ORDINANCE

An ordinance of the City of Eagle Lake limiting use of city streets by certain trucks; prohibiting parking of trucks on city streets, providing a prima facie evidence rule for unattended or unoccupied vehicles; declaring such vehicles parked in violation of this ordinance to be a nuisance per se; authorizing the removal and impoundment of vehicles parked in violation of this ordinance; providing a penalty for violation thereof; and providing for the publication of the ordinance and its effective date.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Eagle Lake, Texas, that:

SECTION 1. Definitions:

The following words and phrases when used in this ordinance shall for the purpose hereof have the meanings hereinafter ascribed to them:

a. Commercial Vehicle: a truck or other vehicle, including a truck tractor and trailer combination which shall be considered hereunder as a vehicle, which has more than six (6) wheels and is self-propelled and designed or used primarily for the transportation of goods or commodities.

b. City Street: a city street is any street within the corporate limits of the City of Eagle Lake that has been constructed and-or is maintained by the City and which does not have a county, state, or federal marker or designation on it.

c. Empty Vehicle: an empty vehicle is a commercial vehicle that has less than one-fourth (¼) of its property carrying space occupied by goods or commodities.

d. Loaded or Partially Loaded Vehicle: a loaded vehicle is a commercial vehicle that has its property carrying space fully occupied by the goods or commodities it was designed to carry. A partially loaded vehicle has over one-fourth (¼) of its property carrying space occupied by goods or commodities.

SECTION 2. Restrictions on operation of commercial vehicles

a. No person shall operate a loaded or partially loaded commercial vehicle on any city street except for the purpose of delivering or picking up materials or merchandise, or for the purpose of driving to and from commercial repair or service facilities, in which cases such vehicles may be driven on such street for not more than the minimum distance necessary for the purpose.

b. A person may operate a commercial vehicle on city streets to go to and from his or her residence if the vehicle is empty and the vehicle may be driven for not more than the minimum distance necessary.

SECTION 3. Restrictions on parking of commercial vehicles

No person may park or leave standing a commercial vehicle within the limits of any public street or alley within the City of Eagle Lake.

SECTION 4. Prima facie evidence

No person in charge of operating a commercial vehicle and no person in whose name the vehicle is registered shall allow or permit such vehicle to be parked in violation of Section 3 of this Ordinance. The same is hereby declared to be a nuisance per se and the fact that such vehicle is unattended or unoccupied by said person shall be prima facie evidence that the operator thereof and the owner thereof unlawfully and knowingly so parked such vehicle.

SECTION 5. Impoundment

Such vehicle illegally parked in violation of Section 3 of this Ordinance shall be removed or impounded in the same manner as provided for removal of motor vehicles under Section 5.02 of the Texas Abandoned Motor Vehicle Act, Article 6687-8 of V.A.C.S.

Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $25.00 nor more than $200.00.

SECTION 7. Publication

Baylor Choir at First Baptist on Sunday

The Baylor Religious Hour Choir of Baylor University will present a sacred concert at the First Baptist Church of Eagle Lake this Sunday at 10:50 a.m.

The thirty-five voice choir is directed by Bob Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Griffith of Eagle Lake.

The BRH Choir sings weekly at a campus service on Wednesday evenings and presents a limited number of concerts on week-ends and on tour.

Music by the choir is both modern and traditional. Interesting arrangements of familiar music is a keynote of the choir.

The First Baptist Church invites the public to share in this sacred concert time which is offered without charge. Arrangements have been made by the Music Committee of First Baptist Church, Mrs. Clark Powers, chairperson.

Peanut farming less "typical"

With changing economic conditions, peanut production is likely to become less "typical" as "belt-tightening" continues for farmers.

Peanut producers, in striving to realize profits, will identify and adopt new least-cost production systems which will probably include various crop rotations, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cool season pastures

The wet, cool, cloudy weather in this part of Texas has caused many unusual symptoms to appear in oats, wheat, and ryegrass.

Many fields are exhibiting yellow and purple leaf coloration. There are several possibilities that could account for these discolorations, including nitrogen and phosphorous deficiencies, barley yellow dwarf mosaic and-or a physiological condition induced by prolonged periods of cool, cloudy, wet weather. Nitrogen deficiencies are becoming apparent.

These are caused by heavy grazing and the removal of large amounts of high protein forage, coupled with weather conditions which are favorable for leaching in light textured soils and denitrification in heavier soil textures.

Phosphorous uptake is related to the diffusion rate of phosphorous between the soil particles and plant roots. As diffusion rates are proportional to soil temperature it is reasonable to assume that some of the purple coloration being observed in small grains is related to reduced phosphorous diffusion rates due to cold soil temperatures.

Barley yellow dwarf mosaic is a disease that is characterized by rather ambiguous symptoms. These include light green to yellowish and sometimes reddish foliage and stunted growth. Plants with this virus may be easily confused with plants under various nutrient stress conditions.

