EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

November Is Nat'l Farm Wife Month

The month of November is designated as National Farm Wife Month. The observance was founded by Farm Wife News magazine in 1973 and is declared as a special month, "a time when farm women are honored for their many deeds."

Although the celebration is only six years old, this recognition of rural women as a full partner in agriculture was long overdue - its spirit extends back to when men and women first began working the land together to produce food for a hungry world.

November is their month - may they enjoy the deserved recognition. Farm Wife News magazine reports that the USDA is undertaking its first thorough profile of farm women and their role in the farm business.

The theory behind the study is that USDA programs may have ignored a huge segment of the population's 23 million farm women, including 161,000 who operate farms by themselves. Earlier this year, Ag Secretary Bob Bergland announced a study of jobs, services and farm program aid women receive from USDA. A phone survey of 6,000 farm women is slated to begin soon.

The "Farm Women's Project," as the study is called, is intended to document the extent of agency neglect affecting farm women or, "reveal that present stereotypes are isolated incidents."

Initial reports indicate that farm women receive fewer loans, and are under-represented on farm panels and in USDA management jobs.

Project leaders encourage farm women to evaluate their experiences by writing to: The Honorable Bob Bergland, Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

7 Transients Spend Night in Jail Wed. Nite

Seven transients and two dogs were placed in the city jail Wednesday evening, but were released Thursday morning and warned by legal officers to keep moving without charges being filed. Chief of Police Buford Ashley and Patrolman Lope Villarreal and Highway Patrolman Joe Garcia hauled in the transients after they were spotted on Farm to Market Road 102 (Postoffice Street) for several hours. In light of the approaching Halloween night activities, officers felt it to the best interest of the transients and local citizens to place them in the jail. The group included five white men, one black man and one white woman and two dogs. They were hitchhiking on FM 102 but had stored all of their belongings under a bridge near the city limits while attempting to get a ride out of town, either by auto, truck or train.
