People will never realize you're at a loss for words if you keep talking.

Ten out? Big deal. That's the a sagger letting you keep your wits.

Grand-Grandmother had to haul the wash water from the well, but she didn't have to sit up nights figuring out how to meet the payments on the basket.

Hard about the ultimate economy car? You don't drive it just sits in the driveway and improves your neighbors.

Fols who say, "Where there's smoke there's fire," evidently haven't tried cooking of a camping trip.

REFLECTIONS ON International Sunday School Lesson

(Exodus 22:9-18; 25:29)

A noted traveler and explorer visited hundreds of cultures. He studied many of them from the most primitive to those with the most highly developed educational systems. He concluded: "To my knowledge there is not a culture anywhere that does not feel the need to worship a Higher Being. There seems to be something within every person that cries out for a relationship with deity. ... Our hearts are restless until they find their rest in Thee, O God."

In the Book of Exodus God gave instructions to Moses for a pattern of worship. He also gave the great leader plans for building a place of worship. A portable "house of worship" was set up in a tent. It came to be called "the tabernacle." Many Bible scholars believe that it was the covered tent in which Moses had lived that housed the first worship services. Then a special tent was prepared. Chapter thirty-three in Exodus tells how the Wilson for his active role in behalf of agricultural research.

Hubnak noted that the Texas Legislature is dominated by representation from large cities and rural legislators face a tough road. He predicted that Texas, now rated third in the nation in Agriculture, "soon, and possibly in 1980, will become Number One." He urged rice producers to make the most use of the efforts of rice research and added "we have a moral obligation to feed the people of the USA and the rest of the world where needed."

Rep. Wilson urged producers to keep in touch with researchers for the best possible gain for all concerned. He added, "being No. 1 is important, but not so much as making a decent living for our farmers."

After a question and answer session, Dr. Arthur Gertow, Area Economist for the Texas A&M Extension Service, discussed the rice market outlook for 1977 as discussed in last week's issue of the Headlight.

Those who contributed to the Field Day, making its activities possible were: Eagle Lake Implement Co., Egypt Rice Dryer, First National Bank of Eagle Lake, Prairie Rice, Inc., Rice Industries, Inc., Eagle Tractor, Inc., Rice Aero, Inc., Anderson Manufacturing, Inc., Colorado County Farmers Supply Co., Inc., Eagle Lake and Garwood Divisions of the American Rice Growers' Cooperative Assoc., First State Bank and Columbus State Bank of Columbus, Farmers Coop Association of Garwood, Alvin Dryer, Inc., Garwood Rice Sales, Farm and Ranch Aerial Service, Lakeside Irrigation Co., Agri-Chem, Garwood Implement & Supply, Eagle Lake Rice Dryer, Ted Dankless Pipe Co., Garwood Irrigation Co., Win-Terman & Co., W. Anthony Robinson Of Kendallton Performs

Eagle Lake Rotary Club installed new officers for the 1977-78 year and heard a talented pianist at the annual ladies night installation banquet held last Thursday evening in the Community Center.

The program was presented by Anthony Roy Robinson, born August 25, 1965, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, Sr., of Kendallton, Anthony attends Powell Point School.

At the age of five, he showed interest in music by playing chord notes with both hands. Attracting church members to his family, he would return home and try playing the songs he heard by ear. At the age of six, he began piano lessons with Mrs. Nannie Jo Castle of Eagle Lake.

By the time Anthony was eight, it was evident that he had an unusual talent for music. He began organ lessons and in 1973 became the organist for Little Zion Baptist Church. In December of 1975 he was employed by the music department of Seven Star Baptist Church.

"Anthony has a love for music and a God given talent for it," said Master of Ceremonies George Welch, J. T. (Tommy) Pilkington in introducing the young musician to the major in music and some day acquire a doctorate degree in music education.

"You'll be hearing a lot about this young musician for a long time," concluded Pilkington. Anthony performed six selections for his audience, each of which was received with very appreciative applause.

Officers installed

The Rev. George Welch served as master of ceremonies in his inimitable style and also presided at the introduction of guests and installation of officers. Frank Davidson was installed as the new president of the club, succeeding Jim Stangel in that position on July 1st. Other 1977-78 officers include: Melburn Sibley, vice president; George Welch, secretary; Brock A. Vroman, treasurer; and directors Vance Dunce, Robert Samuel Martin, Allen Marquart and of going through certain routines and ceremonies. It is celebrating the presence of God with us and then hearing about God so that we live like Him. In the New Testament, Jesus indicated that all of us must worship God in truth and spirit. This worship is made possible as we come to know Christ as the revelation of God's truth and relate to God through the power of the Spirit of God. Jesus gathered people and taught them about God and he also worshiped God privately. By his example he reminded us that both the private and public worship of God are necessary. He made it clear that ceremonies and special places are not as important as the spirit and accuracy of our worship. The summary of the Bible on the subject of our worship of God is simple. We need to recognize the presence of God every day and demonstrate it in daily living. We also need to spend time in celebrating that presence in our private and public devotions and worship of Him.
