROP BETTER THAN WAS EXPECTED

During the early part of the week it was being estimated that the potato crop had been damaged quite heavily by the rains, but since the farmers have been given a week of dry weather and are enabled to dig, the potatoes are turning out such fine yields that the estimated damage is now placed at 331 percent. While all the low places in the fields are a total loss the other sections of the fields are producing yields that are overcoming the low places. Some individual growers lost heavily by the overflow waters of the Colorado river, in many instances their potato crops being a total loss.

Miss Mary Nail who has been attending the Deaf and Dumb Institute in Austin the past session, returned home yesterday to spend the summer vacation with her mother, Mrs. Belle Nail.

There's one crop that this rainy spell has produced—mosquitoes, and the crop is a bumper one.
