AID SOCIETY LADIES HELD GRAND UNION MEETING

Aid Societies of All Churches Met In Big Union Meeting at Methodist Church Saturday.

The Living Church, an Episcopal paper published in Milwaukee, in recent issue, contains a recommendation that in towns and cities, all missionary societies, have union meetings at stated times. In response to this recommendation, Mrs. J. S. Bruce issued invitations to the ministers and missionary societies of Eagle Lake to meet at the Methodist church at 3 o'clock last Saturday. The ministry was represented by Bro. Pyle of the Methodist church and Bro. Jones of the Christian church, the other preachers being out of town. There was quite a good audience of women. Bro. Pyle opened the meeting with derotional exercises and a talk. Bro. Jones made the closing talk and prayer. Mrs. J. W. McCarty, as representative of the C. W. B. M. Auxiliary, read a paper on Foreign Missions. Mrs. E. W. Hanly gave report of the Presbyterian woman's work. In the absence of Mrs. Stephen, wife of the Baptist pastor, her paper was read by Mrs. O. Green. She emphasized the great blessings that Christianity had brought to woman. Mrs. Bruce reported the work of the Episcopal women. Mrs. Yates gave a summary of the work of the Methodist women's society. Missionary hymns were sung, accompanied by Mrs. Wiggin at the organ and also with her fine alto. A beautiful solo was rendered by Miss Pansy Green with lovely voice and sweet unaffected manner. This was a delightful meeting. It is hoped that the next union meeting of the afternoon of the fifth Sunday in March will be largely attended.

His Stomach Troubles Over.

Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion, and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my trouble was over." Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

A Canny Trick

Andrew Carnegie hates lawsuits, and always tries to avoid one if possible. One day he went to his lawyer and laid the details of a case before him. When Mr. Carnegie had finished, the lawyer said he would be pleased to take the case. Mr. Carnegie had a sure case—one he couldn't possibly lose.

"I can't lose?" questioned Mr. Carnegie.

"You can't lose," positively assured the lawyer.

"I guess I won't bring suit, then," announced Mr. Carnegie.

"But why not?" queried the lawyer, in amazement.

"Because," replied Mr. Carnegie, as he took up his hat, "it wasn't my side of the case, but my opponent's, that I laid before you."

Getting Even With the Parson

Parson Wheeler was invited out one afternoon for a motor-car ride with one of his friends. The minister, who enjoyed all outdoor sports, was very enthusiastic over motoring, so he was allowed to drive the car. While speeding along, he was stopped by a constable and ordered to the station house.

"Well," said the captain, after listening to their story, "you say you were going at only fifteen miles an hour, but the constable declares you were traveling at forty. Now, I don't like to doubt the word of either of you. Can you think why he ensists you were traveling at that rate of speed? Is there any grudge he owes you?"

"No," said the clergyman thoughtfully. "No, I can't think of anything—unless it is that I married him four years ago."
