Hurricane Awareness Week!

Hurricane Tracking Map

Save this map to track storms. Hurricane eye positions are given by latitude (for example 13.6 degrees North) and longitude (for example 102.3 degrees West) to the nearest one-tenth of one degree. When you receive an advisory, mark the eye position and the time on the chart. Since this does not indicate the true possible impact of the hurricane, center a dime on you mark and draw a circle around it. This shows you the area that can be affected by a hurricane approximately 150 miles in diameter. The circumference of a quarter can be used to indicate a storm approximately 200 miles in diameter. Because hurricanes change direction very quickly, you should concentrate more on where it could go than on where it has been.
