Who's Zat!

High school students from 70 Texas counties have been invited to a one-day Marine Education Symposium Saturday, March 7 at Texas A&M University. The symposium, sponsored by the Texas A&M Sea Grant College Program in cooperation with the Department of Educational Curriculum and Instruction, is intended as a supplement to ongoing secondary science and social studies courses.

Freeman D. Jennings, Sea Grant Director, said the program is designed to "acquaint students and their teachers with the richness, diversity and excitement of current scientific research in the marine sciences, as well as to provide an introduction to some of the more general concerns in marine affairs."

Further information and registration details are available from the Marine Education Office, Department of Educational Curriculum and Instruction, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843 or by calling (713) 845-7969.
