Rice future homemakers partake in National Vocational Education week

The Rice Future Homemakers of America chapter — 100 members strong — joined the other vocational clubs to celebrate their achievements during the week of February 10-16. On Monday, FHA/HERO (Home Economics Related Occupations) members were identified by name tags. There was a cookie-bake held after school Tuesday to prepare for Thursday's Teacher Appreciation Day. Wednesday, all members wore the colors of the organization, red and white. Thursday evening, members and their guests will meet in the commons to hear information on child abuse and to enjoy refreshments and games. Special guests at the meeting will be the Area III president, Camille Hunt, and other members from Columbus. Local Encounter Award recipients also will be recognized. The Future Homemakers of America and its 324,725 members this year also will celebrate its 40th birthday anniversary. The Rice chapter is proud to be associated with this vocational club. Like all vocational organizations, FHA/HERO emphasizes individual personal improvement, leadership opportunities and growth, and career preparation.
