CITY ELECTION TUESDAY O. R. DAVIS TO LEAVE CITY

Three Aldermen and City Attorney to be Elected.

Next Tuesday is city election day. There are to be elected three aldermen and a city attorney, and there is only one ticket in the field. Emanuel Rous for re-election as city attorney; C. H. Brosig, A. J. Wirtz and Wm. T. Chester for aldermen. Messrs. M. G. Calvert and E. L. Mooney did not announce for re-election. Mr. Brosig being the only retiring alderman who has announced for office to succeed himself. For the town it is a good thing there is no contest on. Every political contest makes some confusion, and the growth of the town always suffers, more or less, from it.

You judge a man not by what he promises to do, but what he has done. That is the only true test. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judged by this standard has no superior. People everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Mr. C. W. Stephens and his three assistant teachers, Misses Katherine Dickson, Ima Scruggs and Alice Wright attended the Teachers' Association at Eagle Lake. All are loud in their praise of the hospitality shown them by Eagle Lake's good people.—Rock Island Cor. Colorado Citizen.

Disposes of Undertaking Business to W. J. Franz.

A deal was made yesterday wherein Mr. O. R. Davis has sold his undertaking business to Mr. W. J. Franz, who is now in charge of the business. Mr. Franz will keep a graduated embalmer at the undertaking parlors. Mr. Davis, with his family, expects to leave about the middle of the month for Temple, where it may be likely that he will undergo an operation for gall stones. If, however, it is found that such an operation is not necessary, he and his family will leave in their car for an extended visit through Western Texas, after which, it is his intention to engage in the undertaking business in Waco. This paper, in common with the people of Eagle Lake, will regret exceedingly to see Olva and his family leave this city. There is not a more popular boy in the town than he. Born, reared and grown to manhood here, he enjoys the confidence, respect and esteem of every person in the town. A newspaper naturally has considerable dealings with an undertaker, and it gives us pleasure to say that all of our business dealings with Mr. Davis have been of the most pleasant nature. He has built up one of the best

Tom Waddell came over from Eagle Lake to catch for Rock Island in a matched game with Garwood. The game was played to the tune of 3 to 5 in favor of the home team. Garwood had some nice looking "big huskies" in her line up. Both teams are sadly in need of more practice.—Rock Island Cor. Colorado Citizen.

PRESCRIPTION

For a Long Life.

This is the prescription for a long life given by an old gentleman in Connecticut, who is ninety-nine years old and still well and cheerful. "Live temperately, be slow to anger, don't worry, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air, and, above all, keep cheerful."

Should the system get run down—digestive organs weak—the blood thin and sluggish, take Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the medicinal body-building properties of cod liver, with the useful grease eliminated and tonic iron added. We regard Vinol as one of the greatest body-builders and strength-creators in the world for aged people.

Mrs. Mary Ives, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people, you would be unable to supply the demand; it is the finest tonic and strength-creator I ever used."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. M. G. Calvert, Eagle Lake, Tex. Subscribe for the HEADLIGHT.

Dinner Was A Success.

The dinner served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church in the Franz building on Main Street on Wednesday was a success in every way. The ladies realized about $70.00. A splendid menu was served and every one who took dinner with the ladies on this occasion is loud in praise of the most excellent dinner served.

John Willie's Reason
It was the first time that John Willie, aged four, had ever faced the camera—at least, since he had begun to take a live interest in things.
"Now, my little dear," said the photographer, "if you'll just keep still a moment we shall soon have a pleasant picture."
But nothing on earth would induce John Willie to keep still.
"If you just go outside, madam," the artist said, after he had tried for half an hour, "I think I can manage it all right."
John Willie's mother went out, for she, too, was tired of the strain. And, behold! Five minutes later the photographer smilingly assured her that all was well. As for John Willie, he was as meek as a lamb. Only when they reached home did his mother attempt to discover the reason.
"Mumver," John Willie explained, "he looked terrible at me, and said, 'Now, my little dear, if you just go outside, madam, I think I can manage it all right.'"
"If you don't keep your twisting carcass still, I'll skin you alive!" That's why I kept quiet.

Piecemeal
They were experts in many things, but chiefly in the art of bragging. And at the moment they were discussing their own wonderful feats as vocalists:
"Why," said the Englishman, blowing rings of smoke from his cigar, "the first time I sang in public the audience simply showed me with bagpets. Bless you there were enough to start a 'lower shop!'"

"Faith, an' I can beat you!" cried the Irishman. "The first time I sang was at an open air concert, and, begorra, the audience were that delighted they presented me with a house, they did!"

"A house! You must be off your head!" interrupted the Englishman, scoffingly.

"Not at all," answered Pat. "I tell ye they gave me a house—but it was a brick at a time."

It's Overeating
William Muldoon, the health specialist, said one day in New York:

"We eat too much. A fat millionaire gourmet invited me to luncheon recently. It was a delicious luncheon—hors d'oeuvre, Spanish omelette, a salmi of little birds, then lamb chops with new potatoes and peas, then a peche Meiba, then fruit, then filtered coffee."

"The millionaire, at the end, unbuttoned the lowest buttons of his waistcoat, and said, with a complacent smile:
"Ah, Muldoon, half the doctors' patients are undoubtedly supplied by bad cooks."

"Yes," I agreed, "and the other half are just as undoubtedly supplied by good ones."

Tit for Tat.

A doctor who had a custom of cultivating the lawn and walk in front of his home every spring engaged O'Brien to do the job. He went away for three days and when he returned found O'Brien waiting for his money. The doctor was not satisfied with his work and said:

"O'Brien, the walk is covered with gravel and dirt, and in my estimation it's a bad job."
"Shure, doc, there's many a bad job of yours covered with gravel and dirt."

Her Easter Hat.

Apropos of the latest foreign limousine—the limousine with a roof that slides back for aviation meetings—Frank Coffyn, of hydroplane fame, said one day in New York:

"This car reminds me of a conversation I overheard between two girls."

"It was an awfully smart crowd at the flying," said the first girl. "I saw some awfully nice frocks."

"And who flew?" the second inquired.
"Don't ask me!" said the first girl. "Do you think I was going to take off my new Easter hat just to see a lot of aeroplanes?"

"From 50 acres of this cotton I sold 56 bales, which brought an average of over 15c. It cost no more to raise and is as easy to pick as any variety."

"Because mine was poorly picked and trashy, the price was not what it should have been, but nevertheless, the result was entirely satisfactory."
