Tennis Tournament brings 75 for long, tough competition

Players from Deer Park, Columbus and Sealy earned top honors this past weekend in the inaugural Open Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Eagle Lake Tennis Association. More than 75 players from Eagle Lake and surrounding counties participated in matches played on the courts at the recreation center, according to tournament director Dusty Loewe.

The level of competition was tougher than expected, Loewe added, illustrated by the length of the games. Adult matches were held Saturday and Sunday, with the final major match completed at 1:30 a.m. Monday. The consolation match in the mixed doubles division was held Monday. Rain delays also lengthened play.

Junior events were played Thursday and Friday with youngsters from Bellville, Wharton and Columbus winning top spots.

The association was very pleased with the success of the tournament, Loewe said. With many players suggesting more events be held, the association is planning fall and spring tournaments as warm-ups to what will become their major event in the summer.

The women's singles event was one of the many exciting matches, featuring a senior at Sealy High School beating the tennis coach from Weimar High School. Sharon Stolarzki won 6-3, 6-2 over Doris Hatterman. Consolation winner was Joyce Gant of Weimar.

The Men's "A" singles winner was Will Rau of Deer Park, who defeated Kenneth Hoelscher of Columbus 6-1, 6-3. To get to the finals, Rau battled through a three-game set with tournament director Loewe. Rau won 7-5, 6-7, 6-1. Henry Rameris of Wharton was consolation winner.

In the Men's "B" singles, James Ludecke of Columbus beat Agapito Bernal of Wharton, while Sammy Castro of Eagle Lake took the consolation.

It was late Sunday when tennis tournament director Dusty Loewe presented trophies for the inaugural Eagle Lake Tennis Association open tournament. At left is Kenneth Hoelscher, second, and center is Will Rau, first place, in the men's "A" division.

Another exciting match that Loewe pointed out featured Rau and Hoelscher who teamed up in the men's doubles event to over power Bud Wyatt and Walker Conery of Katy, players from the Nottingham Country Club. The team of Frank Cash and Scott Kleiman of Columbus was consolation winner.

Other winners were: Women's Doubles: 1) Beverly Baum and Lynda Anderson, Eagle Lake. 2) Doris Hatterman and Joyce Gant, Weimar. Consolation, Lisa Loewe and Gaye Hawkins, Calvert.

Mixed Doubles: 1) James and Jane Ludecke, Columbus. 2) Henry and Gaye Hawkins, Calvert. Consolation, Beverly Baum and Charles Abel, Eagle Lake.

18-and-Under Boys Doubles: 1) Wayne Pfeiffer and Scott Westring, Bellville. 2) William Gonzales and Charlie Sosa, Eagle Lake. Consolation, Norman Breiman and Rafael Lopez, Eagle Lake.

16-and-Under Girls Singles: 1) Melissa Kendrick, Columbus. 2)

Carrie Munson, Wharton. Consolation, Danette Pagel, Eagle Lake.

14-and-Under Boys Doubles: 1) Eric Kocian and Robb Bailey, Wharton. 2) Will Heffley and Ryan Schobel, Columbus. Consolation, Daryl Anderson and Patrick Powers, Eagle Lake.

14-and-Under Boys Singles: 1) Eric Kocian, Wharton. 2) Robb Bailey, Wharton. Consolation, Daryl Anderson, Eagle Lake.

Loewe said there are several people to be thanked for making the tournament a success. Dr. Raymond Thomas and Joe and Tom Reed for the use of their courts; Lake Motors for donating soft drinks for sale at the tournament concessions, and members of the city tennis association who filled in at various times during the tournament.

The association netted several hundred dollars from the event, and has been financing court improvements with membership fees and recreation center funding.

Streaks win A's tourney

The Men's A's softball team, coached by Mike Morales of Eagle Lake sponsored a tournament recently that was won by the Silver Streaks, an out of town team.

Two Silver Streak players from Lake Charles, La., won honors of golden glove outfield and most valuable player. Alton Dalley Jr., third baseman for the second place Magnums of Wharton, won the infield golden glove award.

Third place was won by the Gamblers of Eagle Lake.

coached by Billy Teague. Fourth went to the Lagnats of Eagle Lake, coached by Ben Anderson. The A's expressed their thanks to the 12 teams that participated, the people who watched and all those who helped umpire and clean up.

Little leaguers 1-1 in Columbus

In Area III regular boys District 13 Little League baseball action played on the Little League field in Columbus last week, La Grange was the eventual winner, defeating Eagle Lake's AB-Stars, 12-6. The Eagle Lake team won its opening game on Tuesday by beating Twin Cities 9-3. Other opening-round games saw Twin City beat Weimar 9-6 and La Grange top Schulenburg, 2-1. Columbus like Eagle Lake drew an opening-round bye, but fell to eventual winner La Grange 2-0.
