SATURDAY, FEB. 10, 1912.

Not ready for it at that time. We are not opposed to good roads, but on the other hand, are strongly in favor of them, and when the proper time arrives, no paper in Colorado county will be a stauncher advocate than the Eagle Lake HEADLIGHT. That we were right in our stand on that subject at that particular time, has since been told us by some who were in favor of the election, and when we are ready for it the HEADLIGHT can be relied on to do its full share in promoting the issue. As to donating our announcement fees for road improvements, we will say that we flatter ourselves that we feel capable of managing the financial end of this paper, and we further flatter ourselves that we have, since we established this paper nine years ago, so managed that part of it that we do not paln off on our readers the time-worn and out of date half patent sheet with the other half liberal is sandwiched with poor matter.

The Citizen says if we will agree to donating the fee for road improvement, he will pay for the setting up of the type contained in the announcement. We have our own printers to set our type and we pay them good salaries, thereby being able to keep good printers—printers who are capable of setting sufficient type for our paper from cover to cover.

Newspaper controversies have long since died among the better class of newspapers, and the HEADLIGHT has no desire to be drawn into one, and regrets exceedingly that this article has been forced into its columns, and as far as this paper is concerned, this article shall end it. However, we say for the benefit of our many readers who are in sympathy with this paper on the two term move, that these attacks on the HEADLIGHT will in no wise keep it from advocating the two term policy, and on this subject, as well as the subject of "political bosses," just a little later on the HEADLIGHT will print some interesting reading matter, that will probably cause some people to sit up and take notice.

The physiologists tell us that we have five senses, yet some folks say if they had none.

And many a learned man has succeeded in making a fool of himself in several different languages.

This world would be a happy old world if people would always wear the expression they do when pictures are taken.

The HEADLIGHT was the only paper in Colorado county to give the full poll tax payment from every voting precinct in the county in last week's issue.

"Our best friends are those who tell us of our faults"—so runs the ancient proverb; but it is noticeable that they do not remain our friends long after they have done so.

From reading some of the exchanges that come to our office one would come to the conclusion that the plate houses and commercial secretaries were editing them.—Headlight.

Such a paper is usually better edited than it was before the scheme was discovered by the "editor."—Beville Picayune.

colonel in this little drama played the leading role of Middle-some Butinsky.

The Beaumont Enterprise of Tuesday says: It begins to look very much like decency and good taste will prevail in the matter of dancing and that the turkey trot, the grizzly bear and other of the newest dances will be forced back into the Mobile dives and the Chicago brothels whence they came.

The Sealy News came out last week in an enlarged form with a brand new and handsome head.
That paper is now printed on a fine cylinder press with electric power. Editor Lon Davis has always given Sealy a first class local paper and now with his improved machinery he will give his town a better one. The HEADLIGHT wishes Editor Davis and his good wife, who has been such a help to him in his newspaper work, unbounded success.
In the language of Rip Van Winkle, "May you both live long and prosper."

"A bill has been introduced in congress by Congressman Great of Pennsylvania for the establishing in towns of 1000 inhabitants and more, of free mail delivery.
People living in cities of 10,000 and more get this service. People living in the country get free rural mail delivery, and why are people living in the smaller towns denied this service? The people living in towns of under ten thousand, where there is no free mail service, constitute the greater part of the people of the United States, and this bill now before Congress asks that the people living in towns where the population reaches the one thousand mark, to be given this same service by the government. An appeal has been sent out asking that all business leagues and citizens generally send signed petitions to their congressmen urging action.

The Galveston News says: Dr.
Wilson's friends have every reason to feel that "all's well that ends well," for certainly the final denouement of this little tragic comedy leaves him unscathed. He is disclosed as a man who has that rugged honesty to tell an unpalatable truth to a friend, as a man who is not seduced even by the obligations of friendship into the practice of hypocrisy. He is revealed, further, as one who declines to be held for financial assistance to a man whose political motives he distrusts, and finally he is revealed as a man who is not afraid being an ingrate that when his own conscience admonishes him that he has been ungracious to one who has every claim to his deference hastens to apologize with a manliness and grace that has never been equaled since Charles Lamb, out of the contribution of his heart, sought the forgiveness of his friend Southey for an unwarranted remark.

There is any one who leaves the stage with drooping colors, it is the redoubtable Kentucky colonel, and even for him there be pleaded that his folly was merely the consequence of his loyalty to "my friend," whose money he thinks any political promoter ought to be glad to take, even though that money should have the taint of the slave industry carried on in the Congo in association with the late and unspokeable Leopold of Belgium.

Do you know that more real danger

HEADLIGHT IS IMPROVING

Local Men Praise Our Efforts to Issue Live Local Paper.

"The last two issues of your paper have been dandies, and in fact every issue is just a little bit better than the preceding one," remarked Mr. L. L. Morrison to the HEADLIGHT man this week.
Mr. J. E. Roberts, cashier of the Farmers & Merchants State Bank, stopped the editor on the street last Saturday and said:
"By George, I just want to compliment you on the paper you are getting out; it is getting better all the time." And Mr. H. A.
Lee says: "We just couldn't get along without the HEADLIGHT out at our house." We certainly appreciate these nice things our friends are saying of our effort to give Eagle Lake a live local paper.
We are adding new and faster machinery to our equipment and we will soon be in a position to give our readers a better paper than we have heretofore been able to get out. It shall always be our endeavor to make the HEADLIGHT a live, local newspaper.

Dissolution Notice.

I want to thank my many friends for the business and
