Vornsand Elected District Clerk

Veselka Wins Close Contest For Commr.

Just over one fourth of the qualified voters in Colorado County participated in the runoff election held last Saturday. Harvey Vornsand of Weimar drew solid support from his home community polling 935 votes in Weimar alone, to defeat Albert W. Hahn by better than two to one margin countywide. Since there will be no Republican candidate on the ballot in the November general election, the nomination is virtually tantamount to election.

Mr. Vornsand drew a total of 1489 votes and Mr. Hahn 732 although Mr. Hahn carried eight of the eighteen voting precincts plus the absentee voting. But the big vote in Weimar 935-95 put him well out front in the final vote.

Mr. Vornsand will succeed Mrs. Annette Wallace who was appointed to fill out the year remaining in the term of District Clerk Charlie W. Allen after his death early this year. Weimar voters were out en masse Saturday not only for the District Clerk's race, but also to elect a new County Commissioner in Precinct 2 to succeed Alfred J. Kainer who did not run for re-election. It was nip and tuck in the voting for this office with Rafael Veselka leading by only five votes in the final tally 576 to 571 over his opponent Delbert Fuchs. In Weimar Mr. Veselka had a 533-500 margin. Mr. Fuchs led in Oakland 60-39 and also in absentee voting 11 to 4.

Only 89 Vote In Eagle Lake

In Eagle Lake only 89 voters went to the polls and they gave Mr. Vornsand a 53 to 36 margin in this voting precinct. Voting in the district clerk's office went as follows:

Correction On Sequestration Suit on Truck

The report published in the last issue of the Headlight regarding a writ of sequestration suit filed in District Court last week by Denton Leasing Co. carried erroneous information and the Headlight is happy to publish the following correction:

The story published last week indicated that the suit filed by Denton Leasing was against Jack Wagner, doing business as Eagle Lake Diesel Service.

Actually Mr. Wagner was called to tow in a tractor and trailer which was in the possession of John Scott after the vehicle broke down in March of 1974. After repairing the truck tractor, Mr. Wagner was holding his mechanic's lien on both the tractor and trailer until he received payment. The truck was not under lease to Mr. Wagner as the story indicated.

Good Prices Expected For Record Rice Crop

1973 Crop Grossed Over $24 Million Here

ARG Gen. Mgr. Reports at EL Division Dinner

Despite an anticipated record world rice crop in 1974, prices paid for new crop rice are expected to be good, but perhaps short of the record high prices paid in the 1973 season, reported George Blair, general manager of the American Rice Growers' Association, at the local rice producers and guests at the annual dinner meeting at Marvin's Monday night.

Mr. Blair discussed the record rice crop which has just been completed in Burma and Thailand as one of the possible influences on the prices paid for 1974 rice in the United States. He pointed out that in 1973 some of the worst weather ever prevented a successful rice crop in many of the rice producing countries and gave a boost to the U. S. market.

The dock strike, if not settled before the new rice crop comes off, could also have a very determining factor in the prices to be paid for rice this year. He said that a $15 to $14 per barrel support price is anticipated.

He went on to discuss new legislation proposed for the rice industry commencing that the secretary of agriculture is "going to make it as hard as he can on the rice industry if new legislation is not accepted." The industry has proposed such new plans as the certificate plan and price proposals and local producers were urged to write their congressmen and senators to let them know how they feel on the proposed new programs.

Burglar Has Coke, TV Party at Rice Ind.

A hungry and thirsty burglar with a craving for watching television entered the offices of Rice Industries, Inc. east of the city, during the night of May 27th.

Entry was made by breaking out a window in the building. County sheriff's officers reported that once inside the burglar ransacked drawers in desks in the office and in the coffee room. He took cookies and a case of Cokes from the coffee room to a neighboring office where he hooked up a television set and proceeded to enjoy the cookies, drinks and the television.

Later the burglar apparently went to a nearby tractor and attempted to start the tractor and left some cookies on the tractor and then went to a nearby flatbed truck and left headlights burning on this vehicle.

County Oil, Gas Values Expected Up $3 Million

Delegation Asks For, Gets Pay Hike For Garwood Deputy

A delegation of Garwood and Nada citizens, many of them prominent business- men, met with County Commissioner's Court last Thursday in a special session to give the commissioners and the county judge a briefing on the prospects for oil and gas taxes.

