The rice planters of the Eagle Lake district held a meeting at Frazar's opera house yesterday afternoon. The meeting was well attended by the rice planters and many business men of the city were present. Mr. E. A. Eignus, who is a member of the board of trustees of the Southern Rice Growers' Milling Association, addressed the meeting and explained the plans and purposes of the new organization and about fifty of the leading rice growers signed contracts covering the sale of their rice for a period of ten years. The new organization is meeting with favor in all parts of the rice belt and is destined to become the controlling factor in the milling and distribution of clean rice. Judging from the expression of opinions heard on the street here yesterday it is likely that over fifty per cent of the planters in the Eagle Lake territory will rally to the support of the rice growers' milling association.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side. The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair. At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Getting Drunk on Food "I know, men, and women," said Thomas A. Edison the other day, "who are food drunk all the time."

"Food drunk" is a new term. But it expresses an idea that is old. It describes a condition that is notorious. Few of us, indeed, but who know people who are constantly gorged with food, with the result that their intellects are beclouded and their bodies benumbed just as truly as if the excess had been liquid instead of solid.

The man who has his stomach full of food is more or less stupefied. His mind and muscles work sluggishly. His faculties are dulled and his feelings deadened. His condition differs only one degree from that of the man drunk with alcohol, or of the snore that is gorged.

"It is quite possible that we are suffering from food drunk, and better than we do now on half what the average man now consumes." —Memphis Scimitar.

It Sounded Like It.

A young girl from a country town went to a city boarding school, much against the wishes of her father, who thought she would be spoiled by city ways. "Soon she wrote in one of her letters: "I am in love with ping-pong."

The mother read the letter aloud to the father, who turned angrily upon her saying: "Well, you see I was right. I knew no good would come of her going to the city. Now, you see she has got in with one of those danged Chinamen."

Unsuperstitious.

Daughter—"I had to stand in the street car nearly the whole distance."

Mother—"Such innocence! If you had simply stood on some gentleman's toes he would have given you a seat."
