MEXICAN SHOW IN TOWN

A Mexican show struck town Tuesday and gave an exhibition that night which was fairly well attended. Since that night rain has prevented the performance each night. Those who attended say the performance was really better than they expected to see put up by a bunch of "shucks," but if the performance is anything like their band concerts, it must be rotten to the core. The weather permitting, the "shucks" will give another performance tonight.

AN ATTACK OF APOPLEXY

Mr. Joe F. Canaday, the popular insurance man, was stricken with an attack of apoplexy while seated in Calvert's Drug Store yesterday morning. Dr. Howard Fitzgerald promptly rendered medical aid, and Mr. Canaday was removed to his room at the Hotel Brown, where Dr. Fitzgerald has been attending him since. For a time the patient was in a serious condition, the entire one side of his body and limbs being paralyzed, but he is improving now and will likely be able to be about again in a few days. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is improving nicely after so severe a spell.

THE FRANK STEPHENS CO.

A Civil War veteran, who had been listening for some time to the experiences of a Spanish War veteran, in which the young man claimed to have taken part in several bloody scrimmages, suffered privations, etc., finally turned to his friend sitting near, and said: "Do you know Ed, this reminds me of a story I once heard about some shades up in heaven. The 'shade' of a man who had been drowned in the Johnstown flood was forever telling the other 'shades' what an awful catastrophe it was and how he saved six lives before he himself was drowned. Now, every time he found a new 'shade' to talk to he'd tell them that story, but every time he told the story there was an old shriveled-up old man nearby who kept saying, 'Boon-boon.' On psnaw, etc., until finally the younger man couldn't stand it any longer, so turning to his companions he asked, 'Who is that sarcastic old man over there who is always making remarks when I tell about the flood?' 'Who, that old man over there?' said his friends, 'don't you know who he is? Why, that's Noah.'"

SOAKING ALL NIGHT RAIN

A fine rain fell throughout this section yesterday and last night. The rain came slow and soaked into the ground. At the Engelhard Bros. and Burns & Terrell's potato farms the rain fall amounted to about one inch, all that is needed for the potato crop, but at other places, in the neighborhood of the Magee farm, the rain was much heavier. Rice harvesting will be given a set back, but aside from that it is thought no damage will result to the rice crop. The cotton is nearly all picked out, but what little remains in the fields will be delayed in picking for several days.

"Come, dear, can't you hurry a little? We'll soon be too late to go to church at all."

"Oh, no, dear," she said softly while slowly buttoning her gloves, "we can't be too late. I've got on my new suit."

According to the Feed Stuffs Reports of the Agricultural Experiment Station of Louisiana, NUTRILINE Stock Feed and Nutriline Dairy Feed have ranked highest of all prepared feeds, for the past two or three seasons. BROWN & SCHLEICHER, Agents.

A young lady came into a drug store and asked the clerk if it were possible to disguise castor oil.

"It's horrid stuff to take, you know," said the clerk with a shudder.

"Why, certainly," said the clerk, and just then, as another young lady was taking some soda water, he asked her if she wouldn't have some too.

"After drinking it the young lady lingered a moment, and finally observed: "Now, tell me, sir, how you would disguise castor oil."

He Hadn't Heard Her.

Some years ago Mark Twain was a guest of honor at an opera box party given by a prominent member of New York society. The hostess had been particularly talkative all during the performance—to Mr. Clemens' increasing irritation.

Toward the end of the opera she turned to him and said gushingly:

"Oh, my dear Mr. Clemens, I do so want you to be with us next Friday evening. I'm certain you will like it—the opera will be 'Tosca.'"

"Charmed, I'm sure," replied Clemens. "I've never heard you in that."

One Saturday night just as the thirst parlor was closing up in accordance with the Sunday closing law, Mike Finnegan, the village toper, wobbled into his favorite bar and asked for a drink. Upon being refused, he declared he would get what he wanted at Monaghan's which was located outside the city, and therefore exempt from city laws.

As Mike passed out of the saloon with the above declaration on his lips, a party of masqueraders, hurrying home, chanced to hear him. One, dressed as His Satanic Majesty, outlined a scheme whereby Michael would be willing to go without further refreshments that evening.

So it happened that Mike reached a portion of the road, bounded on one side by towering firs, and on the other by the entrance to the Cave of Echoes, he was accosted by Satan in regulation accoutrements.

"Who (hic) ish you?" asked Mike.

And Satan replied, "I am the Devil, Guardian and Master of you cavernous depths, wherein, my fires of torture are continually burning."

"Shay," said Mike, "Cud you tell me (hic) whither Monaghan's ish still open yit?"

The Quality of Distinction is sometimes natural to the individual; more often it is conferred by the perfection of style and cut of his garments. This is especially true of clothing made by Geo. Redford. Clothing that is made to measure is the only kind that can claim to be distinctive, because no two suits are exactly alike, but each is made to show the wearer at his best.
