Study Club Auction Items

Dr. George Strathman, above, poses beside a three-cornered walnut chair, circa 1750, with a Shorley Temple doll. The items were donated to the auction by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pustovsky. Below on the antique walnut drop leaf table, donated by Mr. and Mrs. David Wintermann, are two collectors item bottles and a plate, all carrying Norman Rockwell paintings. The bottles were donated by Rice Package Store, and the plate is a gift from Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Smith. The left bottle is a 1960 limited edition featuring the Rockwell "Self portrait." The right bottle is a 1961 limited edition featuring "The Plumbers." At the center is a 1961 limited edition plate. The auction is scheduled October 30 to raise money for support of the David and Eula Wintermann library, which was recently expanded. Prior to the auction, there is the annual volunteer firemen's stew supper, a baked-goods sale, and to keep the children entertained during activities, there will be a spook house and rides.

Alpha Delta Phi holds model meeting

Alpha Delta Phi met in the home of Charlene Rodgers October 4th. Members recited the Opening Ritual and president Mary Ann Wood called the meeting to order.

Sue Causey, vice president, introduced the program for the evening. It was a short play she wrote and directed for the model meeting, called "Little Orphan Annie Twenty Years Later." Cast of members were: Mary Ann Wood as Little Orphan Annie, Jackie Ashby as Daddy Warbucks, Debbie Christ, Vicki Powers, Charlene Rodgers and Marsha Waddell as Annie's friends.

The short play presented to the intended audience, Jennifer Obenhaus, Carol Edwards, Melody Griger and Candy McCarty, told the services and functions Alpha Delta Phi participates in and contributes to. Mary Ann continued with the business of the chapter, asking for officers and committees to give a description of their job as they gave their reports for the rubens.

Vicki Powers reported for Ways and Means that

Alpha Delta Phi would sponsor a Spook House at the Study Club auction and fireman's stew supper October 30th at the Community Center. Marsha Waddell reported the next meeting would be held in the home of Melba Higgins October 18th with Mary Ann Wood presenting the program.

Alpha Delta Phi will be represented in the Fairfest of the Fair contest in Garwood October 16th by Miss Connie Prazak. Alpha Delta Phi will also participate in the Lions Club parade.

The meeting concluded with members reciting the Closing Ritual followed by the mishap. After the meeting Charlene Rodgers and Jacalyn Ashby served a delicious social consisting of potato and ham casserole, marinated salad and chocolate cream pie. Report.

THANK YOU

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all who helped make the Annual St. Roch's Catholic Church picnic such an outstanding success.

Your attendance, participation in the activities and your contributions were responsible for the success of the event.

Thank you again, one and all!

Wendel installs VOE officers

(By Pamela Stovall)
On October 6, the OEA club installed its officers. Mr. Wendel, business teacher, acted as presiding officer and officially installed the officers and members.

The installation consisted of each newly elected officer reciting an oath of office. At the end of the oath a candle was given to each officer to represent unity as shown in the picture above. The members then recited the club pledge in unison. After the installation ceremony Mr. Wendel turned the meeting over to President Leopold for a short business meeting. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were then enjoyed by all. RHS Photo.

F.H.A. holds meeting

(By Lisa Corman)
On Tuesday, October 5, the Rice High School FHA held a meeting. President Mary Lynn Kallina introduced the new 1982-83 FHA officers. Audrey Williams then read the minutes of the last executive meeting. Christina Scape gave the treasurer's report.

The guest speaker, Dr. Pinson, gave his speech on family life. He said to prepare for marriage now. "You shouldn't date anyone which wouldn't satisfy you for a lifetime partner. Everyone should be willing to work at marriage just as they would work at a job." The members then closed with the creed. The meeting was adjourned.

Band council meets

(By Patricia Fields)
On Monday, October 4, the Rice High School Band Council met in the home of head twirler Lisa Corman. The members were served spaghetti, green beans, salad, french bread, and ice cream pie.

The meeting was then called to order by president Karen Rucka. Members discussed T-shirts to wear for homecoming, selected best marchers, and prepared tickets for the raffle at the Garwood Fair. A short talk was given by Mr. Atkins. The meeting was then adjourned.

Cosmetology officers elected

(By Rebecca Morales)
On Monday, September 27, the cosmetology class elects officers. Instructed by Mrs. Florence McShan, met. Twenty-one students attended the meeting.

During the meeting several items of business were discussed. The first item of business was the election of officers.

Nominations were made; votes were cast; and the results are as follows: president, Tracey Soape; vice-president, Ethel Shorter; secretary, Lynn Ishee; reporter, Rebecca Morales; treasurer, Janie Jaramilla; historian, Belinda Casarez; and parliamentarian, Suzanne Fajkus.

It was announced that these new officers will attend a leadership conference at Sharpstown High School on November 6, accompanied by Mrs. McShan.

The members were also visited by Patricia Sealhorn, a Mary Kay consultant, who made the day enjoyable and very educational.

The final item of business was discussing a fund-raising project. It was decided that the cosmetology classes will sell candy from November 1 through November 15th.

The meeting was adjourned by reminding the students and the public to visit the department for all beauty services.

September F.T.A.'er selected Rice welcomes new students

(By Becky Benge)
Kevin Brisco was selected the September Future Teacher of the Month. Other candidates eligible for this honor were the following: Mary Lynn Kallina, Vicki Hernandez, Rachelle Hunt, Becky Benge, Roxanne Ripper, Deborah Kretschmer, Linda Korenek and Julia Rosprim.

Kevin is the president of the F.T.A. This year he has put forth an extra effort to get the club started for the new year. During the month of September Kevin made a poster for the membership drive, attended the executive board meeting held in the library, designed cards for secret pals, gave the September program, attended the officers' leadership workshop in Victoria, and worked on the year-book pages.

Congratulations Kevin!

The Raider Review would like to introduce the Jones family from Altair. The Jones family recently moved to Altair from Jacksonville, Florida.

The first of the Jones family to be interviewed is Tony. Tony is a junior and says that he likes Rice better than the school he was going to in Florida. Tony likes to play basketball and football and hopes to be on the basketball team this year.

The last, but certainly not least, of the Jones family is Allen. Allen is a junior and says he also likes going to Rice very much. Allen's hobbies are swimming, hunting and fishing. He enjoys playing basketball very much, and he too hopes to be on the basketball team.

The main thing that was said about Rice from Tony, Kim and Allen is that they like the people here at Rice very, very much.

The Raider Review welcomes all three of you to Rice and hopes you enjoy your year.

Meet the Raiders

(By Roxanne Ripper)
This week the Raider Review would like to introduce two varsity football players, Roger Meinecke and Frank Bittner.

Wearing the number 75, Roger Meinecke is a member of the senior class. This is his first year on the varsity football team and he plays the position of tackle. When asked what he thought about the team and coaches he replied, "The coaches are working hard to try to find a new technique to improve their strategy." Bittner went on to say that he feels that they can make their remainder of the season a winning one. Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Bittner of Garwood.
