GLASS BOTTOMS FOR SHIPS

Scheme That, It Is Asserted, Will Increase the Speed and Save Coal Consumption.

If ships' bottoms were covered with glass, it is asserted, greater speed and a saving in coal consumption would be attained. The idea has been tried, but hitherto it has always been found impracticable to attach glass to the steel plates of a ship, as the expansion of the steel broke the glass after a very slight rise in temperature.

After many experiments a composition of rosin and linseed oil was adopted as the adhesive material and the difficulty of the expansion of the steel was overcome by the introduction of a thin layer of wood pulp under the glass. A patent has just been taken out in England covering the process. The patentee says that the cost of placing the glass plates on the sea-covered bottom will not exceed that of two coats of paint.

COUP OF GREAT COLLECTOR

How Charles Wertheimer Bought Finished House in Order to Get Priceless Chinese Vase.

The late Charles Wertheimer when asked on one occasion what he considered to be his astutest business coup, thought for a while and then told how once when he was walking through a Brighton square he espied through an open window what he knew to be a priceless Chinese vase. He went to the nearest postoffice, examined a local directory and found the name of the resident. Then he called and asked for the gentleman and was shown into the study under the name of "Hamilton." He briefly explained that he was looking for a model house in Brighton and had taken a fancy to this one. Would the gentleman entertain an offer for the place as it stood—"lock, stock and barrel?" The owner, a little nonplussed, hesitated. "If your offer is reasonable," interrupted "Hamilton," "I will give you an extra thousand." "Call tomorrow at 10:30 then," replied the owner. "Hamilton" did and found him prepared to accept $18,000 for the twenty-two years' unexpired term and the contents of the residence.

Although this was well over market value, "Hamilton" at once closed, adding the extra thousand, according to promise. As, however, he afterward sold the vase for $35,000, his coup was unmistakable.

GOOD ONE ON BERNARD SHAW

Cincinnati Librarian Said They Had "All the Works of the Great Buffoon."

"Bernard Shaw's new biography—a biography written by an American—is a good one," said a Cincinnati librarian, "and it is a pity that this brilliant playwright the respect he deserves."

The speaker, a Cincinnati poet, smiled.

"Mr. Bernard Shaw is well known," he said, "but not well respected. His profound and serious mind is regarded—dear knows why—as the mind of a trifle."

"For example, I desired the other day to read up a little natural history and visited a Cincinnati library to consult the one pre-eminent natural history authority."

"Have you," I said, "the works of the great Buffon?"

"Yes, sir," said the clerk, "we have all the great Buffon's works, sir."

"And he said Buffon was a Buffon?"

"Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant."

ASBESTOS.

The total production of asbestos in the United States for 1910 was the greatest yet recorded, 6,698 tons.

This was an increase of 20 per cent. in quantity over the production of 1909. The United States has long held first place as a manufacturer of asbestos goods, but the raw material for that purpose was freely drawn from Canada, at present the chief source of the world's supply. Georgia and Vermont are our chief asbestos producers, the former of amphibole and the latter of chrysotile varieties, the latter being reported by manufacturers to compare favorably with that from Canada. The production in Wyoming and Idaho has advanced but in those states the industry is still in the development stage and has not become permanently established.

ALL THIS FROM ARGENTINA.

Argentina is the greatest exporter of corn in the world; she sends abroad more chilled and frozen meat than any other country. Only Russia exceeds her in wheat exports, and only Australia contributes more wool to international trade. The story of her occupations is told in the fact that nearly $4,000,000,000 of working capital is represented in the pastoral and agricultural pursuits and in the allied industries, while less than $100,000,000 is involved in manufactures, and this includes electric light and power plants used in the larger cities.—Century Magazine.

DEATH DREAM REALIZED.

A remarkable dream of death was mentioned the other day at a Southward, England, inquest on an infant named George H. Carney, 24 months old. A dream that his daughter's child was dead, said Mrs. Hendry, the grandmother of the infant, "that I went early in the morning to her house. I found her in bed, and asked her what was wrong with the child. She replied, 'He is all right. What did you think was the matter with him?' I told her of my dream, and asked her to look at the baby. She looked, and the child was dead."

FOOLISH QUESTION.

"How did you get the bruised face?"

"It was caused by the back track last night."

"Accident?"

"Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant."

Agent T. L. Smith last Saturday received a four-door Studebaker model "Flanders 20" car, which is just about as nice and handsome a car as anyone could wish to have. Automobileists who know say the new Flanders is a "humdinger." Mr. Smith is looking forward to a good automobile trade this fall and with line of standard high grade cars, the E. M. F., Flanders and the Cadillac, he should surely get his full share of the business.

FRENCH TRAVELING SHOW.

The traveling showman is commoner in France than in England, particularly in country places. He has almost vanished as an individual from English country fairs; he exists only as the proprietor of galloping horses or boxing saloons or fat lady shows. But at the smaller country fairs in France you may still find the juggler, with his tinsel and tights, and the strong man, and the sometimes quite charming dancer. The most ordinary French crowd has a curiosity about art of any kind unknown in England.—London Chronicle.
