Literary and Civic Club.

The Literary and Civic Club's first attempt at having a 5th. Thursday night meeting was a grand success. Although the number present was not as large as the members should like to see, the program could not have been improved upon. The welcome address by Mrs. Carothers was certainly nice enough to make all who heard it feel proud of the club's president. The members were very fortunate in having Mrs. Arnim of Flatonia present. Her talk on Civic Improvement was very interesting and her personal charms won the admiration of every one. The members wish to thank Dr. Norris for his fine speech on aesthetics, and also to thank the band for the beautiful selections rendered, which added greatly to the program. Owing to the nearness of our press hour, we cannot make special mention of all the musical numbers, but will say that all of them were beautiful.

The ladies hope to have a large crowd present at their next open session, and hope to get some expressions from the men present on ways and means of improving the town.

Halloween Party.

The home of Mrs. John Quinn was thrown open Saturday evening to the "Merry-Rose-Bud" crowd of Eagle Lake, where for several hours all the mysteries of Halloween were carefully observed and enjoyed to the fullest extent. Promptly at 8:30 the guests assembled in the reception hall when they were ushered into the spacious parlor that was in darkness save the weird light that came from a lonely jack-o-lantern placed in a remote part of the room. Then it was that the ghosts and all those mysterious creatures that are wont to make their appearance at such a time, played their part. The witches, too, were in full force with their fortune telling.

When the lights were turned on which displayed the beautiful decorations of cut flowers, ferns and palms. Music, games and dancing were indulged in until a late hour after which delightful refreshments were served. The happy evening and Mrs. Quinn's hospitality will long be remembered by all present.

See Through Flannel.

It was in a small town in the sunny south, according to the Hartford Times. A lyceum entertainment was billed for the evening, and as a magician and slight-of-hand performer was advertised as one of the principal features, an old colored lady presented herself at the door of the local opera house early, insisted on a seat in the front row of the part reserved for colored folk, and got it, says the Lyceumite.

When the magician appeared he first placed a piece of red flannel over a newspaper and read the news through the flannel. The old colored mammy began to squirm about. Then the magician doubled the flannel and read the paper through the double thickness. The old mammy was heard to say to her neighbor, "Lor, child, I got to get out o' dis." Her neighbor assured her, telling her the magician wouldn't hurt her.

"I know dat," she said, "but dis hain't no place fo' a respectable cullud lady wif only a calico dress on."

How to Cope with a Cold. Be as careful as you can you will occasionally take cold, and when you do, get a medicine of known reliability, one that has an established reputation and that is certain to effect a quick cure. Such a medicine is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has gained a world wide reputation by its remarkable cures of this most common ailment, and can always be depended upon. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. During the many years in which it has been in general use we have yet to learn of a single case of cold or attack of the grip having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, which conclusively shows that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

Cured! "Look here!" cried the irate man. "I'm going to sue you. Ask at my head! You professed to cure—" "Wait a minute," interrupted the maker of Fakely's Balsam. "We advertise merely that we cure partial baldness, and not—" "Well, I was only partially bald when I started using your stuff; now I haven't a hair!" "Well, then, you're cured of your partial baldness, aren't you?"

SICK HEADACHE. This distressing disease results from a disordered condition of the stomach, and can be cured by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Get a free sample at drug store and try it.

An Appeal for Mercy.

"Judge," said the prisoner, "I suppose you're going to soak me." "You are a habitual offender," replied the judge, "were caught with the stolen goods, and the court will have to do its painful duty." "I don't want to seem unreasonable," rejoined the prisoner. "I don't mind a long sentence, I'm used to it. But, say judge, cut out the lecture that usually goes with it, won't you?"

Tommy Knew.

"Now, children," said the teacher, "you have named all the domestic animals but one. Who can tell me what that one is? It has bristly hair, likes dirt, and is fond of getting into mud." Miss Ethel looked expectantly round the room. "Can't you think, Tommy?" she asked, encouragingly. "Yes'm," was the shame-faced reply. "It's me!"—Sunday Strand.
