So far the outlook for a fall crop of potatoes in this section is very promising. The price is expected to be good this fall, and with a good fall yield, it will help

our potato men "some."

zen whom it could ill afford to lose.

The Christian work, the caring for the sick and looking after the poor and the afflicted, such was his mission in life, and his noble deeds here in our midst will live as a fitting monument to his memory. The citizens of Eagle

Our school will open next Monday, and it is to be hoped will have the co-operation of all the patrons of the district. Whatever you do, don't knock your school; boost it—it's the one big advertisement for Eagle Lake.

W. P. Zuber, the last survivor of the Texas army at San Jacinto, died at Austin Monday evening. He was 93 years old and had lived all but ten in Texas. He, with Alonzo Steele, who died a few months ago in Limestone county, were known as the last survivors of the battle of San Jacinto.

In the eyes of sensible people about the most disgusting thing on earth, is a bunch of youngsters misbehaving in church. A subscriber in a town not far from Eagle Lake writes to know if there is any penalty for such acts. There is a penalty for disturbing public worship, and if the full penalty is charged, it is a fine of $10.00. So, the next time we venture the assertion that they will find another place to do their misbehaving.

The San Antonio Express of Tuesday quotes Col. Jake Wolters as follows: "I hope all those who have senatorial aspirations will give Sheppard and myself a clear field in 1918. I should like to have a race with just the junior Senator and myself as the entries. You know I promised the people during my last campaign I'd be back at the next election for a United States Senator, and I always keep my promises." 1918 is yet a long time off, but Morris' 1912 record shows that he was a "running price of furniture."

In the sad and sudden death of Charles E. Woodward the HEADLIGHT has lost one of its truest friends—one who never lost an opportunity to speak a good word for the paper. "It gets better every issue," he has often told us. "I'm telling you now, because you won't care after you are dead." If for no other reason we would love Charlie Woodward for this, but we loved him for his noble Christian character. We loved him for the great good he did while he lived. If there were no life beyond the grave, the pure, Christian life that Charlie Woodward lived among us has proved that it pays to live right. He died just as he lived—trusting in his God and his Savior. We loved him in life—we honor his memory in death.

The Waelder New Era advises its readers to send the home paper to the boys and girls who go away to school, which causes the San Antonio Express to remark: This is a good suggestion. No matter how big the papers may be where the young people are attending school, nor how much important news they contain, none will be so welcome as the home weekly with its budget of local and personal items, its accounts of the doings of the friends and acquaintances left behind. The news that Billy Brown and Jennie Smith were married is more interesting than a page account of a royal wedding in Europe, and a report of a party at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones is read with more avidity than all the stuff about Harry Thaw and Governor Sulzer and Mrs. Pankhurst. The daily papers have to print this news because the public generally is interested in it, but the boy and girl off at school doesn't find it nearly so entertaining as the local news published weekly by the paper at home.

John Wannamaker says, "Save a man and you save one person; save a boy and you save a whole multiplication table." An old scout says, "Boys is like pups; you've got to help 'em some, but not too much, not too soon. They've got to learn themselves."

Split skirts haven't split prices.—Corpus Christi Caller. Nor has beef been reduced by the additional supply of calves brought to our attention.—Austin Statesman.

But calves are there just the same.—Tyler Courier Times.

What in the Sam Hill are you fellows talking about, anyway.—Denison Herald.

That's what we'd like know. The idea of associating split skirt with innocent little cows.—Bowie Blade.

Let it go at that. The Blade's comment is the limit.—Nacoma News.

It has traveled some.—Austin Statesman.

What has? Those calves you were talking about.

Frank Randolph, says the Lake Charles, La. Times, until recently publicity agent for the Southern Rice Growers' Association, and through whose personal efforts the organization was created, is out in an open letter in which he states emphatically that the association is the only salvation of the rice farmers and the rice industry of Louisiana and Texas. Mr. Randolph's ideas are accepted by a majority of the leading rice men of the Gulf coast. It is up to the rice farmer to pull himself out, and the wise thing for him to do is to stick to the Southern Rice Growers' Association which pulled him out of the hole and kept him out for three seasons.

Do You Fear Consumption? No matter how chronic your cough or how severe your throat or lung ailment, Dr. King's New Discovery will surely help you if you have your life. Silliman Green, of Mallicott, Col. writes: "Two doctors said I had consumption and could not live two years. I used Dr. King's New Discovery and am alive and well."

Your money refunded if it fails to benefit you. The best home remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Price 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed by Mont. G. Calvert.—Adv.

