Older Texans Fair At Nada May 8th

[By Donella R. Pantel County Extension Agent]

The Colorado County Extension Older Texans Committee has set May 8 as the date for their Annual Colorado County Older Texans Fair at St. Mary's Parish Hall in Nada.

The fair will begin with the recognition of two Outstanding Older Texans over 60 years of age at 10:30 a.m. and Dr. Raymond Thomas, County Health Physician, of Eagle Lake presenting a program on Eating for the Heart of It. Various county agencies with services for older Texans will have exhibit space provided for them upon request by that agency so that our older Texans may learn more about their services. Lunch will be served to all older Texans and the public by the women's organizations of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Older Texans from all of Colorado County are invited to exhibit and/or sell either individually or in an organization of members all over 60 years the handmade, homemade, homebaked, and homegrown items they have made or grown from June 1979 to May 1980, so there are no duplications in past years' items. Ribbons will be awarded to items judged by out-of-county judges.

Nominations Taken

All church, civic, and community organizations plus individuals have the opportunity to nominate a man and/or woman over 60 years old for the Outstanding Older Texan Award. The person will be selected according to their information on:

1. Name, Age, Address, Brief Description of Home and Family Life
2. What volunteer workhave you done to promote the betterment of Older Texans in the church, community, or organization?
3. What is your family heritage or background? (For news media, list children and where they live.)
4. What hobbies or interests do you have? Do you share your hobbies with others?
5. List any special awards or recognition.
6. Other interesting information.

People and groups interested in nominating someone can now get a nomination form from the Colorado County Extension Office, 316 Spring Street in Columbus, Texas 78934.

The public is encouraged to attend this event as a tribute to our Older Texans during May as Older Texan Month. This program is planned by the Colorado County Older Texans Committee in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Colorado County.
