The "alterative epidemic" still rages in Houston though there has been time enough for it to have run its course.

The first installment due on the severe winter prophecy arrived this week. But any degree of frigidity that will lay the wool weed on the cooling board will be welcomed in these parts.

The Val Verde Herald says:
"That newspaper man who failed to read his proof and permitted the type to say the immaterial 'Thirtieth,' when he meant the immortal Thirtieth Legislature, accidentally stated a great truth."

A LIAR, says the Moore Model, is an abomination, yet a white lie that pours oil on troubled waters, soothes pain and comforts sorrow, is far better than an ill-timed truth which hurts.

SOME men "fall in love," some climb in, and some are dragged in by the lure of gold or the witchery of beauty; but he upon whom the mystery of love falls like the dew of Heaven, has the happiest experience of life.
Lockhart Register.

Just occasionally one sees men conveying food to their mouths on a knife blade, drinking coffee from a saucer and making as noise eating soup as a cow's foot when she pulls it from a mud hole. But, like the men who spatter tobacco juice on the sidewalks, they are getting scarce.
McGregor Mirror.

The first man to introduce canning into the United States was an Englishman named Thomas Kensett, who learned the business in the old country from Peter Durand who, in 1810, obtained a patent for putting up food inherently sealed vessels of glass, pottery or tin. In 1827 Kensett established a factory in Maryland, where fruits, vegetables and oysters were plentiful and cheap, and that state continued to be the center of the industry for many years; but it did not make much progress until the civil war, when there was a great demand for vegetables and fruits in the army. After the war the invasion of the mountains by the miners and the settlement of the prairies by ranchmen and farmers kept up the demand.

WHAT IS NOW VERY rare and interesting money is a $20. note of the Republic of Texas owned and held by G. M. Harcourt of this city. This bill is one of an issue by this Republic of date November 18, 1861, and is the largest he has.

San Antonio, the tenth president of the Republic. Houston and the Treasurer are almost in-legible. It came to Mr. Harcourt through the estate of his father, the late Judge John G. Harcourt, a Texas pioneer, who was a warm personal friend of Gen. Sam Houston.
The elder Harcourt resided at La Grange, Columbus and Galveston in early days. He died at Weatherford about eight years ago. When his heirs examined his effects this old note was among them. It bears 10 per cent interest. - San Antonio Express.

TEXAS GOT A BLACK EYE this year. The severe drought reduced the cotton yield more than half, except in a few favored localities, and the corn nearly half.
The state raises lots of corn even down in the southern part, but the yield per acre is never up to that in the real corn belt. Either the country is not so well adapted to this grain, or the farmers fail in their part. Perhaps both reasons produce the effect.

Notwithstanding a short crop the people seem to be prosperous, to have plenty of money, and they are going right ahead. Town and county are improving rapidly and no wonder, last year's crop brought them a pile of money, and this year they are receiving a rich reward for their labor, though the yield is below the average. The state does not depend entirely on cotton and corn.
Its live stock is immense. Rice was not hurt by dry weather as it has to be flooded. Much money flows this way for early vegetables; and the state has many other sources of wealth.

People wondered for generations why the land for 100 miles to the west and southwest of Houston was rolled out as flat as a pancake. Some eight or more years ago it was discovered that under this level surface 30 to 50 feet was a deep stratum of gravel filled with an inexhaustible supply of water. Then people saw that nature had prepared this land for rice. Rice is a wonderful grain. It is the staple food of more than half the human race. It yields per acre twice as many pounds as wheat and sells for more than twice as much per pound. So an acre of this grain brings more than four times as the average acre of wheat. When we learn that it is planted the same as wheat, and threshed the same as wheat, the only additional expense to raising wheat being the supply of water, which is not heavy, we are prepared to believe the planters' statements that they clear above expenses 30 to 40 dollars per acre. The rice region has a great crop this year yielding from 14 to 22 sacks per acre as it comes from the threshers. These sacks contain 160 pounds and bring now $3.65 to $3.75 per sack.

The greatest crop of Texas will always be cotton. In a good season this yields from half a bale to two bales per acre. A bale is 500 pounds of clean lint.

It takes 1500 pounds as it comes from the field to make a bale, as there are two pounds of seed to one of lint. It costs from .65 cents to a dollar per 100 to pick including the seed that is it costs from $9.75 to $15 to pick a bale of cotton, and to gin and bind it $5. The bale is now worth $25 to $30 and the seed $10; leaving from $15 to $55.50 to pay for raising, rent of land and profit.

As a specimen of how the towns are growing take Eagle Lake. The writer speaks of this place because he knows more about it than others, besides he is somewhat interested. Eight million on the S. P. railroad doing a little business. Now it has 2000 population, three banks with deposits of between 400 and 500 thousand dollars, three railroads, two large rice mills, a sugar factory, two cotton gins, electric lights and waterworks; and by the way the water is pumped from a deep well. There have been built this summer two elevators at a cost of $35,000, a large two-story brick business block, a three-story cement block hotel, a fine bank building and many dwelling.

The rice mills handled nearly half a million bushels of grain last year, and will probably handle more this year. The sugar mill is owned by the Lincoln Trust company of St. Louis, and a St. Louisian is managing it. It cost from 350 to 500 thousand dollars, and can handle 80,000 tons of cane. Last year it could get but half that quantity which it worked up producing 6,800,000 pounds of sugar. With these advantages, and the continued increase of rice raisers and sugar planters the little city must continue to thrive. -Shelbina (Mo) Democrat.

Making Good.
There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good" and Doctor Pierce's medicine well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have made good" and they have not made drugs.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an in-mensely sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the various periods of the past century have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When "once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popularity, while scores of less fortunate articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, sea-sickness, flatulence, biliousness, constipation, and all the ills that attend a debility, nothing is so good as Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's a honest, square-deal medicine, and its ingredients printed on bottles are no secret, no locust-podds humbug, therefore don't accept of substitutes. If the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit, "look on your right to have what you call for."
"Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a 'cure-all.'" It is only advised for woman's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening tonic, it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "booster" for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the only and Little-Liver-Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are never afterward in favor. Try to take a candy—one to three a dose. Much undated but never quoted.
