Competitive Raider boys close season; Columbus looks to state

The Rice Raider boys varsity basketball team can put their uniforms and equipment up for another season, finishing the 10-game district schedule Tuesday night when they hosted Youkum.

Last Friday night, the boys nearly pulled off their second win of district play, but folded up in the third quarter to allow Edna to come from behind and capture the

CCA programs cut

Combined Community Action, Inc., felt the first effects of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings bill three weeks ago when the Head Start office received word from the regional offices of the Department of Health and Human Services informing them that the 1986 funding level would be cut five percent or approximately $9,000. Within several days after that the office received notification that several other programs would be cut between 4.3 and 4.6 percent.

Those areas where cuts are being prepared for are in the elderly nutrition program, the elderly homemaker program and the community services program.

"The elderly nutrition program will be hit the hardest at this point," stated Rhonda Cavett, executive director of CCA. "The nutrition program, which provides over 652 daily hot noon meals in six counties to homebound and at congregate settings, is all ready five months into their program year and the cuts do not just affect the money left for the remaining seven months but for the full year."
