Mayor Elmer Struss and ool Library Tues., Jan. 15 at City Manager T. J. Smith had met with the engineers prior to this session and had been making an attempt to have the cable laid on railroad rightof-way at the rear of the buildings on the north or south sides of Main Street. The mayor told the engineers that he had been in contact with a Southern_Pacific railroad company official that date and the official indicated that the company would be receptive to the possibility but he could give no assurances in this case, One of the ojections pointed out by the engineers was that in the past the railroad companies have charged an neers, annual fee for use of right of way and the phone company policy is for a "one time" fee. Schlindler and Mar-shall both agreed that the dicated that a delay might > remove the priority rating given to the project at this time. In the meantime, local citizens would not be afforded the improved and additional services that would be made possible by the expansion program. Mr. Marshall told the council that his estimates show that by-passing the two blocks in the downtown area and following railroad right of way would increase the cost over $26,000. He conceded that the alternative route would include laying of cable on Mc-Carty, which is a future and eventual project of the phone company and this footage could reduce the additional estimated expense:

Abother Item that caused the council some concern is the fact that the city has an important eight-inch. water line in Main Street some 15 preliminary plans call for the phone company cable to be placed between the curb and the water line. The water line is 34 years old and it is feared that excessive vibration might bring about some. leaks in the line.

The engineers assured that and that sawing rather than the vibrating hammers will be used to out the concrete. Councilman Wilfred Lued-
