JAPAN'S FLOWER FESTIVAL

In Japan, April 8 is a very special religious holiday. It is the birthday of Buddha, the person who started one of the world's most important religions.

Buddhists believe that when Buddha was born, flower petals fell from the sky. On his birthday, people decorate their homes and temples with thousands of flowers. The celebration is called Hana Matsuri, and is something like our Christmas.

Find Your Way... through the flower maze.

Use the News

Many things made in Japan are sold in the United States. Look in today's newspaper for things you think were made in Japan. Look for names like Sanyo, Mitsubishi, Nikkon, Kawasaki, Toshiba, and Toyota.

Flip-flopped Flowers

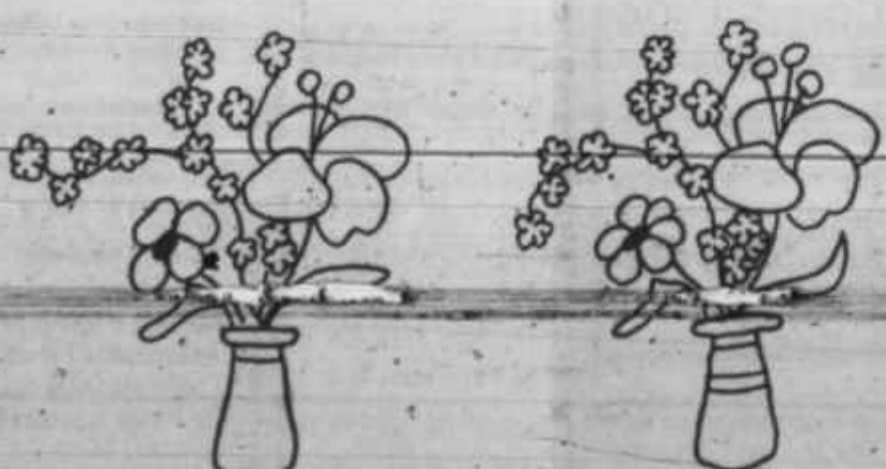

Unscramble these words for the names of some flowers.

YISAD	NUTPEAI
SORE	TUBCREPTU
LITPU	TRAINOCAN

ANSWER: Daisy, rose, tulip, pelunia, buttercup, carnation.

Flower Power

There are six differences between these two flower arrangements. Can you find them all?

After you find the differences, color the pictures.
