UIL winners state bound

On April 25, six Rice High School UIL participants left for regional UIL competition at Texas A&M University in Kingsville. Competition was held the next day. Tina Grahmann and Laura Appel competed in spelling. Sharon Shimek was entered in ready writing. Leslie Heard competed in poetry and Charles Turner and Susan Kaluza participated in accounting. Laura Appel placed first and Tina Grahmann placed second. These spellers will advance to state competition on May 10 in Austin. Leslie Heard placed first in the poetry preliminaries. Charles Turner placed third in accounting. However, since accounting was a first year contest, competition ended at the regional level. The sponsored who accompanied the students to Kingsville were Jimmie Kasper, Judy Engstrom and Lillian Gohlke. Congratulations to all the participants and good luck to Laura and Tina at the state meet.

Raiders take Edna in seventh

By VICKI DARDEN
The Rice Raider baseball team chalked up a district win against Edna on Friday, April 25. This game began the second round of district play for the baseball team. The score jumped to 1-1 early in the ballgame as the Raiders struggled for a lead. But in the bottom of the seventh, Edna scored again putting the ballgame at 1-2. The Raiders really went to work under this pressure proving their ability mentally and physically. They finished the game at 3-2 and started the second round off with a well-earned victory. Starters for Rice were: Jeff Marquart, pitcher; Frank Adkins, catcher; Owen Gallagher, first base; Glen Leopold, second base; Cash Coble, short stop; Bryan Wise, left field; James Botard, center; Bryan Rucka, right field. Good work guys!

National Honor Society attends convention

By LAURA APPELT
On Tuesday, April 22, the Rice High School chapter of National Honor Society attended the Mid-Coast Association of National Honor Societies spring convention. Member high schools include Bay City, Bellevue, Bishop, Forest, Boling, Brazos, Columbia, East Bernard, El Campo, Ganags, Hallettsville, Katy, Lamar, Needville, Palacios, Powell Point, Rice, Sealy, Sweetwater, Terry, Tilden, Van Vleet, Weimar and Wharton. Dr. Morris Paschall, dean of students at Braxton College, was the speaker for this year's convention. He told the members they were a select group, and that the "future of life on earth has been placed in your hands." He said a career decision was up to each individual, and each has a responsibility to make a contribution to society. Dr. Paschall also stated it was very important to be sure of what you want to do with your life and use all your potential. He concluded with, "Keep working at your goal. If you don't, you will have to settle for less than what you originally planned." After Dr. Paschall's presentation, a barbecue lunch was served. After the meal, voting for new officer schools were held. Officers for 1986-87 are: president, Palacios; vice president, Needville; secretary, Lamar; treasurer, Bay City, and parliamentarian, Sweetwater. Winners of the name tag contest were then announced and the convention was adjourned.

The Rice High School Future Homemakers of America held their final meeting of the year at Sportsman's Restaurant in Eagle Lake. Colette Williams, president of FHA, welcomed everyone to the meeting. Wendy Herman, secretary of FHA, gave a report on the FHA state meeting held in Dallas. A delicious meal prepared by Sportsman's was enjoyed by everyone. Laura Appel, vice president of FHA, introduced the guest speakers, Joe and Mercy Fling of Eagle Lake. Joe is a lawyer and the statistician for the Raider football team. Mercy is a legal secretary, substitute teacher, youth director at Wallis Bible Church and a past member of FHA. They presented a speech to the members about saying yes to new relationships, trying new things and a positive self image. Mercy also sang a song entitled "Love in Any Language." Next, awards were presented to outstanding members. Cleve Scott was given a key chain for most dedicated male; Colette Williams, a bracelet for serving as president of FHA; Wendy Herman, a bracelet for being most active FHA'er, and the FHA officers were given FHA emblems for their work. FTA's of the Month

By TINA GRAHAMMAN
On April 15, the Rice FTA chose five members to receive the honor of FTA'er of the Month. Tina Grahmann, Jennifer Mader, Shari Popp, Sharon Shimek and Kelli Lanier all devoted equal time to their FTA activities. Each member voted for FTA'er of the month, brought a covered dish to the awards dinner, and either ran for an FTA office or gave a program at a club meeting. Since each one of these ladies was eligible, the club members decided to bestow the honor on each of them. The Raider Review extends its congratulations to each member for her efforts.

Who's zat?

By ELIZABETH YOUNG
Who could this lad be with the stars in his eyes? This question was asked of many students. The only clue that was given to students was this young man is a member of the junior class. Students fooled by this young man were Kelli Lanier, who thought it was Kevin Dornak. However, this wide eyed lad was easily recognized by Valerie Yanez, Richard Wiese, Lesley Matthews, Debra Soto and LaAnn Korenek. They all knew this young man was Grady Crysel. Grady is a junior at Rice and an active member of the Future Farmers of America. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hodde of Eagle Lake.

The RAIDER REVIEW is published by the Journalism Department of Rice High School, and the opinions reflected are of the students and not the administration, or The Eagle Lake Headlight, unless so stated.