They estimated that the county should have a gain of minimum of $3 million in oil and gas valuations this year due primarily to the increased prices being paid for oil and gas.

It was conceded that the reserves in some areas, in particular in the Shell Oil Co. interests at Sheridan, are down some due to depletion, but additions to the tax roll from increased drilling in the energy crisis, and the increase in the price of products sold should more than offset this and result in a sizeable increase in the total valuations.

Oil and gas valuations in 1973 totalled $22,873,090 and the total valuations were $65, -815,850. This total however was reduced to $63,719,420 by the 65-and-over homestead exemptions.

County Tax Assessor and Collector Henry J. Hajovsky said that valuations other than oil and gas should run the same as last year with the addition of more exemptions due to the extension of the program to single persons, more than offset with new construction, etc.

The Commissioners' Court will sit as a board of equalization at 1:30 p.m. this Wed., June 5th to hear local citizens interested in discussing their tax valuations; and then have set a hearing for Sat., June 15th with oil and gas interests.

Joey Targac Back With Sheriff Dept.

Targac will succeed Jerry Staten who has been serving as a fulltime deputy in the absence of a regular deputy. Staten will return to duties as a part-time officer, working mostly on week-ends.

National Guard Armory at Columbus Entered

The FBI, the Columbus police department and the county sheriff's office are investigating the entry of the National Guard Armory at Columbus during the night of May 31st or morning of June 1st.

Troy McQueen notified the county sheriff's office that the armory had been entered. Columbus Chief of Police Ed Potter and deputies from the sheriff's department answered the call and FBI officers later joined in the investigation.

Entry was made by prying up a back door so that the burglar could crawl under the door. Once inside, the burglar tried to enter a supply room using a crow bar. He ransacked two large wooden boxes and other supplies and ransacked the office of First Sergeant Lucien Lacourse and there he found a set of keys to the communications room.

Sgt. Lacourse reported that an inventory showed that two back pack radios and two cases of soda water were missing, all valued at around $1400.

Price For Oil, Gas To Hike Values

Representatives of the oil and gas valuation engineering firm of Latham and Stults met with the County Commissioners' Court last Thursday in a special session to give the commissioners and the county judge a briefing on the prospects for oil and gas taxes.

They estimated that the county should have a gain of minimum of $3 million in oil and gas valuations this year due primarily to the increased prices being paid for oil and gas.

It was conceded that the reserves in some areas, in particular in the Shell Oil Co. interests at Sheridan, are down some due to depletion, but additions to the tax roll from increased drilling in the energy crisis, and the increase in the price of products sold should more than offset this and result in a sizeable increase in the total valuations.

Egret On Sharp Increase; Destroy Tons Of Insects

Thousand Banded In Rookeries Here

Over 5000 egrets, mostly of the cattle egret variety, were banded to continue the study on this bird which is rapidly becoming a part of the wildlife scene in Texas. The banding operation took place here last week at two large rookeries, one on the lake and the other on the Horton and Horton land between the Calhoun road and the river, by officers of the Parks and Wildlife Management Division under the direction of management officer John Smith.

Bands were placed on young egrets taken from the nests, some ready to fly, and will be used by the P&W specialists to determine the movement and habits of the birds.

Mr. Smith commented that the egrets came to the United States only a few years ago and were blown to Texas by hurricanes from Africa or South America. "The first pair of cattle egrets were spotted in Texas in 1959 and today there are an estimated 300,000 to 500,000 of the birds in this state alone," said

Smith. He commented on the value of the cattle egret to the farmer and rancher since the bird has a diet strictly of insects and snakes and frogs and the like with a particular craving for the grasshopper. "Tests made by our biologists have shown that a rookery of two acres will devour an estimated 100 tons of insects annually," said Mr. Smith. He estimated the two rookeries that were worked here at around five acres each which means that the birds in each of the nesting areas have devoured an estimated 250 tons of the insects in the past year.

The rapid growth in the number of the cattle egret is attributed to the fact that some 90% of the young that hatch reach maturity. This compares to 30 to 40% of the young of the other species of egrets that reach maturity. "The cattle egret, since it lives in insects, is often seen following cattle - which by their movement cause the insects to fly or attract some flies, mosquitoes and other insects. Also local citizens have seen more and more of the egrets on the edges of the
