Crime Stopper donations

John Brasher, assistant cashier at the First National Bank, and treasurer of the newly organized Crime Stoppers program in Eagle Lake, makes another deposit of a donation. He said Tuesday that $500 has been donated toward the group's goal of $2,000 necessary to start the program. At left is teller Sharon Guthman. Brasher said that donations can be made to any teller at the bank, and that if those who don't think they really can afford to give a large donation, would consider giving just $5, the goal would be reached quickly. The next crime could happen to them or someone in their family, he said, so $5 may be an inexpensive donation toward future protection, especially if it leads to the return of stolen property or the arrest of the criminal. The organization still has not selected a board of directors at large. If people are interested in serving they should contact chairman John Perry of Coastal Contracting, vice chairman Mike Duarte or Brasher.

Eagle Lake area to begin receiving new telephone books

Delivery of the 1985 Eagle Lake telephone directory starts August 5, according to Paul Johnson, community relations manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone. Johnson said 3,850 directories will be delivered to area residents. Delivery will be completed August 12. Each residential customer will receive one directory. For additional copies, customers can call their Southwestern Bell Telephone business office. Johnson requested that customers not dial right away. "If your friend across town gets his directory before you receive yours, you'll probably get one within a few days." This year's 22 white pages and 44 yellow pages make up the Eagle Lake telephone directory. There are 3,191 white pages listings. Emergency numbers are listed on the inside front cover of the new directories. In the "Customer Guide" at the front of the directory, customers will find tips on how to save money on their phone service. Also included is a map illustrating long distance service areas within Texas.

News from Pink Ladies

Pink Ladies need recipes
A month ago a notice was placed in the Headlight asking for old and new recipes by the Eagle Lake Community Hospital Auxiliary to be put in a Sequelcentennial cookbook. A number of recipes were received but not enough. To those who responded, the auxiliary is deeply grateful but more are needed, so please get those recipes in. Send or hand your recipes to: Mrs. Charles Spalinger, P.O. Box 308, Mrs. Howard Johnson, 701 Partridge Lane, or Mrs. Fred R. Franks, P.O. Box 998, Eagle Lake, Texas 77434. A note of interest also is that the auxiliary has three new members, Mrs. Wilma Cash, Mrs. Iva Ann Willis and Mrs. Eunice Duty and too, Miss Betty Hoover recently received a 500 hour pin.

Area horse program to focus on stallions, economics

This year's South Central Texas Mare-Foil Clinic will focus on stallions and the economics of the horse industry. Leading off the clinic program will be a discussion on "Economics of the Horse Industry" by Travis Booker with the Brenham National Bank and Sam Davis, a certified life underwriter. This discussion will deal with financing, taxes, insurance and related topics. A "stallion review" will follow, with a host of Washington County horse breeders displaying and talking about their studs. The afternoon portion of the program will be a discussion and demonstration on merchantizing horses. Dr. Leon Scrutcher, a Brenham veterinarian, and Jack Benson with Stallions Unlimited of Brenham will handle this session. These invites all horse owners and breeders throughout the area to attend the 1985 South Central Texas Mare-Foil Clinic. The Washington County Horse Committee, a part of the County Program Building Committee, is chaired by Richard O'Malley of Brenham.

Pilkington again heads CF drive

Helen Pilkington again has been appointed campaign chairman in this area for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's Texas Gulf Coast Chapter. In announcing the annual fund drive, she explained several facts about Cystic Fibrosis. It is an inherited disease and is the number one genetic killer of children. The disease affects the lungs and digestive systems. The lungs become clogged with extremely thick mucus that affects breathing. The pancreas and other digestive organs are prevented from getting the food value, forcing patients to take enzymes with meals to help absorb food's full value. "With your support, the CF foundation is able to continue its work toward finding the means for the prevention, control and effective treatment of Cystic Fibrosis," Mrs. Pilkington said. Research statistics are encouraging.

Landscaping tips offered
Texas summers are usually hot and dry, and that means homeowners must give careful attention to watering their yards and gardens. Following are some tips on getting the most from irrigation water so as to keep plants and lawns healthy while keeping costs down.
1. Practice slow, deep watering to allow roots to penetrate deeper so that plants become more stress resistant.
2. Soaker hoses and drip irrigation systems work well on trees and shrubs. It's more efficient to water at night or early in the morning because evaporation is less. However, night-time watering can promote more disease problems.
3. Too much water can be as detrimental or even worse than not enough. The rate at which water is applied should be more rapid than the rate at which the soil can absorb it. Never fertilize landscape plants when soil is dry. It's best to water the area one day, apply fertilizer the next day, and then water again. Fertilizer will do no good unless it is dissolved and moved down into the soil.
4. Shrubs and trees near foundations, under eaves or on southern and western exposures need frequent watering because they often get less benefit from rainfall and have to deal with heat reflected from walls.
5. Plants on mounds or slopes suffer from drought stress more easily than those on level areas, so these require more frequent watering.
6. Use an organic mulch of pine bark, chopped straw, hay or similar material to reduce irrigation needs.
7. Treat water as a valuable resource. Use it to water plants when needed but do not waste water. Although considered a renewable resource, good water supplies are becoming scarce in Texas.
