STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN — A new program to boost the economy has identified more than 6,000 available jobs in its first month of operation. Executive Director Jim Harwell of Texas Industrial Commission said the effort represented a 50 per cent increase over projections for the entire year.

Harwell indicated the "Texas First" program may result in identification of more than 15,000 jobs during the year — with an economic impact of more than $1 billion annually. Texas Education Agency, Texas Employment Commission, Texas Department of Community Affairs and the Governor's Division of Planning Coordination are participating with the Industrial Commission in the program.

Employees lacking skills are offered training through the Texas Start-Up Training Program conducted by the Industrial Commission and through sponsors of manpower training projects. More than 200 of the top 1,000 Texas industries responded favorably to a questionnaire on expansion needs.

Added to the Eagle Lake Headlight subscription list in the past week were: Wynnn Fennell of Cat Spring; Debra Frenzel of Houston; Lloyd E. Whelan of Houston.
