

GIVES MIDNIGHT ALARM

Farmer Stout was awakened from a sound sleep by the ringing of his telephone bell. The beam of his neighbor, three miles down the turnpike, had been broken into and a driving horse stolen.

The horse-thieves were headed toward the Stout farm. Calling his hands he armed his forces, lined them upon the turnpike, captured the thieves and held them until the arrival of the Sheriff.

A clergyman was examining a class of small boys in Sunday school. "Can any of you tell me what is the meaning of divers diseases?" Two small boys began in an undertone, to compare notes. Presently one of them looked up. "Please, sir," he said, "it's water on the brain!"

Tip to Advertisers.

The advertising columns of the newspaper is the bedrock of all business. Your capital may be invested, but who knows it?

The newspaper has seen hundreds of advertising schemes enter the fields of publicity and depart; has seen advertisers misuse their appropriation in an unwise scatteration and then come back to the newspaper sadder, wiser, but more experienced and appreciative of true worth of sure enough advertising. In the face of all this, the newspaper has remained as true and strong as the rock of Gibraltar.

And why? Because the people support the newspaper as they do nothing else licensed in the business field.

More different kinds of commercial interests are exploited in the newspaper every year; larger sums are expended and why? No head of a business has the insane vanity to advertise just to see his business written, or his name kept before the public. It is solely a question of dollars, for no house can hope to maintain in the commercial arena that does not advertise.

Advertise steadily in the newspapers if you want the worth of your money; go at it in a systematized manner, with the determination to let no one else get first place in your particular field. Don't go into the newspaper one week and out enough times to ease up the finance part; advertise so that large sales cover up all leaks; and there is no leak so pernicious as spasmodic advertising, being forgotten in between times sends the people to the man who doesn't give 'em a chance to forget his business.

Let us suppose that it were permissible for a newspaper to suspend every issue every now and then because it thought that the public did not need to get the news all the time. Would the excuse be plausible? Would the people accept it? And honor bright, isn't your business every bit as important to you as the news, of the country is important to the newspaper.

The Girls' Euchre Club

Miss Mabel Seaholm entertained most delightfully, on Thursday afternoon, the girls of the Euchre Club. Miss Isabel Watson scored the highest number. The girls have decided to change the club to a five hundred club. Music was rendered during the afternoon by little Miss Elmira Jikel of Yoakum, who accompanied Miss Mabel Seaholm home from Yoakum. Dainty refreshments were served. Those present were, Misses Gene Welford, Esther Westmoreland, Agnes Chew, Winnie Campbell, Annie Margaret Thatcher, Ernest Falar, Mildred Davis, Bunny Erick, Hilda Lee, Grace Tatters, Jewell Vineyard and Mabel Seaholm. The club will meet next week with Miss Esther Westmoreland.

There can be but one vital point to cover in questions of this kind. No one is in business for health or pleasure; it is not a matter of pleasing one's friends, or of "spreading" it, the outcome is just a question of making money. Will you advertise in the newspaper and forge ahead or retire for want of being known?—Houston Chronicle.

He thought he was a connoisseur, and he was lamenting the decadence of art. "Look!" he said, "at the great Italian school of painters. Look at the old Greeks! Why, Zeuxis painted grapes so naturally that birds came to peck at them."

"He did, did he?" said a hearer. "That's nothin'. I've got a friend who paints a dog so natural that he has to paint a muzzle on him to keep him from biting."
