

A Delightful Entertainment.

The "box supper" given at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Womack, at the Womack plantation, Wednesday night for the benefit of the Burns' school building, was a most delightful affair. Each lady was asked to bring a box containing lunch for two, which was sold to the highest bidder. The bidding was lively, especially in cases where the young man got an inkling that the box on sale was that of his girl. After the sales were over the lunches were opened and heartily enjoyed. Hot coffee was served to all who wished it. The boxes were all well filled and every purchaser received a bargain. Some made candies were sold during the evening and a neat little sum realized. The proceeds amounted to $34.35, which is entirely clear, as everything was donated. Sweet music was furnished throughout the evening by the Burns' orchestra. Among those who enjoyed the pleasant evening, the following names were noted: Mr. and Mrs. Ike Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Womack, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Brisbois, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Calvert, Mr. and Mrs. Uley, Mr. and Mrs. Allison, Mrs. J. E. Roberts, Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. Burttschell, Mrs. Wm. A fair sized crowd witnessed the performance of Eli and Jane at the opera house last night. Harry Green who played the leading role of Eli, is an exceptionally clever comedian and played his part well, though the company supporting him is rather weak. Mr. Green, in fact, drew the audience in one round of laughter from start to finish. As a whole, the audience seemed well pleased with the performance.

Clean up, Clean up!

The writer took a drive over this little city yesterday evening and indeed it is a city beautiful, with its broad streets, palatial homes, pretty yards, but there is need of a "Civic Improvement Club," for many of the back alleys and low places need attention. Old tin cans should be picked up and carried off. Ditches be drained of the stagnant water and lime used freely, thus preventing such dreadful diseases as typhoid fever, cholera, and dysentery. A pound of prevention is worth a pound of cure."—A CITIZEN.
