Four wrong guesses best in this week's football contest

There were either a lot of upsets or the entrants simply made bad picks in the football games listed last week in The Headlight weekly football contest.

First and second place this week go to Andrew the Rice game was zero, Harbich won the $10 prize by guessing 50 points would be scored, while Axel won the $5 with a guess of 56 points. An after-game prognosticator might have said those should have been good guesses, since each team had at least four opportunities to score. Brett Ward also missed four games, guessing 62 points in the tie-breaker.

Six readers missed five games. They (and their tie-breaker guess) are: Jim Kutzer, 26; Mrs. Billy Salazar, 34; Jacalyn Ashby, 35; Jeff Psenik, 40; Robert Griffith, 47; and Darlene M. Stancik, 48.

One of the major stumbling blocks was the District opener leaves questions

The ball appears to be suspended in mid-air, but this Hempstead fumble was soon covered by the Rice Raider defense.

Last Week's Results: Waller 30 at Bellville 30; Rice 0 at Hempstead 0; Sealy 20 at La Grange 35; Brookshire-Royal 30 at Columbus 12.

Friday Night's Schedule: Bellville at Brookshire-Royal; Columbus at Sealy; La Grange at Rice, and Hempstead at Waller.

4th down with only 2 yards to go on the Raider 25; on the Raider 6 yard line, Hemphstead had the ball with a fourth and goal situation but was not able to move the ball; Hemphstead also failed in a field goal attempt. Late in the fourth quarter, Hemphstead also got to the Raider 31, but the Rice defense continued to hold, turning back a 4th and one attempt.

On defense, Michael Davis, Cleve Scott, Rodney Parker and Thomas were in on 10 or more tackles. Davis and Scott led the team for the season in tackles with 36 each; Charles Tillman follows with 25; Doug Baumgarten and Thomas each have 24, while Jeff Argo has 23.

Davis leads the team for the season with 274 yards rushing, and in the last two games has rushed for more than 100 yards both times. Pratt is second on the season with 200 yards rushing, while Thomas has 149 and Baker has 145.

In the Hempstead game, Pratt's passing percentage fell dramatically, connecting on 3 out of 17. He led the Raiders on its 44 plays during the game, compared to Hempstead's 66 plays.
