Fired up and ready!

By: Linda Korenek
It's Friday night and the Raider Stadium is filled with restless fans. The Rice Raiders anxiously approach the field to kick off a new season. There are six young ladies centered on the field. They are the Rice High School varsity cheerleaders. The six young ladies are: co-head captains Bertie Garcia and Rachelle Hunt, Janice Hyek, Sandra Korenek, Beverly Rucka and Carol Rhodes. These young ladies have been working hard this year and have won numerous awards. The cheerleaders will be cheering the Rice Raiders to victory each Friday night. Come on out, with the cheerleaders and cheer the team on to a successful season.

Who's Zat

By: Rachelle Hunt
Wouldn't this charming smile make any little girl's heart throb? Posing for a picture would probably be the only time this little character would not be doing something mischievous. This bright-eyed "munchkin" couldn't fool many of the sharp students of Rice High, although a few wrong guesses were made. Lori Hoffman thought this affable face belonged to Anthony Williams. Among those misled by the uncanny resemblance to Coby Shorter, III were Mrs. Holden, Renae Dierschke, Coach Faldyn, and John Adkins. However, the majority of those asked, including Mary Hernandez, Rhonda Cotton, Pecos Cobe and Vantrese Tillman all knew that this adorable youngster was none other than Derrick Williams. Derrick is president of the junior class, Student Council representative, and a member of the Raider Band. He went to college at Sam Houston State and University of Houston, was a Truant Officer at El Campo for seventeen years, taught in Columbus for one year, where he taught Biology, Chemistry, Science and Special Education. For the last two years he was working in industry and because he missed the children decided to get back to teaching. Mr. Wilmes is originally from Columbus. His wife teaches in Columbus and his son goes to Texas A&M University. His favorite hobby is raising cattle, which he enjoys very much.

Hereeee's Terry

By: Vicky Hernandez
A great new attraction at Rice High School is a classy, sophisticated, and out-going junior. This fun-loving former student of Columbus High is Teresa Wornat, daughter of Marvin and Betty Wornat. Her hobbies include going to the beach, riding bikes and collecting jewelry. Her favorite subject in school is VOE, and her favorite teacher is Mrs. Holden, the English III teacher. She especially admires the teaching system and enjoys all the friendly people at Rice. When asked what she liked least about Rice, she answered that she did not like the long lunch lines or the hustle and bustle in the halls. On behalf of the Annual Staff and the Rice High School student body, we would like to welcome Terry to Rice and wish her a successful school year.

Friday, September 9: Lasagna, Buttered Corn, Brussel Sprouts, Sugar Cookies, Hot Rolls.	Thursday, September 15: Fried Chicken, Mashed Potatoes/Gravy, Collard Greens, Grape Jelly, Hot Biscuits.
Saturday, September 10: Beef/Chesse Tacos, Pinto Beans, Dill Pickles, Lunchroom Doughnuts.	Friday, September 16: Frito Pie, Baked Beans, Celery/Carrot Sticks, Pineapple Tid Bits, Corn Meal Yeast Rolls.

Go Raiders!
Wilmes joins staff

A new face is among the many staff members at Rice High School, Fredrick Wilmes. Mr. Wilmes teaches the Special Education class. He went to college at Sam Houston State and University of Houston, was a Truant Officer at El Campo for seventeen years, taught in Columbus for one year, where he taught Biology, Chemistry, Science and Special Education. For the last two years he was working in industry and because he missed the children decided to get back to teaching. Mr. Wilmes is originally from Columbus. Raider Review

Look what's in store for Rice

By: Cathy Lanyon
If there ever was an exciting year in store for the fans, it would have to be this year. The varsity team, directed under the stern coaching of Clifton Darden, has been toughened up in the blazing sun, exercising their winning intuition, to produce outstanding statistics and a high rank in the district. But are they good? Although the team has lost both height and power, they have compensated with speed and agility. More so this year than last. In addition, the team is concentrating on the psychological aspects instead of the competitive physical aspects. The wary eyes of the coaches have watched them critically and have spoken with positive reviews on the overall performances. The leadership is there, and the rising spirit of teamwork swells with each practice session. Two of the four team captains have been recognized this week. They were voted by their fellow teammates on the basis of leadership, spirit, persistence, and overall performance. Jeff Argo and Mel Pratt are such leaders. Jeff Argo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verlin Argo. He plays the position of linebacker and wears number 54. Mel Pratt is the son of Robert Pratt. His jersey number is 12 and designates him as the quarterback. These two outstanding young men will lead the spirit in the team and help them along. You will want to come and see them in action. Blue fever is rising.
