How To Size Up Your Air Conditioning Needs

Maybe you're buying central air conditioning for a new house, or replacing the system in your present home. Either way, it's a sizable investment, so make sure the unit you choose has the correct cooling capacity for your house.

The cooling capacity of an air conditioner is measured in BTUs. If the capacity is right for your home, you'll save money on operating costs—and stay more comfortable too.

A unit with too large a capacity wastes energy and won't run long enough in each cycle to remove excess moisture from the air. One with too small a capacity will run too long and will not cool your home efficiently. You can avoid both problems by asking your dealer to size your unit correctly.

For further savings on energy bills, select an air conditioner with an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) or SEER of 6 or above. The Energy Guide tag attached to each unit tells you its efficiency rating number. The higher the number, the more efficiently the air conditioner operates, giving you more cool air for every dollar's worth of electricity you buy to operate it.

Both sizing and the efficiency rating are important factors to keep in mind when you're deciding on new air conditioning. Shop carefully—and get the model best suited to your home energy needs.

Colorado County ranks second in rice production

Producers in Colorado County placed second in Texas rice production during 1984, harvesting 238 million cwt. or 12 percent of the state's total crop.

According to figures released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, yield for the county averaged 5,400 pounds from 44,000 acres. Nationally, Texas ranked fourth in rice production during 1984 with a total of 20.16 million cwt. "Producers in Colorado County made up for the loss of the outstanding contribution they made to this national ranking," state statistician Dennis Findley reported.

Rice county estimates are published in the "1984 Texas Field Crop Statistics." Copies of the bulletin can be obtained by writing to the Information Section, Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, P.O. Box 70, Austin, Texas 78767.

County law enforcement group met

The Colorado County Law Enforcement Association held their regular meeting in Weimar. The president, Joey Targac, called the meeting to order at 7 p.m. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as read. Under old business it was announced that the Colorado County team won first place in the baseball tournament held in Austin County.

Under new business, election of officers for the 1985-86 year was held. New officers will be Howard Chollet, president; Donald Roberts, vice president; Mary Ordner, secretary-treasurer; Ed Hanzaika, Ben Johnson, Donnie Thompson and Joe Dusek, board of directors.

The outgoing president, Joey Targac, thanked everyone for all the hard work and cooperation given him during the past year.

Supper was served by the wives of the Weimar Police Department officers. After supper a seminar on counterfeit money was given by Larry Enmon of Sugar Land. Larry is a secret service man attached to the Houston office. He told the group that the Secret Service was formed in 1901. It has two main functions, protective and investigative. They protect the president, vice president and other high ranking officials of our government and all foreign government officials visiting in the U.S. They investigate forgery of currency, checks, stamps and credit cards.

He explained to the group the difference between real and counterfeit money. The things to check are the printing, the fibers in the paper and the seal. Anyone handling money,

PAUL REVERE THE DENTIST

How about a little dental trivia? History records Paul Revere as the man who made the important ride on the night of April 18, 1776, as well as being a skilled silversmith. But the history books never mention the fact that Paul Revere was a practicing dentist. A student of John Baker, the first English dentist to come to America, Paul not only carved false teeth from ivory but concocted a dentifrice that contained abrasive substance and various mixtures such as cuttlebone, brown-sugar candy, saltpeter and gunpowder, butter and bread crumbs. We don't know if it sold too well.

How far back does the use of nitrous oxide (laughing gas) go in the annals of dentistry? In 1804, Dr. Horace Wells, an American dentist, demonstrated the properties of nitrous oxide by using it on himself while having his own tooth extracted.

How much dental care is needed today? It has been estimated that if every dentist spent 24 hours a day, every day of the year, just filling cavities, there would still be one billion cavities left unfilled in the United States.
