SMALLER FARMS AND MORE FAMILIES

We have been handed a copy of the Carbondale, Colorado, Item, containing the following article which is timely and applicable to our section of the country as well as to Colorado.

Much has been said but nothing has ever been done, in connection with the cutting up of the larger ranches in the Carbondale district. In this section there are about 1000 good ranches under the ownership of 200 farmers. This is why it is believed that they should be cut into tracts of 40, 60, or 80 acres and sold to separate families. It has never been done because we have never had the families to ask for it. The time is coming when there will be no other course to pursue, because the families will come. The owner of the larger ranches which consist of all the way from 500 to 2000 acres, are willing to sell small tracts of land, or rent or lease. Men with 100 acres make more money, and have more clear profit from a season crop in comparison than the large ranch owners. We can cite several cases here where every men with 80 or 100 acres clear $3000 or more. This why the time will come when there will be no other course to pursue than to cut up the enormous ranches, bringing three or four hundred more families into the valley. This is what all here look to. It has been proved here year after year that the farmer who works not over one hundred acres can realize more in accordance than the man who owns and works 1000 acres. Why is this? It is because it takes so much help to operate a large ranch and the wages are so high that loss prof. it is realized off of an acre of potatoes, or an acre of hay or an acre of grain than off of an acre of the same products of a small ranch. The price of land in this section averages about $100 per acre, and on an investment of $10,000 a man can realize from 15 to 30 per cent on the investment. This looks impossible, but some farmers here have been known to make as high as 40 per cent on their investment. This is off of the small ranches but cannot be done on the large ones. This is why the time is soon to come when there will be no ranches of 2000 acres in either of these two valleys.

Such is Fame

During the recent campaign for United States senator in Alabama a crowd of anti-Hobson citizens in a small South Alabama town were discussing the merits of Richmond Pearson Hobson and his opponent, Oscar W. Underwood. One of the crowd who seemed a little more enthusiastic than the rest, and who seemed to be leading in the argument, asked the question.

"What has Hobson done any way?" A long, lank native who had put in his appearance in time to get the question pushed his way into the crowd, with the remark:

"I'll tell ye, he sunk the Titanic, by jiminy."

THROW OUT THE LINE

Give the Kidneys Help and Many People Will Be Happier

"Throw Out the Line" Weak kidneys need help. They're often overworked—they don't get the poison filtered out of the blood.

Will you help them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought benefit to thousands of kidney sufferers.

Read this case:

W. H. McDermott, Main St., Hallettsville, Texas, says: "I suffered from pains through my back and kidneys. The action of the kidneys was irregular. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and used some. They gave me relief. My kidneys became normal and the pains left."

Another fellow says the best way to cook fish is to run baling wire through either side of a large pot, fill it about half full of grease and suspend it over a real hot fire. If the fish are small dump them into the pot whole, if large ones, cut them up. Never lift one out until it has risen to the surface and then lay it on rake to drain. After you have a pile of fish about the size of a willow basket, all turn to a brown, lean back against a pine log and help yourself. After a man has filled himself up this way it is said that he will readily go on your note for any amount or agree to take off his coat and work for you in the coming campaign.—Lufkin News.

MAY CHANGE CHANNEL OF RIVER AT WHARTON

Wharton, Texas, June 5.—The proposition to change the channel of Old Caney is being favorably discussed by a large number of citizens. Old Caney is a winding stream which intersects the town at some half dozen places and serves as drainage for a large part of the upper portion as well as the lower part of the county. If straightened it would serve as a canal to carry off the overflow waters from the Colorado. The proposition will very likely be carried before the Commissioners Court at its next meeting.

MERRY MATRONS MET WITH MRS. MATTHEWS

Mrs. John Matthews delightfully entertained the Merry Matrons yesterday afternoon. Progressive forty-two furnished the amusement of the afternoon. The hostess served punch throughout the afternoon, and after the games delicious peach mousse, whipped cream and two kinds of cake were served to the following guests: Mesdames Daily, Doole, Hoeninghaus, Kolberg, Bruce McCarty, McDow, Haynie Matthews, Lyle T. Phillips, Pierce, Simmons, Strickland, Wirtz, Stamps of Seguin, Carey, Gordon, Balhorn, W. Y. and O. W. Westmoreland and H. A. Douglass.

Weimar—The condition of the cotton crop of this section is the poorest in many years. Continued rain have caused the weeds and grass to get the upper hand of the farmers, and it is very likely that several hundred acres in cotton will have to be abandoned. It has rained almost incessantly for the past two weeks, and the fields in many instances are so wet that it will be a week or more before farm work can be resumed. Hundreds of acres along the Colorado River, north of this place, have been overflowed and ruined. Acreage about the same as last year. Very little complaint so far of the weevil.

Life is a daily worship, tremulous with reverence, beautiful with prayer and song, and fragrant with the incense perfume of holy thoughts and good deeds. So do nature and providence lean down lovingly into the good man's life, mingling earth with heaven, linking it with God, moving it all to the orderly music of his great purpose.—Selected.

A Hymn Of Faith

When the great floating palace, the Titanic, was slowly sinking, and thousands stood face to face with death, the ship's band began to play that familiar hymn so expressive of unquestioning Christian faith, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and as the relentless waves closed over the hulk of the great ship the dying notes of the hymn were borne on the wings of the wind far out over the trackless waste of waters.

In that hour, when all hope of rescue had vanished, and thousands were sinking to a watery grave, the minds of men turned to the thoughts of a future life in that realm which lies beyond mortal ken, and amid the gathering groom perchance caught a vision of that cross which to him who believes and trusts is the symbol of salvation.

