Golemon To Chair Health Projects Committee of H-GAC

Layton Golemon will chair the Health Projects Review Committee of the H-GAC Health Systems Agency (HSA) during 1979-80. He was appointed by agency chairperson Rachel Lucas at the HSA Annual Meeting held in Houston in May.

The Area Health Commission is the governing body for the Health Systems Agency. The HSA is responsible for health planning and resources development for the 13-county region that includes Colorado County.

Golemon was appointed to the Area Health Commission in 1976 by Colorado County Judge Lester Cranek and was recently reappointed by Cranek to a two-year term.

He served on the Steering Committee and as chairperson of the Health Projects Review Committee during 1977-78.

He has been Executive Director of Columbus Community Hospital since 1975. Prior to joining the hospital staff, he was Executive Vice-President of the American Medical Corporation in Houston.

A member of the Texas Hospital Association, he served on the association's Committee for Professional Services in 1978-79.

NOTICE OF HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS FOR 1979

The Rice Consolidated Independent School District announces that all persons are entitled to receive an exemption of $5,000 from the market value of their residence homestead ($2,000 from the assessed value) for the purpose of school taxes. In addition, all persons who are 65 or older or under a disability for purposes of payment of disability benefits under Federal Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance are also entitled to an additional exemption of $10,000 from the market value of their residence homestead ($4,000 from assessed value) for the purpose of school taxes.

To qualify for these exemptions, an application must be filed with the school district tax office by July 15, 1979. An application form is printed below this message. If you have not already signed an application for the above exemptions, please sign the application and mail it to School Tax Office, Box 606, Eagle Lake, Texas 77434, or bring to the school-tax office by July 15, 1979. Any application received after that date will not be approved.

Subject: Scientists
If you want to see a real live UFO you had better hurry. Scientists maintain they have found the explanation of all UFOs that have been duping the public for years. Of course their speech was mostly in laboratory terms with something that could have been Latin sprinkled here and there. But they have found the illusive answer just the same.

Back in the twenties there was a 2-story flat topped school building where the Methodist Church is now. It was told that in the school days of Cobby Reed a cow mysteriously found her way to the roof on Halloween night. No one put her there. She was a flying bovine. Let's see the scientists try to explain that away.

Benj. Stolberg wrote: "An expert is a person who avoids the small errors as he sweeps on to the grand fallacy."

Durwood Chalker has succeeded Hardy. Other top executives are Aaron Autry, president and chief operating officer; R. L. Range, executive vice president and chief financial officer; and M. L. Borchelt, executive vice president and chief engineering officer.

Both Chalker and Range were elected at the March 27, 1979 meeting of the company's Board of Directors. They assumed their positions on July 1, 1979. Autry has been president and chief operating officer since January, 1975. Borchelt was elected to his new position on July 3, 1979.

Chalker came to CPL from West Texas Utilities where he has been president since 1973 and president and chief executive officer since January, 1975.

As CPL's chief financial officer, Range will be responsible for the company's accounting, treasury, rates and data processing functions.

Borchelt has worked for CPL since 1949. In his new position, Borchelt will assume additional responsibilities for the company's transmission and generation sections.

News from Winterset Library

Robert Ludlum has written an exciting new book to rival any he has done in the past. It is the Matreese Circle and it is now on all the best seller lists.

Brandon Scofield, a ranking intelligence officer in America's clandestine services, is a veteran of twenty-two years. A lifetime of secrecy and violence. He has seen more of that world than he cares to remember. He is a tired man but he remains the best in the field.

Vasil Talenikov, master strategist, KGB, the Soviet Union's most brilliant intelligence tactician is both executioner and negotiator, hunter and quarry. He has spent twenty-five years in ruthless pursuit of Moscow's enemies. He, too, is tired, weary of the fantasy, but there is no one better in all Russia.

Scofield and Talenikov, professionals to the core - are also deadly enemies who have vowed to kill one another if ever they should meet. Their motives: Talenikov was responsible for the death of Scofield's wife; Scofield engineered the murder of the Russian's brother.

In a tense and dramatic race that rivals the best Ludlum has ever done - the best that any author of thrillers has ever written - the two men confront one another. But their confrontation does not result in either's death. Instead, Talenikov and Scofield pool their expertise and begin to track the leaders of The Matreese.

The harbor dinner was well attended and also participation in the various booths, recreation activities, the auction and other entertainment continued until late afternoon.

The parish netted a nice profit from the event and Father Hanus praised the citizens of the area for their participation and contribution and parish members for their work and cooperation in making the event such a great success.

The First Presbyterian Church of San Antonio was the setting for the double ring ceremony uniting Kay Beth Brunner and David Alan Barr in marriage on June 23 at 7 o'clock in the evening. Reverend Richard G. Ryan was the officiant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Brunner of Eagle Lake. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William Herschel Barr of San Antonio.

White ribbon bows marked the family pews. The altar of the church was accented with two 15-point candelabra and arrangements of white gladioli and white carnations.

Dr. Bess Hieronymus played traditional religious music as guests were being seated, then "The Pottsville March" as the wedding party entered. She also accompanied the soloist, Jean McDonald, in "The Lord's Prayer." The recessional was "Pavane 15."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a designer gown of white tulle. The gown had a natural waist with a blouson bodice. The yoke, caplet sleeves, and waistline were all adorned with silk Venice lace and tiny seed pearls. The Queen Anne neckline, skirt, and gently flowing chapel-length train were edged with this same beautiful imported lace in a scalloped pattern. For her headpiece, she chose a simple fingertip veil with a full crown of tulle roses.

She carried as all white nosegay of white roses, stephanotis, white carnations, and baby's breath. For her something old she wore a gold band that had been her grandmother's. Something new were pearl earrings given to her by the groom, something borrowed was a Belgian lace handkerchief of her mother's and something blue was a garter from her cousin, Joshua and Nicole Mermis.

Bride's Attendants
Linda Gould of Houston attended the bride as Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Kathryn English of San Antonio, cousin of the bride; Julie Everett of Eagle Lake; and Vicki Dublin of San Antonio.

The bridesmaids wore peach-colored gowns of tulle. The groom had a blouson bodice with a natural waistline. The simple, A-line skirts were floor-length. Each attendant carried a nosegay of pink roses, blue iris, white and yellow daisies, carnations, and baby's breath.

The flower girl, Shannon Kay Brunner, niece of the bride, wore a white floor-length dress of tulle. She carried a white basket of spring flowers identical to those of the bridesmaids.

Serving the groom as best man was Don Campbell of San Antonio.

Groomsmen were William Brunner, Eagle Lake, brother of the bride, Lyle Blackwood of Belton, Maryland; and John Lovell of San Antonio.

Ushers were Jim Gould of Houston, David Yeage of Belton, Texas, and John Lovell of San Antonio.

The reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Brunner, 1111 N. Loop West, San Antonio.

The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and the bridesmaids and groomsmen.
