Scott to compete in 1st body building contest

Eagle Lake's own Mickey Scott, will find out Saturday whether a year of training at the Eagle Lake Fitness Center was worthwhile. He will compete in Houston in his first body building contest at 7 p.m. at the Albert Thomas Convention Center.

"He will do well," said Kathy Misher, fitness center owner and athlete in her own right. "He has exceptional muscular development for a teenager. We expect him to do really well for his first contest."

Scott will be competing in the teenage division at a body weight of 190 pounds.

What brought Scott to this point? Perhaps the biggest factor is the opening early last year of the Fitness Center itself. As an athlete at Rice High School, Mickey was familiar with the amount of work needed to be a successful athlete. When he came to the center's grand opening,

Below, Mickey Scott spends another afternoon at the Eagle Lake Fitness Center preparing for Saturday's body building contest.