Mr. Eugene Cookerbo of Bay City, son of Mr. John B. Cookerbo, who died at Wharton a few weeks ago, was in the city Wednesday calling on the grocers, he having succeeded his father in this territory as traveling representative for Wm. D. Cleveland & Sons of Houston.

Messrs. Orlando and Lyle Fordyce of Houston spent several days here this week visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fordyce.

Hon. Geo. Herder of Weimar was here Tuesday en route home from a business visit to Bay City.

Mr. Matt Dickinson of Houston, with the Texas Rice Mill Company, was here several days this week in the interest of his mill. Mr. Dickinson formerly held the position of rice buyer here for the Lakeside Rice Mill Company.

Mr. B. B. Hale of Houston has taken the position of cashier at the S. A. & A. P. station succeeding Mr. J. G. Thomas, who is now on the road as relief agent.

There are 1000 "cheap" paints and a dozen really cheap ones.

That double word "cheap" is the cause of wasting more money than it is worth.

Cheap paint is good paint; there is no other; no other is cheap.

The two words sound alike but their meanings are opposite.

"Cheap" costs double. Cheap is Devoe.

DEVOE sells it.

Mr. Elwood Stewart left Monday for Victoria, the baby of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Matthews being quite ill at that place. From Yakum Mrs. Stewart will go on to Rockdale for a visit to relatives before returning home.

Mrs. T. A. Belle of San Antonio is visiting in the city this week the guest of Mrs. T. L. Smith.

Calumet Baking Powder is the heart of the millions of housewives who use it and know it.

Do not save money when you buy cheap or big-size baking powder. Don't be misled by Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to most milk and soda.

Our congratulations are extended Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Tomlinson of Marietta, Georgia, on the arrival of a daughter at their home last Sunday. The little lady is Miss Sarah Frances Tomlinson. Mrs. Tomlinson was formerly Miss Lillian Bentley of Eagle Lake.

Misses Vivyan Smith and Ethyl Sparks two pretty and popular young ladies of Beaumont, are the guests of Mrs. J. G. Cooper. Mrs. Cooper's sister, Miss Belle Brewer of Orange, is also visiting here, she having arrived a few weeks ago.

Mr. T. L. Smith was a business visitor to Houston this week.

Mrs. Sam H. Little and Sam Jr., returned Wednesday afternoon from a visit to San Antonio.

The case of Matthews vs. Thatcher in the district court at Columbus was decided by the jury last Friday in favor of the plaintiffs, John and Haynie Matthews. Four hundred acres of land near Eagle Lake patented by state to John and Haynie Matthews, was in the controversy. This case occupied the attention of the district court eleven days.

It is said that prospects through the bottoms for a big yield of pecans is the best for many years.

Mrs. I. Lauterbach of Weimar came down Wednesday afternoon for a visit to her sister, Mrs. H. Nussbaum.

Mr. O. L. Miller left the early part of the week for a business visit to Missouri.

Sweet Potatoes.
A Limestone county farmer says he will make two thousand bushels of sweet potatoes. Now that is what we call growing potatoes right, and for profit. Say he realizes 75c per bushel, which is very conservative, he will gather in $1,500, an equivalent of twenty bales of cotton at $75 per bale. It has always been strange to us that farmers do not raise more sweet potatoes, seeing they will grow well in sandy land, and then too, are becoming more and more in demand.—The Sulphur Springs Gazette.

Probably there is no vegetable which, ounce for ounce, affords more good eating than a genuine yallerjam potato. Any gentleman or lady can live through a long winter on an exclusive diet of sweet potatoes and come out fat in the spring. The sweet potato is both bread and meat, also desert. There is no better pie pudding, no better breakfast food than fried potatoes spread with butter. The cost of living could be reduced 50 per cent by compelling every householder to grow for home consumption a quarter acre of sweet potatoes. As it is, there is not enough sweet potatoes to go round. Actually, some town folks who were raised in the country would rather buy canned potatoes and complain of the high cost of living than to set out a row of potato slips across their gardens. In fact, they haven't any gardens. Folks have quit gardening. It is too much like work. And (here's a secret) the reason farmers have almost stopped growing potatoes is the same as why town folks have quit making gardens—it is too tiring on the muscles. There is a good deal of labor involved in raising potatoes in the county, just as there is a good deal of that sort of thing involved in town gardening. Therefore potatoes and gardens are playing out and everybody is accusing everybody else of being a trust and oppressing the poor.—Dallas News.
