

Winning the Race

Louis Disbrow, who has secured every world's record for automobile racing up to fifty miles on dirt tracks, demands of the products which he uses quality and service capable of withstanding the most severe treatment.

Especially hard on the motor, owing to the dust which comes in through the carburetor and gets into the cylinders.

For THREE YEARS Disbrow has used

TEXACO MOTOR OIL
and
TEXACO GASOLINE

with the exception of two months when he didn't have them.

In nearly three years he had not found a valve, taken up a bearing or removed carbon from the motor.

In the two months he was using other oils he did these things twice.

TEXACO MOTOR OIL AND GASOLINE saved him (in his own words) 20 per cent gasoline and 30 per cent oil.

Here is a product made in Texas by The Texas Company, expressing fully the quality and service which have made the Lone Star Emblem world famous in the oil business.

All Texaco products are made with the same care and give equal service.

PRACTICAL JOKE FOLLOWS WEDNESDAY NIGHT DANCE

A most enjoyable dance was given on Wednesday night at the Eagle Lake Hotel by Miss Edna Heiney. Most of the young people in town who dance were present and the chaperones were Mesdames Heiney, Waddell and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McRee. Punch and sandwiches of excellent quality were served about eleven o'clock, and the dance terminated a little after twelve. Several visitors in town attended and took part in the dance. One of the "visiting boys" was the victim of a laughable practical joke after leaving the Eagle Lake Hotel. Having acted in a rather "fresh" manner some of our town boys gave a yell and started down the street at a run. The "Dutchman," thinking his last hour had come, took to his heels and tried to annihilate space. First he hid under Mr. W. E. McRee's house and finally escaped to the ice plant. He frantically telephoned for help and failing to evoke any sympathetic response from the local officers, he tried as a last resort, the Episcopal Rector. Mr. Banks went to his rescue and escorted him in safety back to the Hotel Dallas. But long are this "our boys" were fast asleep. It reminds one of that old Scripture verse, "The wicked flee when no man pursueth." We hear the "Dutchman" was eloquent in praise of the Eagle Lake girls, but for the boys he threatens a shot gun.

TREE PLANTING CEREMONY AT SCHOOL MONDAY NIGHT

The Senior Class of the Eagle Lake High School will have a tree planting on the school grounds Monday night. The class will have a tree-planting ceremony and torch light parade. The parade will come through the business portion of the town and on to the school grounds. The torch light parade will form about 7:15 p. m. Everybody is invited to attend the ceremonies of the class on the school grounds Monday night.

Miss Anne Harrison Byrd is expected next month for an extended visit to Dr. and Mrs. Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Gwynn. Miss Byrd's many Eagle Lake friends will be delighted to see her. She has been making her home in San Francisco, California, the past two years.

RICE WAREHOUSE AND $2000 WORTH OF RICE WAS BURNED

Mr. F. C. Koons, who lives below Garwood, was in the city yesterday. He reports that his large rice warehouse and barn at his place was totally destroyed by fire early Tuesday evening. The fire was discovered about six o'clock in the afternoon, the blaze at that time being in the peak of the roof and in the middle of the building. Mr. Koons lost three hundred sacks of rice, a quantity of rice bran and other feed stuffs and a rice separator in the fire. The barn was insured for $1000, but he carried no insurance on the rice or other contents. Mr. Koons was in Garwood at the time of the fire, and while there sold his Japan rice at $5.00 and cleaned out on a number of sacks of other rices at $3.75, same to be delivered promptly. On his return home he found not only his barn and other feed stuffs burned, but two thousand dollars worth of rice in ashes. All of his seed rice for this season's planting was also burned.

NOTES AMBROSIA.

Last Monday night the days of the "Ambrosial Nights" were vividly recalled by a party given by Mrs. J. W. McCarty at her residence for the intellectual, social and musical enjoyment of her guests.

A full and varied program of literary and musical items was rendered, nearly everybody present taking some part in the program.

The purpose of the gathering was explained by the hostess who refreshed the memories of her guests by a reference to the original "Notes Ambrosia." The "Poets" were limited to the great writers of the first half of the nineteenth century and brief biographical sketches were given of each poet, followed by a short poem by the poet thus introduced.

The program was as follows: Duet: Soldiers' Chorus from Faust, Miss Mabel Seaholm and Mr. Banks.

"Narcissus"—Mrs. W. A. Dallas.

Reading, "Last Rose of Summer"—Moore—by Mrs. M. E. Gwynn.

Reading from Leigh Hunt: "Abou Ben Adham"—Prof. Morgan.

"Jennie Kissed Me," Mrs. J. I. Whitley.

Piano Solo, "Circus Gallop," Groscurth, Miss Seaholm.

Reading by Mrs. A. J. Wirtz: Piano and violin duet, Mrs. Whitley and Mrs. Gwynn.

Reading from Southey, "The Battle of Blenheim" by Mrs. Middleton.

Song: "Then You'll Remember Me," Mrs. Mason McCarty.

Reading: Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," by Miss Fannie Williamson.

Piano Solo, "Under the Double Eagle," by A. J. Gayner Banks.

Reading from Moore, "Sea Memories," by Mrs. J. H. Morgan.

Song: "Sing Me to Sleep," by Eugene G. Smith.

Reading: "Tribute to America" from Shelley, by Mr. Banks.

After this program was completed the guests adjourned at the invitation of their hostess for an Ambrosial repast quite in keeping with the earlier part of the program. Ambrosial fruits with coconut 'snow' and delectable cake were served assisted with heavenly nectar in the form of Delaware punch.

After these elegant refreshments had been served, a literary competition took place. Each guest received a card with quotations from twelve well-known poets printed thereon and was requested to mark against each excerpt the name of the author. The competitors were by no means unanimous in this matter.

Quite familiar quotations seemed to baffle even the best intellects present, and thus it was found that so well known a line as "England! with all thy faults, I love thee still" was variously attributed to the Czar of Russia, President Poincare of France and a certain local minister of British birth!

Common sense more than literary or technical exactitude governed the competitors in their authorship hence the oft-quoted assertion that "the pen is mightier than the sword" was attributed by one competitor to Bruce McCarty. In this case perhaps there would have been more point if the quotation had read "the pen is mightier than the shotgun!"

Mr. Banks' paper was judged to be the "least deficient" handed in, so he was the fortunate winner of the prize—a fine volume of poetical quotations, bound in soft green lambskin. Everybody relished the evening's entertainment with its decidedly literary flavor and congratulated the hostess upon the success of her "Ambrosial Night."—A Guest.

Agreed. Nora had been guilty of what was considered an indiscretion, so the mistress of the house called her to account.

"If such a thing occurs again, Nora," said the mistress, "I shall have to get another servant."

And Nora said: "I wish yer would—there's easily enough work for two of us!"

"Have used your Liniment very successfully in a case of rheumatism, and always have a bottle on hand in case of a cold or sore throat. I wish to say I think it one of the best of household remedies. "Just a line in praise of Sloan's Liniment. I have been ill nearly fourteen weeks with rheumatism, have been treated by doctors who did their best.
