Chisum Lee Cooke turns five

Chisum Lee Cooke, son of Sharon and Lee Cooke, celebrated his fifth birthday on Saturday, January 25 at the home of his grandparents, Ann and Jerry Zbranek in Garwood.

Celebrating with Chisum were his parents, Sharon and Lee Cooke of Friendswood; grandparents, Ann and Jerry Zbranek and great grandmother, Mrs. Frank Zbranek, all of Garwood; Uncle, Jim Zbranek of Houston; Barbara and Al Zbranek and Lynna of East Bernard; Aunt Nina and Uncle John Conway of Wimberly and Mrs. Robert Vonderau of El Campo.

Special young guests were Chisum's sister, Cheri Lee; his cousin, Christopher Lee Conway, and friends, Robert Carl Vonderau, and friends, Robert Carl Vonderau.

Chisum was presented with a new bicycle and a new baseball bat. The boys were given a special gift of a new bicycle and a new baseball bat. The boys were given a special gift of a new bicycle and a new baseball bat.

Two boys stood apart from the rest, whispering. Finally, they announced to the guys that they could balance even further than the rest of them, and challenged them to a contest with the loser doing K.P. for the night. When each of the boys had done his best, these two boys each stepped on the rail and reached out their hand to the other. With one on the left rail and one on the right, linked by outstretched hands, they walked further than all the other boys combined.

When we reach out our hands to join with others who are like-minded, there is little which cannot be done. When we reach up to join hands with God, there is nothing which we cannot do.

I am a capable business woman who enjoys public service; is financially conservative; is capable in supervisory responsibilities and whose roots in Colorado County are generations deep.

Diocesan Council of Catholic Women met at Frydek

The Diocesan Council of Catholic Women held their regular meeting (which is held every third month) at Frydek on January 21.

The ladies at Frydek served coffee and kolaches as the guests registered.

The meeting opened at 10 a.m. with president, Odell Streider, presiding. Answering roll call were 108 ladies and five priests from the Brehmham Deanery.

Louise Hajovsky gave a report on the convention that is to be held at Ramada Inn on April 6, 7 and 8. The Brehmham Deanery is the host deanery this year. She gave reports on room rates, the banquet, entertainment and door prizes. Each parish in the Brehmham Deanery is asked to carry out a certain function of the convention.

Eagle Lake has chosen to furnish the bags which the ladies can use as a tote bag to carry their convention reports. Wallis is the parish that will give the convention report at the next meeting. The theme of the convention is "One Mind, One Heart, One Spirit."

Martha Mock of Frydek reminded the ladies there will be a retreat at the Holy Name Retreat in Houston on March 6. Cost will be $10 and time is 9:30 to 2:30.

A program on "Right to Life" was given by two ladies from Sealy.

Louise Hajovsky talked on her trips to the national convention in Florida. She said it was a very

Heritage House News

Monday afternoon, the day was enjoyed with a social hour hosted by Maude Schomp and Helen Lerch, volunteers at Heritage House. The residents enjoyed socializing, playing Parcheesi and having refreshments of cookies and punch.

Heritage House residents and employees had a fine time with a pie eating contest last Tuesday afternoon. A large assortment of pies was consumed by the residents and employees. The winners for this event were: first, Louise Norman, sponsoring Ray Harper; second, Marilyn Chambers, sponsoring Emma Randolph; and third, Gilbert Delgado, sponsoring Samuel Escamilla.

After the contest, Mrs. Fay Anderson, president of the volunteer residents, hosted a birthday party in honor of Herbert Hoffman. His birthday was January 23. Residents helped Herbert celebrate his birthday in the dining area of Heritage House and refreshments of birthday cake and punch were served. Happy birthday, Mr. Hoffman.

Worship services were held Sunday afternoon at Heritage House. Conducting the services for the residents was Rev. Albert Flathmann of Grace Lutheran Church. The residents who attended thanks Rev. Flathmann for visiting the home and having worship services with them. Residents and employees enjoyed Thursday by dressing "unusually" comfortable wearing bright and unmatching clothes. Colorful and mismatched outfits were seen throughout the facility. Winners of this event were Betty Henderson, nurses aid and Melinda Salen, medical records director.

On Thursday afternoon, residents enjoyed a western feast of "Angel and the Bad Man" starting at 1:30 p.m. The movie was very entertaining and the residents enjoyed the movie and the refreshments of buttered popcorn and punch.

We want to extend our thanks to Winterrman Library and staff for being so kind and for letting our facility use the films. Our residents enjoy the "picture shows" tremendously and we are grateful for the use of the large variety of films we are able to show.

Heritage House will be having their monthly Family Council meeting this Thursday, January 30 at 3 in the afternoon. All family members are invited and urged to attend the meeting on behalf of their loved one.

Family members and Heritage House department staff will meet in the dining area of the facility. It will be an open meeting for families to discuss any topic about the facility with the department heads and we hope to have a nice turnout.
