Business Club holds final meeting

By DOLORES SOTO
On Monday, April 7, the final Business Club meeting was held in the Rice High School Commons. Beginning at 6:30, a covered dish supper was served with the members of the club providing the vegetables, desserts and a main course of chicken spaghetti.

Discussed was the amount of money the club had in the treasury and how this money was to be spent benefiting business classes of Rice. The project committee came up with the idea of purchasing new calculators for the accounting class.

This idea was approved by all members and will be followed through. Another topic for discussion was to decide whether the club would be able to participate in the volleyball tournament sponsored by FHA. The members decided it would be a good idea and interested persons signed up for the tournament.

The final speech was given by sponsor, Joe Wendel, offering the seniors inspirational advice. The Business Club would like to thank their sponsors Joe Wendel, Don Wild and Judy Engstrom for their hard work and dedication toward the club.

UIL district competition held

By ELIZABETH YOUNG
UIL district competition was held April 2-5 with area students competing for the right to advance to regional competition. Rice has seven students who will advance.

The winners were Leslie Heard, second place poetry interpretation; Sharon Shimek, third place ready writing; Jodi Smith, fourth place literary criticism; Tina Grahmann, first, Laura Appelt, third and Michael Grahmann, fifth in spelling; Charles Turner, first and Susan Kaluza, third in accounting.

The Raider Review congratulates these students and wish them good luck at the regional contest.

Wood will highlight the evening's activities. Coach Wood, deemed the winningest coach in football, retired this year after spending his last coaching season in Brownwood. All in all, the evening promises to be a special one with an exceptional message given in honor of athletes that we as fans have enjoyed watching grow and develop during the past athletic year.

Tickets go on sale April 22 at $5 each, and no one should miss this once-a-year event. Come join in the fun and see that high school athletics is more than just controversial headlines; to the athletes at Rice, sports are worth much, much more.

Thursday, April 17: cajun creation, glazed carrots, spring salad, rice krispy treats, cornbread, butter.

Who's that?
By TINA GRAHMANN
This little girl's cute smile and bright eyes fooled several of her friends and fellow classmates at Rice High School. She looks as if she's full of mischievous thoughts and deeds.

DeWayne Doplauf and Dean Van Nort both thought that this chubby-cheeked little girl was Suzanne Corman while David Schlemmer guessed her to be Jennifer Matthews. Both Lisa Munoz and Danette Alvarado guessed that she was Traci Klein. Valerie Bengie jokingly guessed Dione Glover, but she knew that this little angel with her smug grin was none other than Lara Dupre. Mrs. Gohlke, Suzanne Corman and Jennifer Matthews also guessed correctly.

Lara is a sophomore at Rice High School and is actively involved in the Rice FFA, Raider band, and UIL one-act play. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dupre of Sheridan.

National Library Week at Rice

By SUSAN KALUZA
National Library Week was April 6-12 with this year's theme "Get a head start at the library." Americans should be reminded that the road to success begins at the library.

This year Mrs. Gohlke, Rice High School librarian, has four library aides: Margaret Hernandez, Valerie Bengie, Kasandra Gordon and Cindy Midgett. These four ladies are getting valuable experience in knowing their library tools. Their duties include performing varied tasks for one hour a day in the library, such as checking out and in books through the computer, restocking shelves, dusting shelves, straightening the tables and shelves and working on bulletin board materials.

During National Library Week, the library staff invited all students and faculty to visit the library and utilize its many services. Special bookmarks were distributed to all students who checked out a book during the week.

Each hour of the school day, a special drawing was held and a library book bag was given to each winner. The winners were: Monday - Christy Hill, Leslie Glover, Phillip Havar, Joel Rangel, Troy Webb, Lisa Mendola; Tuesday - Mickey Scott, Michael Grahmann, Jamie Ferrill, Dalia Garza, Teresa Losoya, Amanda Garcia; Wednesday - Clarence Spruill, Marina Cavazos, Norman Beimon, Horace Mitchell, Tonya Castro, Marisa Torres; Thursday - Ray Turner, Maricela Rangel, Duane Korenek, Kasandra Gordon, Monica Ramirez, Louis Siles; Friday - Mark Kucherka, Michael Rhodes, DeWayne Doplauf, Nora Sosa, Trip Clipson, Laura Korenek.

TAX REFORM TRADITION TRUST

Dear friends,
I'm running for your State Representative because we need tax reform now, not when the big Special Interest boys who support some Representatives deliver the foreclosure notice.

I will fight for Proposition Zero, which would do away with most of the school property tax that has driven us to the wall. In its place would be a slight increase in the sales tax. We'd not only provide every school with the same funding, but some rural schools would actually get more money.

We don't have to take things lying down. We can improve our lives and the future of our working Texas families—if we have a fighter on our side in the Legislature. I'd like to be that fighter for you and your family.

Sincerely,

Elect
Dan Buie
