Richard L. Higgins of Eagle Lake marched Tuesday (Feb. 26) with the Ross Volunteers at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

The state's oldest college student organization, the Ross Volunteers Company is an elite honor military unit at Texas A&M University.

The 150-member RVs marches as the honor guard to King Rex's parade during the week-long, New Orleans pre-Lenten festival. The Texas A&M group's appearance at Mardi Gras is a long-standing custom.

Formed in 1887, the Ross Volunteers were named in honor of former Texas Gov. Lawrence Sullivan Ross. He was Texas A&M's third president.

Senior and junior members of the Corps of Cadets comprise the special company. Cadets are selected for membership in the junior year.

On the basis of character, military achievement, discipline and academic records.

RVs traditionally form an honor guard for the inauguration of the Texas governor.

A contingent of the unit took part in formal opening ceremonies of the Constitutional Convention and last summer celebrated in the 150th anniversary of the Texas Rangers.

The company was in New Orleans three days.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Higgins, 112 State St., the TAMU junior is a 1971 graduate.

The Biblical View of Love

(By Richard B. Douglas) The noted psychologist and author, Eric Fromm, has concluded that our generation has talked more about love than any in human history, but has no real idea about its meaning. Recently, on the west coast, a teenage gang wearing motorcycle jackets with the word "LOVE" written on them in unappealing colors beat a man to death with bicycle chains. They claimed they just wanted to see what a man looks like when he dies. Regardless of why they did it, here is a tragic parable of our times. Everyone is talking about love, but how many really know what it is to love.

The Bible has a way of pointing people like they really are. Their strong points are presented, but their weaknesses are never covered up. Judah was a man of strong emotions who sometimes let them get the best of him. He was a man who somewhere along the line learned something about love. He was a man who in his life he sold his brother, Joseph, into slavery because he and his brothers were jealous of him.

When Joseph was sold into slavery, he was a young man of about 17 years old. He was a man of strong emotions who sometimes let them get the best of him. He was a man who somewhere along the line learned something about love. He was a man who in his life he sold his brother, Joseph, into slavery because he and his brothers were jealous of him.
