Who He Was

A small boy with a rather lost and lonesome appearance walked into the county clerk's office at the courthouse. He gazed about him for a time and finally approached Deputy Henry Smiley. "Please sir," the lad said timidly, "have you seen anything of a lady around here?" "Why, yes, sonny," answered Smiley, "I've seen several." "Well, have you seen any with out a little boy?" the lad asked anxiously.

Wrong Diagnosis

A relieved look crossed his face. "I'm the little boy. Where's the lady?" "That was an awful mistake that surgeon made. The man he operated on didn't have what he thought he had." "Didn't have appendicitis at all, eh?" "Oh, he had appendicitis, all right, but he didn't have any money." "Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days. Your doctor will refund money if $4.70. Ointment fails to cure any case of itching, bleeding or protruding piles in 14 days. The first application gives ease and relief. See."

Probably Haunted

Mrs. Slimpurse—"Did you inquire about that house we liked so much?" Mr. Slimpurse—"Yes. That house is haunted, or something." "Goodness! Did the landlord say so?" "No, not exactly, but he seemed to be sure we'd move out inside of a week." "Morrors! Did he say he thought we would?" "Well, no, not in so many words." "Then what did he say?" "He said he wanted a month's rent in advance."

At the Ticket Window

"Say, young man, will you tell me what time the next train pulls in here from the north and how long it stays?" The clerk answered briefly, but politely, in a very high and unusual voice, "From two to two two." The old lady looked at him a moment and then said, "Well I do declare Be you the whistle!" Jones' Magazine in Chicago Record-Herald.

Jolted the Judge.

They were speaking about the funny ones that occasionally bulge out in the august courtroom the other evening when Senator Harry Lippitt of Rhode Island came to a New England Judge.

The case before the Court, the Senator said, was directly due to the erratic flight of a rock that had gone through a plate glass window. The man who threw the rock was in the prisoner's pen, and an old lady, who had seen the excitement, was in the witness chair trying to describe the size of the missile.

This apparently was no easy job, for, after the lawyers had futilely worked for several minutes, the Judge took up the examination.

"Look this way, madam," said His Honor, closing his hand. "Was the stone you saw thrown as big as my fist?"

"Witness with impressive deliberation."

"I see," returned the Judge, closing both hands together. "Was it as big as my two fists?"

"It was bigger," rejoined the old lady in the same slow voice.

"Good," returned the Judge with a look of encouragement. "Was the stone as big as my head?"

"It was just about as long as your head," slowly replied the witness, "but not quite as thick."

Somewhat Particular

An Irishman and Swede were arrested for horse stealing. They were taken out by a committee to be hanged. Standing on a bridge over the river the Swede was called forward first. The rope was tied around his neck and fastened to the bridge. After a solemn goodbye to his comrade, Ole was pushed off. At the length of the fall, the rope broke, and Oleswam ashore. Pat watched with considerable interest and when the word came from the committee that he was next, Pat replied: "You fellows will have to get a stronger rope than that for I can't swim a stroke."

No Help There.

Against an old Georgia negro, charged with stealing a pig, the evidence was absolutely conclusive, and the Judge, who knew the old darkey well, said, reprovingly, "you wouldn't expect mah family to eat dem dogs!" Harper's Magazine.

"Now, uncle, why did you steal that pig?"

"Because mah pooh family waz starvin', yo' honnoh," whimpered the old man.

"Family starving!" cried the Judge. "But they told me you kept five dogs. How is that, uncle?"

"Why, yo' honnoh," said uncle, reprovingly, "you wouldn't expect mah family to eat dem dogs!" Harper's Magazine.

Modern Methods of Eye Examination.

The methods of eye examination for glasses that I use are identically the same as those taught by Dr. A. J. Cross of Columbia University; certainly this gigantic college of learning could only afford to teach the latest and most approved methods--methods that are accurate and scientific yet of little or no discomfort to the patient.

Drops (atropine) are unnecessary with this modern method as taught by Dr. Cross at Columbia and as evidence of the reliability of the system, thirty-one of the foremost states of the Union have legalized optometry endorsing the methods as reliable, scientific and up-to-date.

Children's, as well as adult's eyes, can be accurately examined by this method without the inconvenience of drops--where prior to this system drops were always supposed to be necessary for children.

A more expensive equipment backed by much experience with the Skiascope is necessary, hence those who have not mastered by hard study the principle of Skiametry often depend on the easier mastered method--not considering the discomfort, risk or inconvenience of drops to the patient.

F. S. ULERY & SON,

J. F. Ulery, Doctor of Optics.

T. G. Atkinson, M. D., Editor Medical Standard, discussing the "Cross Method" says: First it furnishes an "exact" method of measuring refraction as it actually is without allowance of the ciliary muscle and second it utilizes the well known principle of kinetic synergism by which an active muscle will accept needed relief. Eventually every optician will have to understand and practice this method. Eventually, so will every medical man who hopes to maintain his standing as a refractionist.

The governor that signed the Optometry Law in California endorsing the opticians' methods was an oculist.

Optometry is no part or branch of medicine, it is based on the laws of optics and the laws of physics. Illinois Supreme Court.

Dead.

A man was fixing his automobile. "Trouble?" asked a bystander. "Some," was the laconic answer. "What power car is it?" "Forty-horse," came the answer. "What seems to be the matter with it?" "Well, from the way she acts I should say that thirty-nine of the horses were dead." Ladies Home Journal.

"Harry, love," exclaimed Mrs. Knowall to her husband on his return from the office, "I have been dreadfully insulted!" "Insulted!" exclaimed "Harry love." "By whom?" "B-by your mother," answered the young wife, bursting into tears. "My mother, Flora? Nonsense! She's miles away on a visit to poor Tom."

"I don't understand," said Harry, "tell me all about it, Harry, love," she said. "A letter came to you this morning addressed in your mother's handwriting, so, of course, I--I opened it."

"Of course," repeated Harry dryly.

"It--it was written to you all the way through. Do you understand?"

"I understand. But where does the insult come in?"

"It--it came in the p-p-postscript," cried the wife, bursting into fresh floods of briny. "It said, 'P.P.P. S. D. Dear Flora, don't fail to give this letter to Harry. I want him to have it!'"

A Wand Ad

A German farmer lost his horse and wanted to advertise it. The editor asked him what he wished to say. "Just put vat I told you" replied the man. "One nite the udder day about a week ago last month I heard me a noise by the front middle of de pae yard which did not use to be. So I jumps the ped out und runs mit ther door and ven I see I finds my pig gray iron mare he was tied loose and runnin' mit der stable off. Who every prings him back shall pay five dollars reward."

Not Just What She Meant.
The lady had just been introduced to her partner at a dance and was talking to him vivaciously. "Tell me," she said, "who is that terribly homely man over there?"

The gentleman looked. "That," he said ponderously, "is my brother."

"Oh!" gasped the lady in horrified amazement. "Parton me! Really, I hadn't noticed the resemblance."

A Sage Inquiry.
Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin, addressing the students of Smith College, told a story.

"A young man," she said, "fell upon his left knee, clasped his hands and cried:

"Miss McClintock--Mable--if you refuse me I shall never love another woman."

"And does that promise hold good," said the young girl, "if I accept you?" Baltimore American.