On Monday, when countless thousands of Americans stood with bared heads and tear-dimmed eyes, around the caskets which enclosed all that was mortal of the heroes who laid down their lives under the Nation's flag at Vera Cruz, and after those in exalted stations had paid eloquent tribute to those who died that the men of another Nation might be free, eight hundred children lifted their voices in chorus and sang, in tremulous, touching accents, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Neither science, philosophy nor any process of ratiocination can explain why in such an hour the thought of men turn to God and that future which he has in his mercy seen fit to girdle about with doubt and a darkness which only the eye of unfailing faith can pierce.

There is a point beyond which finite reason can not go, and when that point is reached man must trust to that faith which is "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

The soul of man is ever yearning for the infinite and struggling toward that light which cometh from on high, and in the presence of death he seems to draw nearer to the divine, and his emotions find fit expression in a triumphant song of Christian faith. —Houston Chronicle.

A Thought for the Week.

Those who have been clamoring for war have little idea what its horrors are. They think only of its glamour, its gilt and feathers, the blare of trumpets, and shouts of men; but they little think of the suffering, the tears and broken hearts, the bereaved homes, and above all the demoralization of society. We have had war enough. It is awful to realize that thousands of men are to be swept into eternity without preparation; that thousands are to lie wounded and feverish through the chilly night, and wholesale murder is to be committed under the name of war. Defensive warfare is justifiable, but any other kind is wholesale murder, yet we read of resolutions passed and editorials written, advocating the seizure of territory. Let the people of God everywhere pray that this horror may be averted, and that the followers of the Prince of Peace may assert themselves.

Mr. L. M. Wirtz, Jr., formerly of Columbus, who has been attending the State University at Austin, arrived in Eagle Lake yesterday for a visit to his brother, Mr. A. J. Wirtz. He will likely make Eagle Lake his future home. He is a most estimable young man and we are glad to have him become a permanent citizen of our city.

Virile Villa.

It has been quite the fashion for newspapers and public speakers in the United States to refer contemptuously to Villa as a bandit and cut-throat. There has been a marked tendency to magnify his faults and minimize his virtues, even among American sympathizers of the Constitutionalist cause. Recent events have thrown a somewhat different light upon this one strong, commanding military figure in Mexico. Bandit and cut throat, according to American standards, he may be, but he has been consistently the friend of the United States, and if he keeps faith with us as tenaciously as he has to the memory of Madero and as he does to his weaker chief, Carranza, he will deserve our respect and gratitude.

The virility of Villa and his keenness to scent any deep-laid scheme of Huerta to inveigle him into an act of hostility against the United States are strikingly shown in his reply to proposals from General Maas, of Huerta's army, that the federals and rebels unite to avenge Mexico for the American occupation of Vera Cruz. Villa declined in vigorous language to be led into any such trap and declared in plain terms that Huerta and his supporters directly invited the intervention of the United States. A word from this so-called bandit would have turned 50,000 Constitutionalist troops against the United States the moment Vera Cruz was occupied. That word was not given, but on the contrary Villa has publicly expressed his belief that the President of the United States has been "honest, sincere and patient in his dealings with my people, and I have every confidence in his honesty and his ability to bring about a permanent peace."

In view of the facts it would seem that loyal citizens of the Unites States might fittingly curb a thoughtless tendency to defame this friend across the border.—Temple Mirror.

Columbus—The cotton crop is 50 per cent worse than last year; acreage about the same. Boll weevil is in evidence everywhere, but the crop is young and late and no damage has been done of any consequence.

Why She Wept.

Apropos of the numerous influential malefactors whose prison terms are either annulled or cut down almost to nearly nothing, Mayor Brand Whitleck of Toledo, said a short while ago.

"Is it a good thing for the public to let these men out so soon?

"I was sympathizing one afternoon with a poor woman whose husband had just been sent to jail. She was weeping bitterly, and I said to her:

"'Now, don't take is so hard. Two years is a long sentence, I know; but he may not have to serve it all. Convicts who behave themselves oftentimes get out months before their appointed time.'

"'That's just it,' she replied, still sobbing. 'Henry can be an angel when he likes.'"—Lippincott's.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

No Respect for Religion.

The attitude of the Mexicans toward religion is a strange mixture of ridicule fear and superstition. Respect he has none except the pseudo respect which is a concomitant of fear. Profanity has become so extreme that it has almost ceased to be profanity. It has become rather a mere manner of speech. For instance, owners of pulquedens, without a thought of being sacreligious, give such names as the following to their resorts: "The Retreat of the Holy Ghost," "The Delight of the Apostle," "The Retreat of the Holy Virgin," "The Fountain of the Angels," "The Seventh Heaven," "The Hangout of John the Baptist." Church services are attended almost exclusively by the women. A man will poke fun at the church all his life, but when he lies on his deathbed he invariably calls for a priest. Religion is a matter for derision and dread in Mexico, not for respect and reverence.—Correspondence of Christian Herald.

Her Model.

Of course no unmarried lady admits that she remains single for lack of opportunity to marry; she does so from choice. But not all unmarried ladies seem able to describe exactly the sort of husband that would suit. The "around the city" man of the Washington Star has found one: A spinstery woman, who apparently had no objection to airing her innermost thinks to the public, was talking to another woman at a table in a cafe. The other woman had a small girl that implied matrimony: "I have never what you might call yearned to marry just for the sake of getting married. Any fool woman can do that, but—well, I'll tell you, if I could buy a pattern of a husband like you do rag dolls, stuff him with good intentions and the will power to carry them out, and galvanize him into earning a salary, and talking sense when he came home evenings. A self-made partner of that sort would be worth having, and you bet I'd give him the best going." Which shows how childlishly some old maids can talk.

Miss Ethyl Davis left last Saturday for a visit to relatives in Austin and Trinity. She expects to be absent until September.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken five bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.
