Stay alert and stay clear—

Avoid Contact With Power Lines

Think twice about your clearance overhead—and check it out carefully—anytime you're operating high-rise equipment around electric lines.

Cranes, drilling rigs, cotton module builders, hay balers and other big equipment become dangerous conductors of electricity if they contact power lines. Any contact could result in serious burns (or even death) for the operator and others nearby.

Although electricity performs valuable services for us every day, it must always be treated with caution—especially if you're working with equipment tall enough to tangle with electrical wires.

Stay alert—and stay clear of power lines!

Little League barbecue, games set

Nine games have been scheduled for little league baseball play this Saturday, May 5. The action begins at 8:30 a.m. and will not conclude until 10:30 that evening. The day will include opening game ceremonies, a fund-raising barbecue and guest speaker Balor Moore.

Moore, 33, has spent 11 years in the major leagues. Shortly after his high school graduation, he was the number one draft choice with the Montreal Expos and stayed with them until 1975, and then was traded to the California Angels. Moore played with the Angels two years.

Moore spent 1978-81 playing for the Toronto Blue Jays and the Milwaukee Brewers, respectively. Moore, a native of Smithville, Texas will host a pitching clinic.

The barbecue is set for 5 p.m. The menu will consist of beef, rice salad, beans, and ice tea. Soft drinks also will be sold. Little leaguers are asked to contact their coaches for tickets. Gary Glaiser and Bruce Hicks will barbecue the meet and cook the beans.

Donors include Powers Brother's Farms, calf; Jack and Elaine Dromgoole, calf; Wiese Brother's Farms, calf; Melvin and Rita Sunderman, calf; and cash contributors: V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliary, Catholic Youth Organization, Arthur Anderson and Gifford Hill.

Other donators include M & S Distributing, party packs; Mrs. Baird's, bread; American Rice Growers, rice; Mrs. Broesche, rice salad; Dulany Funeral Home, tents, and David Wintermann, lawn mower.

"We need town support so this can be the only little league fund drive for the year," according to Jim Wiese, little league president. Adult civic groups, merchants and adult volunteers in town are helping to sell tickets for the festivities.

Tickets for the barbecue are $4.50 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 and under and can be purchased from the V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliary, Rotary Club, Lions Club, Alpha Delta Phi, Xi Pi Psi, Johnny's Sport Shop, Miller Grocery and S & W Auto Supply.

Little league is a self-supporting organization and has to raise its own money, with the exception of the $2,000 donated from the United Way to help pay for the ball field facility and for operating expenses.

The following is the schedule for May 5, opening day games.

•8:30-9:45 a.m., Mets vs. Rangers.
•10:00-11:30 a.m., Cubs vs. Dodgers.
•11:45-12:45 p.m., Tigers vs. Cowpokes.

All players are asked to be in uniform at opening ceremonies at 6:30 p.m. At that time, players will be introduced.

Davis, Jarvis named top Rice athletes

Rice High School seniors Tracey Davis and Delbert Jarvis were named the 1983-84 athletes of the year Monday night at the annual school athletic banquet.

The crowded Commons area enjoyed a catered barbecue meal, and then honored those young men and women who participated in this year's athletic program.

Athletic Director Clifton Darden, master of ceremonies, introduced the coaching staff and their wives, delivered remarks on the successes of the past year, and about the future of athletics in high school.

Jeff Argo opened the banquet with welcoming remarks; Mark Munoz led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Lisa Corman gave the invocation. Sandra Korenek, Janice Hyek and Rachelle Hunt helped present awards to the athletes, and Shawn Scovel introduced Speaker Scott Appleton. Tracey Davis presented the closing thanks. The Outriders sponsored the banquet.

Referring to the school district's athletic program as being made of thoroughbreds, Darden said "I can't say enough about these people."

Special recognition, and a standing ovation, was given to Jack Grammer, who closed his basketball coaching career this year and will spend full time in the classroom.

The athletes of the year earned their honors by their outstanding participation in their sports. Davis is a state track qualifier and member of the district champion 400, 800, 1,600 meter relay, and long jump. She was named to the all district basketball team, and a member of the varsity basketball and track teams.

