The Bulletin of the Chicago Department of Public Health prints the following Ten Commandments:

1. Thou shalt honor thy city and keep its laws.
2. Remember thy cleaning day and keep it wholly.
3. Thou shalt love and cherish thy children and provide for them decent homes and playgrounds.

4. Thou shalt not keep thy windows closed day or night.

A Hard Judge.

A prisoner on trial, in answering to the charge, pleaded "Not guilty." The jury found the charge proved, and in passing sentence the judge said: "You're not only guilty, but you come here and tell lies, saying you're not."

The prisoner who followed next for trial was doubtless influenced by this, and supposed it would be well for him to take another course, so he pleaded "Guilty" in an almost self-satisfied tone of voice.

"Oh, ye're guilty, are?" said the judge, "and here to brag about it, do ye?"—Tit-Bits

Postal cards have been sent out to all the married men in a certain town of Western New York, carrying the question, "Why did you marry?" The following are some of the answers returned:

"That's what I have been trying for eleven years to find out."

"Married to get even with her mother—but never have."

Overheard On a Park Bench.

"Say, what do you think about the Japs?"

"Awful lot of them in the country."

"They ought to clear out the whole bunch."

"You bet. But why stop at the Japs? There's the Chinamen, too."

"I wish they would ship the Dagos first."

"The Jews, for my part. The country is thick with them."

"I hear there are over twenty million Catholics in the country."

"Say, what are we coming to?"

"And the Swedes and the Germans. Why out West they own states and cities. Look what they did to Milwaukee."

"Were you ever down south?"

"No, but I know what you mean."

"America for Americans is what I say."

"That's where you're dead."

"Wrotelewski. What's yours?"

Couldn't Rise to the Occasion.

"The laziest man I ever saw," said a man who travels for a Chicago firm, "is the proprietor of a little shoe store down in Arkansas. I happened to be in his shop one day when a woman entered and said she wanted to buy a pair of shoes. The lazy man, who was sitting on a box at one end of his establishment, looked at her, yawned wearily, and then said:—

"I can't wait on you to-day. Come in some other day, when I'm standing up."

Would Make No Mistake.

The president of a small college was visiting the little town that had been his former home and had been asked to address an audience of his former neighbors. In order to assure them that his career had not caused him to put on airs he began his address thus:

"My dear friends—I won't call you ladies and gentlemen—I know you too well to say that."

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me."

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.
