IN MEMORY

In loving memory of my dear husband, Calvin Riggins, Jr. who passed away Jan. 28, 1978.

Though you are gone how I miss you. The days and nights are so lonely without you. All I have are memories. I sit and think of the times we shared together as time passes on, as memories live on forever. Time can't erase memories. How could I forget you. I just sit and think so much about you. I thank God for every heartache and every pain, for God is too wise to make a mistake.

Ps. 46:1-2 God is our refuge and strength. A very present help in trouble; therefore will not fear though the earth be removed; though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea.

Ps. 137:1 By the rivers of Babylon we sat down, we wept: we remembered Zion.

Ps. 121:1-2 I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord which made the heaven and earth.

23rd Psalm: The Lord is my shepherd. "I shall not want, he maketh me lie down in green pastures. He leadeth me beside the still waters. Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil.

1/ In cooperation with National Weather Service & Texas Water Development Board.
2/ Sheltered air temperatures

Rainfall probabilities will decrease slightly Wednesday, however, damp weather may linger into Thursday. Skies should continue mostly cloudy Friday and Saturday but no rain is expected. Temperatures will be a little warmer in most areas Wednesday. Slightly cooler air will arrive late in the week.

Cool, damp, breezy weather the next couple of days will be a problem mainly for young calves or animals in poor condition. You may also want to keep a close watch on cows about to calve. Common wet weather problems such as footrot and trampling of pastures will be on the increase unless producers keep herds out of soggy areas. Although temperatures may cool slightly late in the week, not much increase in supplemental feeding should be needed unless rain persists.

There appears little hope for land preparation this week. Lack of sunshine will be the limiting factor for small grains and pastures.

WCJC's New Food Services Director

Fried Wing Drumettes - one of Fritz Wesselski's many specialities - are shown being prepared by the long-time chef who has been appointed Food Services Director at Wharton County Junior College in Wharton.

Fritz Wesselski New Food Director at WCJC

Veteran restaurateur, World War II Navy cook Fred "Fritz" Wesselski of Wharton, and formerly of Garwood, has been appointed Food Services Director at Wharton County Junior College in Wharton replacing Al Pettigrew of Boling who is now associated with Dr. Pepper Bottling Company in Wharton.

Fritz owned and operated "Fritzs Wonder Fried Chicken" cafe in Wharton from 1969 until 1979 and was a First Class Seaman Cook in the U.S. Navy from 1941 until Japan's surrender in 1945 ending World War II.

"I love to serve people food," states Fritz who supervises preparation and serving of almost 500 meals daily at the Hutchins Memorial Student Union Cafeteria at Wharton County Junior College.

He also praised his co-workers in the cafeteria adding, "I have the best help that I have ever dealt with."

Fritz saw duty in Pacific combat theatres aboard a receiving ship where 600 hungry sailors would "chow down" at every meal.

"I like messing around with food and always ended up in the kitchen helping mamma as a child despite the fact that I had four sisters living at home," he recalls. His mother died in 1972 but his father, Frank Wesselski, Sr., lives in El Campo.

He graduated in 1938 from Garwood High School and joined the Navy December 10, 1941 and put in 38 months of sea duty. The Garwood native spent several years farming rice in Colorado [illegible] He also operated a restaurant in Galveston where he met his wife, Hortensia.

They have two children, Scott Ann, 19, is a freshman student at Wharton County Junior College majoring in drama. They have two older sons, Glenn and Frederick.

Fritz recently obtained a United States patent for a dry powder mix used for an all purpose frying batter on chicken and seafood. His lawyer, Irving Moore, Jr. of Wharton, and Fritz had been working on the invention for a long time.

Other cafeteria employees include the night staffers Corine Jones, Ethel Clark and Ruby Simmons. Day staff workers are Mary Borak, Mae Merlas, Lillie Mathis, Ernestine Oballe, Laverna Long, Elida Perez and Charles Smith.

Some Charities to Be Exempt From Windfall Profits

Congressman Jake Pickle of Austin has expressed satisfaction that the conference committee on the windfall profits tax has agreed to exempt from the tax those royalties owned by the State of Texas, public and church-related schools, church-related hospitals and charitable medical facilities.

"With the agreement of the conferees, we seem assured these institutions will be exempt from the new tax. This action will save these institutions several hundred million dollars over a ten year period," said Pickle, a member of the conference committee.

"The immediate beneficiaries will be the public school children of Texas, covered by the Permanent School Fund and the University of Texas and A&M systems, covered by the Permanent University Fund. These funds will save at least $270 million," Pickle estimated.

Pickle succeeded in exempting state-owned land from the tax in the House while Senator Lloyd Bentsen of Texas secured passage in the Senate and expanded the bill to include the church-related schools and hospitals.

The conference committee agreed on the final language during its deliberations on the tax, designed to capture some $237 billion of "Windfall" resulting from oil price decontrol. After the conference committee completes the massive bill within the next couple of weeks, the full House and Senate are expected to approve the energy proposal.
