Who's Zat

By AUDREY WILLIAMS
Who could these two handsome guys be? The only clue given was that they are brothers.

Valerie Benge thought they resemble Chuck and Raymond

Turner.
Jennifer Matthews
hesitantly guessed them to be Michael and
Peter
Canaris.

Renee Balas
said she believe they were Earnest
and Paul Tricka. Kim Garrett, after asking if they were brother and sister, guessed along with Frances Young that this twosome was Richard and David
Wiese.

Lesley Matthews,
Darlene
Stanick, Paige Paschal and Darel
Stanick all knew without a doubt that these two brothers had to be Dean and Devin Van Nort.
Did these smiling faces
have you
fooled?

Among the Houston exhibitors
who will show an animal are as follows:
commercial steer division, Duane Korenk,
DeWayne
Dopslauf, Vance
Corman, Leslie Sunderman and Sharr Popp and Kim Corman and
Louis Mahalik
from the 4-H club; halter
steer division,
Bill Heffer,
Paige Paschal, Wade Miller and Daryl Piepryzca;
heifer division,
Tara Stephens,
Shawn Swoboda,
Kevin Genz, Phil Havar and Cindy Midgett;
lamb division,
Devin Van Nort;
hog division,
Dennis
Hemphill; calf
scrambler
division,
Todd Krenk.

These students will leave for Houston on Saturday,
February 22,
and plan to return on Sunday,
March 2.

The Houston
exhibitors who will present an art picture from Rice are: gold
medal winners, Lisa Drik and
David Morgan;
best of show,
Carol Korenek.
These art

students will leave on Sunday,
March 2.

The Raider Review would like to wish all of the previously named students the best of luck
in Houston
while representing Rice.

Band notes

By KELLI LANIER
On January 23, the Rice Raider Band Council held a meeting at the home of vice president, Susan Kaluba. On the agenda was the preparation for a Valentine dinner and dance which will be held on February 13 from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Band members attending the dance are required to dress casual, bring a covered dish and may bring a guest.

Also discussed was rehearsal discipline, medals for best marchers as well as leadership
winners and Band Beau and Sweetheart which will be announced at the spring concert. A lovely dinner was enjoyed by the band council.

Vocational education myths

By LAURA APPELT
Vocational education classes have received a reputation as being an "easy way out" for many students. Some students sign up for these courses thinking it will be a simple way to get a good grade. Parents get upset with their child because they feel he or she is loafing.

In reality, though,
these classes
are not so simple,
and offer
valuable lessons
and experiences.
Office education,
homemaking,
auto mechanics,
ag, cosmetology
and co-ops each offer opportunities for learning and broadening
horizons.

This author went into a home
development
class with no idea how much she would learn. Others still don't believe this course actually teaches things that are worthwhile. Unlike some so-called
"intellectual" subjects, these courses teach things that will be used after your education is completed, and applied in everyday life.

Therefore, any student interested in any aspect of vocational education is encouraged to take one of these courses without worrying about others looking down on him or her. Hopefully,
the reputation of vocational education will change from "the easy way out" to a truly valuable and much needed experience."

Meet the Lady Raiders

By ELIZABETH YOUNG
This week the Raider Review introduces Karen Bluntson,
Karen is a senior
and has played on the varsity for the past three years.

Reviewing the year, Karen feels the team has had an exceptional season considering the schedule they have played. She also believes their ability and determination will take them to state, even though the team has recently incurred difficulty with shooting and fooling.

Finally, Karen
was very optimistic about the future of the Lady Raiders.
She feels the underclassmen have potential and talent which will make them
a strong team to watch next season.

Senior class
orders shirts

By VICKI DARDEN
The seniors at Rice voted on their class t-shirts last week after consideration of the particular style desired. The senior class
officers narrowed all choices to four different shirts which they put before the entire class for a vote. The shirts this year will be of a jersey style and cost is $7.45 each.

The seniors had until January 28 to get their order in to a class officer. After all money has been received and noted, it should take approximately ten days for delivery.

Rice CISD

There are larger farms we help insure.

But none more important.

We help insure many farms, both large and small. That's why, when we recommend a Travelers Farm policy, you can be sure it will be the right plan for you. It provides for both personal and farming needs by including property and liability coverages for your home, farm, and even your autos and trucks.

We'll work with you to determine the best combination of coverages and amounts of insurance for your particular farm. And give you the best

FFA — behind the scenes

By TINA GRAHMANN
Have you ever wondered what it takes to put on an activity such as the Rice FFA Show and Sale? To state it plainly, it takes a great deal of time and hard work by not only FFA members but by their parents, teachers and many community volunteers as well.

The FFA would like to thank Mike Michalka, Harry Engstrom, Herbert Engstrom and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ramsey for their diligent and accurate work on the show's finance committee.

Helping the FFA as ring stewards were Billy Heffer, Glen Heffer and Billy Ray Krenk. Those volunteers who helped in the ring were Mark Wied, Vic Corman and Randy Waligura.

Taking bids for the sale were Don McAlister and T.J. Smith.
The Sheridan Lion's Club handled the barbecue dinner under the supervision of C.W. DeShazo.

Thanks are also given to Henrietta Baumgarten and Sharon Graham for their help in preparing the sale sheets and to Mark Jordan and Carol Ripper for doing the bidding for the United Hayers.

The FFA expresses its sincere thanks to these people and to the many more who gave their time and effort to help with the show.

Kevin Genz and Phil Havar proudly display these fine looking animals.

Anthony Labay says, "It's time to get up. The show's about to start."