Jarvis was named most valuable basketball player in the district as a member of the varsity basketball team. He also was a football captain as member of the varsity football team.

Their names will be added to the plaque honoring the school's athletes of the year. Other 1983-84 Rice sports participants will be published next week.

In Darden's remarks about the future of athletics, he called on parents to pay attention to suggestions being made about the athletic system in Texas. "If we desire to keep athletics like we know it now," he said, "we should make our state officials. Let's not be dictated to by H. Ross Perot...a self-made man I have a lot of respect for...but I don't think he knows our educational system. I would prefer change be left to professionals in education."

"We're concerned with the educational development of our boys and girls through athletics," Darden said. The goal, he added, is to have the student athlete become a more effective student and member of society."

Speaker Scott Appleton, a representative of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, delivered a strong testimonial for his faith in God, and what led him to his present beliefs. He was a star high school and college football player, and, he said, he let that be his guide, rather than God. He urged the young Rice athletes not to let athletics be the center of their life.

Athletic director Clifton Darden presented Athlete of the Year honors to Tracey DAvis and Delbert Jarvis.

Mark Faldyn will be the coach. The team is for players from 13 to 15 years old.

1/4 paper, aluminum and iron recycled

Despite the growing popularity of recycling in many countries, International Wildlife magazine reports that only about one-fourth of all paper, aluminum, iron and steel is recycled. A report from Worldwatch Institute says that in 1981 people in the United States threw away more aluminum in the form of beverage containers than all the aluminum produced in Africa.

Chamber benefit tickets available

Tickets to the Eagle Lake Chamber of Commerce's benefit barbecue to be held here on Memorial Day, Monday, May 28 are now on sale at all member stores. Citizens of the area are reminded that tickets must be purchased in advance and that no tickets will be sold at the site of the barbecue, the picnic grounds of the Eagle Lake Recreation Center, on May 28.

The chamber office has mailed tickets to members with the request that the tickets be sold or returned to the chamber office no later than May 21. Tickets not returned by that date will be assumed to be sold and members will be billed for unpaid and unreturned tickets.

Larry Dulany, president of the chamber of commerce, notes that the chamber's 1964 budget calls for income of $1000 in addition to the regular dues payments in order that the organization may maintain a full-time office and carry out projects for the betterment of the community.

Barbecued chicken and the trimmings will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Recreation Center. You can dine in the pretty picnic area or there will be plates to go in a fast curb service line on Partridge Lane on the east side of the picnic area. Tea will be provided for those dining in the picnic area.

Members of the chamber will do the barbecueing and preparation and serving of the menu items in order to make the greatest profit possible.

After May 21, tickets will be available only at the First National Bank, Jo Ann's, Wilcox Minimax and the chamber office in the Laker Printing offices at 123 North McCarty. Businesses which received tickets are requested to call 234-2760 for additional tickets or more information.

Dulany asks for the cooperation of the membership and of the general public in making this a successful project, both socially and financially. He also noted that Memorial Day is an official holiday in this community but no memorial program is planned this year in deference to the VFW's annual Memorial Program to be held on Veterans Day, Sunday, November 11.

The chamber has a limited supply of miniature flags which will be distributed free of charge at the May 28 barbecue to persons who would like to decorate graves of their loved ones with a flag on this Memorial Day holiday.

Shorter vying for state FFA head

The Area III Association of Future Farmers of America held its annual convention at Sealy High School Friday, May 4. Coby Shorter, III, serving as president of the 10,000 member association, called the convention to order.

The purpose of the convention was to select a member to represent the area in the state president election at the state convention in July at Lubbock, as well as select area officers for 1984-85, elect area talent team and sweetheart winners and approve award and degree recipients to advance to the state degree check at Dallas in June.

Selected as the Area III's nominee for state FFA president was Coby Shorter, III. Coby is the 17 year old son of Rev. and Mrs. Coby Shorter, Jr. of Eagle Lake. He has spent the past year serving the area association as president.

This is the first time in Rice High School history that a local FFA member has served as area president and is certainly the first time that a Rice High School student has had the opportunity to serve as a state officer.

Coby Shorter III is a state FFA presidential nominee.