Barley yellow dwarf is transmitted by insect vectors such as the oat bird-cherry aphid and the greenbug. The symptoms generally appear around field margins and in spots or irregular patterns characteristic of feeding aphids.

The physiological condition related to prolonged periods of cool, cloudy, damp weather is somewhat difficult to explain. It probably is induced by nutrient defiency associated with very low transpiration rates and nearly anaerobic conditions surrounding the root system. Several days of sunny weather should cause these symptoms to disappear.

Basically these same conditions and growth factors are applicable to ryegrass pasture also.

This free Fair to the public is sponsored by the Colorado County Family Living Committee and Extension Homemakers Council. Look for the exciting series of Snack Man in future editions. Anyone wishing to participate is asked to contact the County Extension Service at 732-2530.

County Alert! "Snack-man coming to Colorado County."

Snack-Man — official spokesperson for a new "BE A SUPER SNACKER!" educational program across Texas — is coming to Colorado County.

BE A SUPER SNACKER! is a statewide educational program to provide the Texas public with educational information on snacking that is nutritious, economical and easy, said Donella R. Rantel, Colorado County Extension Agent (Home Economics).

Presented simultaneously throughout the state by county extension agents for home economics, the program will be offered to civic groups, social organizations, youth groups, business and professional groups, homemakers groups and any others interested, the agent said.

As a "kickoff" in many counties a fictitious character, Snack-Man, will be featured in a three-part newspaper series, and radio scripts, "Adventures of Snack-Man."

"The newspaper series is designed to breathe life into the idea of nutritious snacks for people of all ages," the county extension agent said of the program goals.

"Readers of all ages may enjoy a 'good adventure,' and we hope, especially, that parents will find this an exciting opportunity to share a new adventure with their children by reading the series to them or asking the children to read it themselves for the family," she added.

"Main emphasis of the series is nutritious snacking — with a message about its reward, so through the 'adventures,' we will underscore this important issue in the diets of Texans.

"We'll also lay the groundwork for actual eductional programs we'll be conducting throughout the county on how to be a super snacker!" the agent said.

The adventures of Snack-Man
Episode I

Deep in the recesses of outer space, on the planet of Nu Trishon, the Nutrinites struggled to protect their formulas for super strength from the evil Malinite monsters.

But the Malinites invaded Nu Trishom. They found the secret formulas and destroyed all the elements which gave the Nutrinites their super strength.

There was only one way for the Nutrinites to save themselves. They decided to seek help from the planet Earth.

So one space night, a Nutrinite silently launched himself toward Earth — hurling, and spinning, faster and faster. His name was Snack-Man.

Meanwhile, on the planet Earth, in the small town of Tenoma, Danny and Laura Smith were slowly walking home from school. Danny kicked at some rocks along the sidewalk. Laura tried to pretend she didn't know her brother. Laura was taking her time, hoping that one of her school chums would come by. It was a beautiful, warm afternoon.

"Let's go!" Danny said, somewhat impatiently. All he wanted to do was go home and eat. School gave him an appetite.

Suddenly, they were both jolted by a loud boom which seemed to shake the earth beneath them. Laura fell down. Danny dropped his books and held onto the nearest tree.

"What was that?" she asked.

"I don't know," he said, looking worried. "Do you think it was an earthquake?"

"I don't think so," Laura said as she got up and brushed herself off. They started to walk a little faster now, wondering what the noise had been. What could shake the ground like that?

Laura was glad to see their own house and quickly ran to the front door. She nervously got her key out of her pocket and opened it. At that moment she thought she heard a noise coming from the bushes nearby. "I wonder what Mom left us for a snack," Danny said. "I hope there's some ice cream left over from last night's dessert," he said.

Laura realized that she was hungry too and forgot about the noise as she opened the door. Danny raced past her toward the kitchen. Laura stooped down to pick up their cat, Corky, who was lazily stretched out on the door-step. She heard the noise again, and Corky's ears suddenly became stiff as he turned his head in the direction of the sound.

Laura turned around, but she saw nothing. It must have been the wind, she thought, but felt uneasy as she quickly went in the house, leaving the door open behind her. If she had looked just one moment later, she would have seen a strange-looking creature's head emerging from the bushes near the driveway of their house.

Danny was coming back out of the kitchen holding a big carrot, which had been scraped clean.

"There's no more ice cream, but Mom left us some of these and some bananas," he said. He walked over to the living room window and suddenly his eyes bulged wider and his mouth dropped open. "What's wrong with you?" Laura asked.

"Look! What is that thing?" Danny pointed his finger in the direction of the path leading up to their door. Laura ran over to the window and gasped. "Oh, my gosh!"

A sinister creature was moving toward the house in the direction of the door. It was sliding on some kind of flying disk that looked like a trash can lid. Danny ran to close the door on the creature, but didn't make it in time.

"Look out, Dan!" cried Laura as she heard the ugly thing hissing at her brother who was ready to swing his fist at it.

The creature hissed louder as Laura came to the door to help.
