

CONCERTS START SOON

Weekly Concerts Will Commence About May First.

The Eagle Lake band work is progressing nicely, and under the direction of Prof. P. N. Barrows, the band this season is going to eclipse any and all bands of Eagle Lake in the past. The weekly open air concerts in the park will begin on the first Tuesday night in May. This season the concerts will be given on Tuesday nights instead of Thursday nights, as in the past. This change is made because the director, Mr. Barrows, is here only during the first of the week, he being in Bay City during the last of the week. It is about time now that some benches were being gotten for the park, for those in the park have been allowed to go to rack and ruin as no care has been taken of them. A good band is a fine advertisement for a town and Eagle Lake this year will be better than any we have heretofore had. Our people will all be glad when the weekly concerts begin and there is no doubt but that the park will be full to overflowing on every concert night.

FOR SALE—One set carpenter tools; will sell separately or together. Apply to G. E. BOOTHE.

A Boy's Composition on the Modern Cow

A cow is an animal somewhat bigger than a fox. A grown cow that has not been in a train wreck has four legs—one on each corner. A good cow has two good horns and a long tail. A bad cow has her horns knocked off and her tail off by the dogs. All four of a cow's legs and her tail hang toward the ground. A cow's milk is as good for kids as goat milk is. A black cow will give white milk as same as white cows will. It does not take a red cow to give pink milk. The red milk shake at the drug stores is mixed with som'in else. You don't buy a whole bundle of cows to get the different kinds of milk. Out'en it you can make blue john, clabber, butter milk, ice cream and whey. And I thought they made dairyman's milk out'en it too, but Bill says it takes creek water, sugar cane juice and chalk to make hit. You don't have to freeze the milk and put some medicine in it to kill the taste of weeds. A kicking cow gives more milk than a tame cow. When she kicks a quart of milk on your clothes it goes further than a gallon does at the table.

A "butter cow" I guess is the muley kind. A good cow that has never been to school, don't know what a walking encyclopedia of usefulness she is. When she is alive she is a regular dairy, an ice cream freezer and the whole cheese. She is a drug store of acids, milk, sugars and baby foods, and a vaccinator for small pox. She is a lawn mower and a Johnson grass killer (when she is alive.) When she is dead she is a meat market, a tallow candle, soap and fertilizer factory; she furnishes material for bow strings, and makes hair mattresses; is a manufacturer of coarse and fine combs—for various purposes. She provides glue for broken furniture, manufactures buttons and knife handles, and conducts a shoe and harness shop. She makes some patent medicines, and does general repair of systems (when she is dead.)

A cow is a very nice home-made animal, but I don't think I would like to be a cow.

It is said that a boy raised on cow milk is not so apt to "butt in" as when he is raised on goat milk.—Selected.
