VFW Holds Impressive Memorial Service Here Sun.

Tribute Paid To Deceased Veterans Of All Wars

Rice Area Memorial Post 8783 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary members sponsored a very impressive memorial service paying tribute to veterans of all wars who made the supreme sacrifice during conflicts or who have deceased since serving in the Armed Forces last Sunday, Nov. 11th Veterans' Day. The service was held in front of the Municipal Building where the Post and Auxiliary last year placed a Memorial Monument honoring those who died in defense of their country.

Several hundred persons gathered for the service which was preceded by a concert by the Eagle Lake Middle School Band under the direction of Calvin Zwernemann.

J. T. (Tommy) Pilkington, a past commander of the local Post and currently State Deputy for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, served as master of ceremonies for the service. He led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, after which the ELMS Band played "America" as the VFW and Auxiliary members stood at attention in formation behind the monument.

The Rev. Father Tom Hanus, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help and Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Churches, gave the opening invocation. Other ministers participating were the Rev. Melburn Sibley, pastor of First Baptist Church, who offered a prayer and the Rev. John Robinson, pastor of The United Methodist Church, who gave the closing benediction.

The master of ceremonies noted that the service was being held to "commemorate our comrades of the United States Armed Forces who have answered the last call." He added, "Wherever the body of a comrade lies there the ground is hallowed. Our presence here is in solemn commemoration of all these men - an expression of our tribute to their devotion to duty, to their courage, and patriotism. By their services on land, on sea and in the air they have made us their debtors - for the flag of our nation still flies over a land of free people."

Guest Speakers

Pilkington introduced as speakers for the service the Honorable Mayor Elmer Struss and the Honorable County Judge Lester J. Cranek.

Mayor Struss urged those present to pause briefly each time they pass the memorial monument in the foyer of the Municipal Building to pay tribute to veterans who made the supreme sacrifice in defense of their country. He noted that the U.S.A. has fought in many wars and there has been killing, dying, suffering and mourning. He added, "This may not be a perfect country, but no one can say that it is not the best country in the world."

The mayor added that while mistakes are made, "right or wrong the United States is our country and it is the best country in the world and we should respect it."

He thanked God that he lived in a country where he could stand up and deliver a message thanking God. "With the help of God, when and if our country needs help to preserve our freedoms, thankfully there will be men and women willing to defend their country and make it possible to continue our freedoms."

Louis J. Balas, commander of the W. Cherry-M. Perry Post 108 of the American Legion, said the Legion members were glad to join in observing November 11th in commemoration of dead comrades-in-arms. He stressed the importance of this nation keeping its defensive and offensive powers strong. "The soldier prays for peace, let them sleep, they have earned their rest." He closed by quoting, "only the dead have seen the end of war."

Judge Cranek told the gathering that the United States is a peace-seeking nation, "and today we are at peace, but we must not forget those who made sacrifices so that we might enjoy this peace and the freedoms in our country."

He urged all to make a solemn promise "to pursue all honorable means for a lasting peace."

"This occasion is being held to pay tribute to those who contributed to the cause of an honorable world peace." He concluded with thoughts on patriotism, urging a continued respect and love for our flag and the country which it represents.

State VFW Deputy Speaks

State Deputy Pilkington had some remarks at the conclusion of the program. He noted that "on this Veterans' Day, we recognize a fundamental truth: people are more important than things. . .On this day we do not pay homage to the weapons our veterans used, we honor both living and dead for defense of our freedoms."

He added: "we are also reminded of a historical fact: the art of warfare begins at the point where the art of diplomacy fails."

The state deputy stressed the importance of a strong armed forces, commenting that the administration and majority of those in Congress have rejected the advice of joint chiefs of staff of the political consequences that pose a threat to this nation's continued existence.

He urged respect for those who continue to serve as well as those who have in the past, adding, "let us hope our national priorities are revised while there is still time. Let us provide those who now stand in defense of our great nation with the tools needed so that they can do their job and let us respect the important role they play in our society and reward them accordingly."

Pilkington concluded by stating, "let us honor those who are serving today and pray they will remain a credible power for peace in an ever-changing, unstable world."

Memorial Wreaths

Memorial wreaths commemorating deceased veterans were placed at the base of the monument by the VFW Post and Auxiliary. Post Commander Jack Listowski and second vice-commander Jim Armstrong placed the wreath for the VFW Post; and President Mrs. Ralph (Bobbie) Johnson and Chaplain Mrs. Jimmy (Wilma) Cash for the Auxiliary.

Honor Roll Called

First Vice-Commander L. J. (Sonny) Spanibel read the Honor Roll of 197 deceased veterans from this area. A complete list of those honored may be found on page 6 of this issue.

The impressive ceremony was concluded with the sounding of "Taps" played by Floyd Spenrath and echoed by Jesus Gonzales, and the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the ELMS Band.

Joining Pat Walker's program last August has been most rewarding and has given me a self-satisfaction of accomplishment. For years, my physician suggested that I lose weight, and I did, but before long I would have regained what I'd lost, a regular yo-yo. When some severe physical problems developed, I made up my mind that I should again make a real effort to weigh less. That's when I began the program with Pat Walker.

Last summer I wore a size 20½ dress! In ten months I have lost 46 pounds, and 64 inches, and am now wearing a size 12.

I highly-recommend Pat Walker's program to you. It involves no strenuous exercise and no crash dieting.

My family is proud of me, as well as my doctor. With this weight loss, I am no longer on any medication.

Come join this delightful program. Your success will not only take off pounds but years, as well as giving you a new outlook on life.

How many times have you read something and wondered how it could be true? Well, that happened to me and the Pat Walker ads.

Finally, at the invitation of a friend, I decided to see if it could happen to me. That was 8 months ago. Now, after losing some of my "unwanted" fat, I not only look better, but feel much better. The friendly and helpful cooperation of the counselors make the program most pleasant. Believe me when I say it really works and it is true.

So thank you Pat Walker for coming to Seguin.

Being an average American eater and one who hates to exercise as you can expect I was overweight and oversized.

My daughter discovered the wonders of Pat Walker. I could not believe the results so I had to find out for myself. I was amazed with the ease and comfort that I was able to lose inches and pounds. No disrobing and it didn't even mess up my hairdo.

I went from a tight 16 to a size 10 and am still losing. I get compliments from others on my new self but best of all from my husband.

You have to experience a complimentary treatment to prove to yourself what I and others have discovered.

Prussic Acid Poisoning In Livestock

[By Leroy H. Hajdik County Extension Agent]

Frost will be hitting Colorado County before long, and this could lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock grazing certain pasture grasses and forages.

Although many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, those causing the highest mortality in livestock when grazed after they have been frozen and wilted are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these.

The most dangerous time as far as the grazing of these plants is concerned is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually takes five to seven days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain.

As far as prussic acid poisoning is concerned, the poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10-15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two to three minutes. Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues. This also causes the blood to appear bright red.

To prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock, I have outlined these steps:

1. Allow plant material affected by frost to dry thoroughly before grazing. This usually requires a week or more of good sunlight.

2. Feed animals hay or a supplement before turning them in on plants that may contain prussic acid. Animals that are not hungry will not be affected as seriously by toxic material since their intake will be limited.

3. Remove all animals from the pasture if one in the herd shows any signs of poisoning.

4. Call a veterinarian immediately if an animal appears to be poisoned. An antidote to treat affected animals is highly efficient if given early. This product is available from veterinarians.

5. Have suspect plant material checked by the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratories at College Station or Amarillo. Local veterinarians will be happy to submit samples for you.

The overall key to preventing prussic acid poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then to keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period has passed.
