Armistice Day Ceremony

Shown above is a portion of the crowd which assembled on the Colorado County courthouse square in Columbus Monday for the observance of Armistice or Veterans' Day on the "true and orthodox" holiday, Nov. 11th. At the microphone is Sam K. Seymour, Jr., who headed the group planning the observance; at his right is County Judge Lester J. Cranek who participated in reading the poem "Flander's Field". All present were urged to join in an effort to return Texas to the observance of Veterans' Day on Nov. 11th.

Ceremony Held On "Real" Armistice Day Mon., Nov. 11

A ceremony attended by some fifty persons was held on the courthouse square in Columbus at 11 a.m. Monday, Nov. 11th in observance of the Armistice Day holiday.

The program was sponsored by Sam K. Seymour, Jr. and was arranged to put emphasis on the observance of Armistice or Veterans' Day on the "true and orthodix holiday", said Mr. Seymour.

Veterans and members of the Columbus American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts and others were on hand for the ceremony.

Mr. Seymour pointed out that the "Blood, sweat and tears of World War I veterans resulted in the signing of the Armistice closing World War I at this time (11:00 a.m.)".

Seymour added that many of the nation's patriotic citizens do not recognize the Oct. 28 date set by the U. S. Congress for the observance of Veterans' Day.

He introduced County Judge Lester J. Cranek who added comments urging a return to the Nov. 11th observance of the Armistice or Veterans' Day holiday. He said that if states still recognize Nov. 11th as Armistice Day and Texas is only one of nine that does not recognize Nov. 11th as the appropriate holiday commemorating the brave acts of the veterans in defense of their country and the freedoms for which it stands.

"It would behoove each of us to make an effort to return to the original Nov. 11 date for the official observance of Veterans' Day in Texas," he stated.

He read the poem "Flander's Field" after which Taps were sounded by Miss Theresa Childress of the Columbus High School.

Rev. Kennell Attends Town Church Conf.

The conference, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, is conducted to assist ministers in developing a better understanding of the vital issues of the 70's wherein they can more adequately respond to the questions being asked by members of their respective churches.

Attending the conference from Eagle Lake were the Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Kennell. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Eagle Lake.

Of special interest to ministers were presentations on Changing Land Ownership Patterns and Their Implications and Texas Population--New Developments and Their Implications by Dr. Ivan Schmedemann of the Texas Real Estate Research Center and Dr. R. L. Skrabanek of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, respectively.

Ministers also gained additional knowledge and insights from informative lectures on the following subjects: Relationships Between Ministers and Existing Power Structures; The Importance of Developing, Motivating and Involving Lay Leadership at the Community Level; and Patterns of Religious Behavior Among Middle Class Mexican Americans.

2 Get Probation For Assault On EL Officer

Rachel Ferrel and Santos Martinez, indicted by the September grand jury for aggravated assault on Eagle Lake police officer Bufford Ashley on August 4, 1974, were sentenced to five year terms of probation each by District Judge R. B. Schraub. They had entered pleas of guilty last month but sentencing was delayed until Oct. 31st.

A third person, Luke Martinez, also charged in the Ashley assault case is scheduled to go on trial Wed., Nov. 20th.

On that same date other criminal cases not heard in September will be brought before Judge Schraub.

It is anticipated that a jury ventre will be called in the event any of the cases do go to a jury trial.

Cancer Rate In County Is Above Average

The recent mastectomy operations on First Lady Betty Ford and Mrs. Rockefeller have drawn special attention to Colorado County to the incidence of cancer in the local area and to the progress being made in coping with it.

Figures compiled by the U. S. Public Health Service shed light on the size of the cancer problem locally and how it compares with the situation in other communities.

Based upon the Government's last three annual reports, the number of deaths in Colorado County caused by the various types of cancer has averaged 29 a year, with 2 of them attributed to breast cancer.

The figures relate to the resident population only. Deaths locally of non-residents are not included.

The overall cancer mortality in the area has been somewhat higher than in most parts of the country. The average has been 169 deaths per 100,000 population.

Throughout the United States as a whole, by way of comparison, the rate was 160 per 100,000. In the State of Texas it was 157.

In Colorado County, in the three years, it was responsible for 13 percent of all deaths. Elsewhere in the United States it averaged 17 percent.

Although the incidence of cancer has shown little or no decline in the last two decades, more cures are being effected than ever before. The American Cancer Society reports that one out of every three persons who get it are being cured.

By "cured" is meant survival for five years without further evidence of the disease.

A new in-depth study of cancer cases in the United States, by far the largest ever undertaken, has been announced by the National Cancer Institute.

It will conduct a continuing survey of cancer occurrence involving a population of 23 million people, among whom it is expected that some 80,000 new cases will be discovered each year.

They will be carefully observed to develop clues as to causes and effective methods of diagnosis and treatment. The project is called SEER, for surveillance, epidemiology and end results reporting.
