2000 Tour Fayette Power Project July 28

(June 9, 1955)

More than 2,000 persons toured the Fayette Power Project Saturday, July 28 during the second day of dedication activities at the project site east of La Grange. Although tours were scheduled to begin at noon, visitors began lining up before 11 a.m. to wait for the first tour bus to depart from the La Grange High School football stadium parking lot. By 3 p.m. more than 17 Austin Transit System buses were on the project site en route, each carrying about 40 visitors. Tour buses carried passengers past the massive coal stockpile, beneath the conveyor system which carries the coal to the plant's furnaces, onto the dam road, down to the intake canal and then past the multimillion dollar pollution-control devices, electrostatic precipitators.

Visitors later in the day were treated to the arrival and unloading of a 110-car unit coal train which carried some 11,000 tons of low-sulfur coal from the mine.

Friday, July 27, LCRA and Austin, partners in the coal-fired project, dedicated the first two units and named them the Sam K. Seymour Jr. Generating Station in honor of the 94-year veteran LCRA board member from Columbus.

Unit 1 began commercial operation in June; Unit 2 is scheduled to follow in June 1980.
