Late in the Season

A girl about 13 years old walked into a leading Philadelphia book store the other day and asked for a copy of "The Three Mosquitoes." After searching the shelves for such a title the salesman assured her there was no such publication. "O yes," she replied, "it's a famous novel written by a Frenchman whose name I forget." Then the salesman realized that she was seeking "Dumas' masterpiece," "The Three Musketeers."—Philadelphia Record.

Reason Enthroned.

Because meals are so tasty they are consumed in great excess. This leads to stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. Revise your diet, let reason and not a pampered appetite control; then take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets and you will soon be well again. Try it. For sale by all dealers.—Ad.

A Fine Job

A suburban housewife relates overbearing this conversation between her maid and the cook next door:

"How are you, Hilda?"
"I'm well; I like my job. We got cremated cellar, cemetery panning, elastic lights and hoists!"

"What's a 'hoosit', Hilda?"

"Oh, a bell rings. You put a thing to your ear and say Hello, and some one says, 'Hello,' and you say 'Hoosit!'"

GIVES MIDNIGHT ALARM

Farmer Stout was awakened from a sound sleep by the ringing of his telephone bell. The horn of his neighbor, three miles down the turnpike, had been broken into and a driving horse stolen.

The horse-thieves were headed toward the Stout farm. Calling his hands he armed his forces, lined them upon the turnpike, captured the thieves and held them until the arrival of the Sheriff.

An Efficiency Find

The general manager of an Eastern railroad had a dreaded reputation for laying off men whenever he found the slightest excuse.

He appeared in the yards one day and two switchmen discussed him.

"What do you hear?" the other asked.

"Why, they say when he was at the funeral of Flanner's wife and the six pallbearers came out carrying the coffin he raised his hand and said: 'Hold on, boys. You can get along without two of them!'"—Saturday Evening Post.

Some Good Advice.

There is no better advice to the young man than to admonish him to watch his finances and keep out of debt. There is a tendency now toward extravagance in every walk of life. We see people who are trying to live above their means. Disaster and heartache are certain to follow. A luxury of today becomes a necessity tomorrow and you believe you cannot live properly without it. Self denial is a valuable characteristic and one especially admirable in the man of limited means. The world has a pretty good idea of what you can afford. You may think you have everybody in the dark regarding your financial condition, but you will wake up some morning and find you are numbered with the deadbeats and irresponsible ones who are not good for their obligations. Again we say, young man, watch your finances.—McGregor Mirror.

Fortunes Paid For Ball Players

"During the last few years the major league club owners have paid some sensationally steep prices for star players, but a new high record was established when President Ebbetts of the Dodgers, agreed to part with $25,000 in cash for Joe Tinker. It will probably be some time before such an amount again is offered for a player, for any team having a man worth such a sum would be foolish to part with him except in the most unusual circumstances. The determination of the Cincinnati management to dispense with Tinker's services was because he had failed to score successfully as a manager and, of course, could not be expected to remain a member of the Reds under some other player's direction. Marty O'Toole, sold to the Pirates by the St. Paul outfit of the American Association brought the next highest price, $20,000. Then in order came Larry Chappin, sold by the Milwaukee Club of the American Association to the White Sox for $18,000; Lefty Russell, sold by the Baltimore team of the International League to the Athletics for $12,000; Fritz Maizel, sold to the Yankees for $12,000 by the Baltimore aggregation; and "Rube" Marquard, purchased from the Indianapolis Club of the American Association by the Giants for $11,000."—Leslie's Weekly.

Not as Expected.
Young Mr. Charles was plainly embarrassed, and Miss Smith knew what was coming—or thought she did.

"Er—Miss Smith," he said, feverishly, "could I—er—see your father for a moment or two?"

"Certainly, Mr. Charles!" And excusing herself, she swept for the parlor.

Presently the old man came in, and, after a short conversation, with Mr. Charles, he stepped to the door and summoned his daughter.

"It is getting late," said Mr. Charles, whose face was radiant, "and as I have a long ride before me, I think I will say good night. Shall I find you at home on Wednesday evening, Miss Smith?"

Miss Smith assured him that he would, and Mr. Charles was soon en route for Clapham.

"O, papa," she began, "did he say that?"

"You must not ask questions," said the old man. "Mr. Charles wished to see me about a matter which for the present, must remain a secret."

"I know, papa," pleaded the girl, "but you might give me just a little hint of what it was—just a word, papa?"

"Oh, well," he replied indulgently, "since you must know, Mr. Charles wanted to borrow fourpence to get home with!"

BLUE RIBBON EGG LAYING HENS AND DUCKS

Aside from being a fine carpenter, Mr. W. A. Carothers is somewhat of a chicken fancier and when it comes to showing egg producing fowls he is entitled to the blue ribbon. Mr. Carothers has at his home in this city twenty-five fine Rhode Island Red hens, from which he gets daily all the way from fifteen to twenty-two eggs, and five Indian Runner ducks from which he gets five eggs every day. Mr. Carothers says the hens and ducks have both been laying at this rate for the past six weeks.

A Winter Cough
A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on racks the body, weakens the lungs, and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr. King's New Discovery gives relief. Henry D. Sanders, of Cavendish, Vt., was threatened with consumption, after having pneumonia. He writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery ought to be in every family; it is certainly the best of all medicines for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and all the other lung troubles."—Good for children.

Couldn't Agree.
After waiting for two weeks without a call, the young doctor who had hung out his "shingle" in a country town was awakened one night by an old fellow who wanted him right away for his boy, who had a severe pain in the region of his stomach. The young doctor hastened to the house and found the boy lying on the bed in evident pain and surrounded by the family and neighbors. He looked at the patient for a moment, then wishing to impress them all with his superior knowledge of medical terms, he spread out his cheat and said: This should cause you no alarm. It is nothing but a cornusitified exegesis anti spasmodically emanating from the germ of the animal refrigerator, producing a prolific source of irritability in the pericardial epidermis profoundly. The old fellow looked at him a moment and replied: "Now that was just what I said it was but my wife she lowed ez how it wuz worms!"

I highly recommend it to my fellowmen as being a medicine worthy of trial in cases of colds, coughs and croup." Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a trial and we are confident you will find it very effective and continue to use it as occasion requires for years to come, as many others have done. COUGH TWO YEARS OLD Yields to Vinol. Read Why.

Strong vigorous men and women hardly ever catch cold; it's only when the system is run down and vitality lost that colds and coughs get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your run down condition again? Mrs. D. A. McGee of Waycross, Ga., says: "I had a chronic cold and cough which kept me awake nights for two years and I felt tired all the time. Vinol cured my cough, and I feel stronger in every way."

The reason Vinol is so efficacious in such cases is because it contains in a delicious concentrated form all the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood building iron added.

Chronic coughs and colds yield to Vinol because it builds up the weakened, run-down system. You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say.
