Larry Bales Candidate Fo Cong. 10th Dist

District voters will have a choice in the Democratic Primary, State Representative Larry Bales, Austin, announced his candidacy Monday In a four stop campaign trip? around the district. Bales, 33, spoke at Georgeown, Austin, San Marcos and Brenham. He said he feels it is important for him to . reach all the voters in the district.

After considering his political future for several months, Bales said he finally de--cided he must run. "The people in this district need a voice that speaks for them, for their interests, for their concerns. I have a great devotion to and a worthy cause in the people of this state." Bales said that many politicians say something is "deeply wrong with Ameri-Bales agreed, "But It ca''. is not the people who are the problem, it is the politicians." Throughout his speech, Bales emphasized the inaction and lack of leadership of Washington, peppering h speech with the phrase, " the leaders won't do it, the

the people must." Elected to the Texas Hous in 1972 in the aftermath pstown scandal, Bales said, "As chairman of the House Ethics Committee, worked daily toward restor ing the people's faith in their government." Bales said that we currently face a similar national crisis,

He asked that Congress move forward with impeachment proceedings to remove the doubts in the public mind, "The president will be found either innocent or guilty, and we will know the truth."

On the energy crisis, Date ald, "Congress suffers from its own lack of energy. Congress is spreading out the shortages father than relieving them." Bales said the political pros think the nation's economic and social problems are insoluble. "I say the political pros don't know what they're talking about. It's a long journey, but we can solve these problems together." "The people will find a way to halt inflation, to care for the elderly, to protect conpurpose of electing officers sumers, and with the people's help I can win this election.
